BEVIN WINS ISRAEL POLICY TEST

GOP Senators Will Seek End To Filibusters

Republicans Draft Multi-Billion Dollar Housing Programs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Republican senators today decided to try to put an end to filibusters even if the move brings on a southern talkfest that would tie up the 81st Congress indefinitely.

Chairman Taft (Ohio), of the GOP policy group, said the Republicans agreed the filibuster question should be "disposed of promptly." He added, however, that the Democratic majority should bring the matter to the Senate floor.

The Rules Committee is considering ways to end filibusters, which southerners often have used to block votes on measures they oppose—such as President Truman's civil rights proposals.

At a hearing today Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) hinted that he and 16 other senators might filibuster against the rules change if necessary.

The Rules Committee hopes to complete testimony Friday.

Housing

Republicans in the House and Senate announced plans to introduce separate multi-billion dollar housing bills which they hope to substitute for the administration's long-range plan. The administration wants to construct 1,000,000 public housing dwellings in the next seven years, along with slum clearance and other features. The GOP Senate housing bill proposes 600,000 public housing units in six years. The GOP House bill would provide 810,000 dwellings to be built at a rate of 135,000 to 200,000 a year. All three bills would provide federal grants to local authorities for building, maintenance and operation.

Veterans

The House Veterans Affairs Committee will start hearings on a bill by Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) to pay veterans $60 a month pension beginning at age 60 with a stepup to $90 at 65. One estimate of the cost was $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year by 1959.

Wages

The House Labor Committee will open hearings on an administration bill to boost the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour and bring 5,000,000 more workers under the law.

Controls

Mr. Truman's supporters won a first-round victory today before the Senate Banking Committee, which approved a seven-months extension of the voluntary materials allocation program. Democrats beat down, 8 to 2, a Republican effort to extend the voluntary system 13 months. The administration wants the voluntary system to continue only long enough for Congress to consider putting in mandatory controls over scarce materials.

Pricing Policies

The Pittsburgh and Cleveland Chambers of Commerce endorsed a bill aimed at giving businessmen a legal basis for setting uniform delivered prices on their products. They appeared before the Senate Commerce Committee trade group. The National Farmers Union opposed the bill.

Young Mechanic Again Cast In Hero's Role

HURFFVILLE, N. J., Jan. 26 (AP) — A 24-year-old garage mechanic saved two young boys from drowning today when he swam 200 feet with one tucked in each arm.

A year ago, Louis Siderio saved an 82-year-old woman from being hit by an auto in West Berlin when he knocked her from the car's path with a flying tackle.

Siderio was en route from his West Berlin, N. J., home to Pitman, N. J., garage today when he was stopped by Vincent Miland, a farmer.

Miland, speechless from excitement and fear, pointed to his two sons, Robert, 9, and Fred, 7, struggling in Old Timber Lake.

Acheson Says Reservoir Of U. S. Capital Available For Backward Area Plan

Secretary Of State Endorses Plan For European Alliance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson declared today the United States must marshal new reserves of military and economic might in the world struggle for freedom against what he called "reactionary" Communism.

Acheson, in his first news conference as chief of United States foreign policy under President Truman, discussed two main lines of action:

1—He said that a "very great" reservoir of private capital is available to finance President Truman's new program to raise the standard of living in backward areas of the world. But he served notice that countries desiring such help must create conditions "attractive" to private investment.

2—On the military front of the cold war, Acheson endorsed the plans worked out by former Secretary of State Marshall and retiring Undersecretary Lovett for a military alliance with Western Europe.

Virtually quoting from President Truman's inauguration speech, Acheson declared that "we are convinced that we can best contribute to the maintenance of peace by joining with other nations in making it absolutely clear in advance that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force."

Alliance Nearly Complete

He further indicated for the first time officially that the North Atlantic defense agreement, in negotiation for many months among the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, is about completed. He said that he hoped "to be able very soon" to talk about it in specific terms.

In the main, Acheson, who took office only last Friday, went down the line with the policies already well laid out by his predecessors in office and by his chief, President Truman. Most of what he said which was new was concerned with his heavy stress on private capital rather than any great new outpouring of public funds to carry through Mr. Truman's program for raising living standards in backward areas.

And it was important that Acheson was the one to say this, because he announced that President Truman had called on the State Department to blueprint the program—or as he put it, to compile suggestions in cooperation with other government departments and submit them to the President. He said there is no blueprint yet.

On established foreign policy principles, Acheson spoke out briefly for cooperation with Republican leaders in Congress and out, such as Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) and John Foster Dulles; he promised to carry out the "good neighbor" policy toward Latin America; he maintained the hands-off attitude toward China by declining to go beyond statements already made by the President, Gen. Marshall and Undersecretary Lovett; and in general he indicated his intention of going forward with Marshall's plans

Eleven Indicted As Result Of Raid On Struck Plant

Seven Hurt During 300-Man Invasion

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 26 (AP)—A one-man grand jury today indicted 11 CIO United Steel Workers as the aftermath of a commando-type dawn raid on the struck Shakespeare Company plants here.

The defendants were slated for arraignment Thursday on indictments returned by Circuit Judge John Simpson, one-man state grand juror. Conviction carries maximum penalties up to five years in prison.

Bricks were hurled, autos overturned, windows smashed, a truck burned, equipment damaged and seven workmen injured during the 300-man invasion last December 1.

At the time, Police Chief Howard Hoyt labelled the raiders "union goons."

Two Union Officials Indicted

Judge Simpson's indictments named Thomas Shane, state director of the USW-CIO; Glen E. Sigman, the international union representative who led the Shakespeare strike, and nine others. Ten of the defendants are from the Detroit area and one from Kalamazoo.

There was no immediate comment from Shane or the others.

Shane, Sigman, Harry Stefanick, a Detroit steelworker, and five others were accused on 11 counts covering conspiracy to commit assault, incite a riot and break, enter and destroy property.

Stefanick and three other men were named in a second indictment charging actual breaking and entry into the plants.

With sharp precision, the raiders sped into the city about dawn, barricaded streets, invaded the plants and then drove away in their cars.

Von Papen Set Free, Fine Cut

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 26 (AP) — A German denazification court freed Franz Von Papen from an eight-year sentence and slashed his fine to 30,000 marks ($9,000) today.

The court ruled Von Papen, the grey fox of Hitler's diplomacy and a notorious international figure since he was kicked out of the United States in 1915, was not a major Nazi offender after all.

It convicted him of being only an offender, the second category of Nazism, reversing his conviction in 1947 as a major offender. It ruled that, aside from the 30,000-mark fine, his imprisonment since 1945 was enough punishment.

All except 5,000 marks of Von Papen's fortune, including estates in the British and French zones of Germany, had been confiscated under the 1947 conviction. These will be returned to him.

The new ruling barred Von Papen from voting, from holding office, from joining a political party and from jobs moulding public opinion, such as speaking or writing.

Von Papen, now 69 and suffering from hardening of the arteries, told newsmen he hopes to take a long rest.

Three Hurt By Exploding Grenades At Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, Md., Jan. 26 (AP)—Two civilian employes and a fireman were injured today by exploding phosphorous grenades at the Army chemical center here.

An Army spokesman said David Currie and Ed Dougherty, both of Joppa, Md., were hit by burning fragments while checking a carton of grenades for classification and repacking.

The third victim was Fireman John R. Newcomb, Darlington, Md. He was wounded while trying to drag the ignited carton away from other explosives.

Ty Says He'll Marry Linda Today Despite Legal Hitch

ROME, Tuesday, Jan. 27 (AP) — Tyrone Power said he will marry Linda Christian at 10:30 a. m. today (4:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) regardless of any last minute legal hitch in California.

"If this marriage is not recognized in California when we return there we will get married all over again," he said.

The wedding of the Hollywood film stars will be held at the scheduled hour in Rome's Santa Francesco Roman Catholic Church with high-placed Italian society and Hollywood notables in attendance.

The legal hitch developed in California when it developed that final divorce papers for Power had not yet been signed.

Until the papers are signed the ceremony is not legal as far as the State of California is concerned, a Hollywood dispatch said.

Unless a special court order is obtained in California the signing could not take place before 9 a. m., California time, or Hollywood to have the decree signed at midnight Wednesday and word flashed to Rome before 10 a. m., Rome time. It was up to the judge to decide whether he would co-operate.

(California law requires a year's wait between granting of interlocutory and final divorce decrees. The final decree is a formality, but the law prescribes that a full calendar year must elapse before it is granted. The French actress, Annabella, won the divorce on January 26, 1948, so under the law the final cannot be granted until January 27.

(W. G. Sharp, Los Angels County clerk, said no arrangements have been made to open his office at midnight to enter a final judgment in Annabella's divorce suit.)

Last night Miss Christian, happy on the eve of the wedding, told reporters she plans to start having babies right away.

Military Funeral For Iwo Jima Hero

Administration Captures Round In Control Fight

Senate Group Paves Way For Truman Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) —The administration's anti-inflation drive gained momentum today as the Senate Banking Committee voted to extend industry's self-rationing system seven months.

This action paved the way for early Congress consideration of President Truman's general economic program which he says must be backed by stand-by compulsory control powers.

The Democrats demonstrated their strength in turning back a Republican effort to continue the voluntary agreements plan for 13 months past the February 28 expiration date.

The GOP contended that the voluntary method was working well and therefore should be given a longer trial. Evidently this was designed to forestall administration requests for mandatory controls.

Motion Defeated 8-2

This motion by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) was defeated 8 to 2. Following that the seven-month extension requested by the administration was approved unanimously.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said the final committee action "left the door wide open for any administration anti-inflation proposals." But he promptly added that the vote "does not commit anybody to mandatory controls."

The Senate - House Economic Committee meanwhile prepared to open a full scale study of Mr. Truman's general anti-inflation program which he outlined in broad detail in his state of the union message and his annual economic report.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the joint committee, told reporters the hearings probably will start February 8 with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan the first witness. Brannan has been designated legislative director of the administration's general anti-inflation plan.

Nanking And Reds Accuse Each Other Of Bad Faith

Nationalists Strive To Set Up Defense Line South Of Yangtze

By HAROLD K. MILKS

NANKING, Jan. 26 (AP) — The Chinese government and the Communists accused each other of bad faith today. As peace prospects dimmed, the Nationalists hastily tried to establish a new defense line south of the Yangtze.

The Communists radio asserted Acting President Li Tsung-Jen was trying to get a breathing spell while organizing further resistance. It called on him to show his good faith by immediately detaining leading war criminals.

(As heard and translated in Shanghai, the broadcast called on Li to "detain" Chiang Kai-Shek and other "war criminals").

It was reported on high authority that Chiang Kai-Shek would return to power should the peace talks fizzle. This report came from sources so high they can be considered unimpeachable.

A government spokesman accused the Communists of stalling. He called on the Reds to name peace delegates now and select a place for a conference.

"False Peace" Plot Charged

Almost as in answer to this — although there was no direct connection between the two statements — the Red radio said the Nationalists were plotting to distort peace talks into "a false peace."

The Nationalists were accused of seeking "to preserve the strength of the Chiang Kai-Shek reactionary bloc through fake negotiations."

A highly-placed source, who talked to Acting President Li today, said Li was trying to halt the transfer of the government to Canton.

The Foreign Office announced early today that all government functions would cease in Nanking February 3 and the new capital of government-held China would be set up at Canton, effective February 5.

This source said Foreign Minister Wu Teh-Chen was behind the removal to Canton. Li was pictured as insisting the government should stay in Nanking as long as the Reds are willing to negotiate.

(Since the removal to Canton already has been announced Li seems to have no control over the Cabinet, despite his position as "acting president." Chiang's friends in the Cabinet already have blocked some of Li's proposed measures.)

Hope To Improve Positions

Some diplomatic observers said both the government and Red charges of stalling were probably true. They believe both sides hope to improve their position with delays.

On the one hand, the Reds have the military power, but hope to get a victory cheaper through dickering.

On the other, the government may believe a delay will help because a flight south would give it a better chance to survive.

The government would like to have the diplomatic corps follow it to Canton. Some embassies are

Father Chooses Blindness For His Two Babies

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—A father, half-blind since childhood, has chosen blindness for his two babies rather than almost certain death.

The father, Abe Goldstein, 30, Pacific war veteran, and his wife were told by doctors that their two children were suffering from a cancerous eye condition.

The disease, ertino-blastoma, would spread and probably cause the children's deaths, the doctors said.

The only hope was removal of both eyes of the boy, Michael, 11 months, and one eye of their daughter, Karen, 2½ years.

"Go ahead, doctor, operate," said the father.

The operations were performed yesterday and the children were reported doing "very nicely" today.

Landlords Warned As "Revolt" Launched

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (INS) — A mass eviction campaign to protest rent controls threatened tenants in large cities tonight and Federal Housing Expeditor Tighe Woods warned of possible court prosecution to quell the "landlords revolt."

The mass eviction movement already is underway in Tulsa where it was initiated by a unit of the Property Owners Association of America.

Woods reversed an earlier opinion that the threatened evictions could not be stopped and declared that the "good faith" clause of the rent control law provides enough authority to stop such action.

The Housing Expeditor said such evictions as those in Tulsa cannot be held in "good faith." Woods added in a radio broadcast that he has been advised courts have upheld that "interpretation" and that injunctions will be sought against mass evictors.

Md. Senate, With Two Dissenters, Approves Bill To Aid Alcoholics

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 26. (AP)—The Maryland Senate, with only two dissenters, passed a bill today to "help chronic alcoholics — sick men."

The measure, which was sent to the House for action, would create an unpaid commission on alcoholism and appropriate $100,000 every year to maintain four hospital clinics for chronic tripplers.

The Senate also put a final stamp of approval on a change in the law to keep Dr. Horace E. Flack on duty as director of the Department of Legislative Reference.

It required two suspensions of the rules to rush the measure through for Gov. Lane's signature. The Governor had asked legislative action to exempt Dr. Flack, who has been a consultant to lawmakers for more than 30 years, from compulsory retirement at 70.

Flack reahces that age in May.

The Flack bill was the only one finally enacted in a day taken over largely by committee hearings, where legislators heard:

1. House sponsors of "anti-subsersive" bills assert Communism has put the United States "in greater danger than ever before."

2. Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, announce personal opposition to a bill which would create an advisory committee on education to help set state school policy.

3. Kenneth Merrill, an Annapolis blind man, say granting the Maryland Workshop for the Blind exclusive rights to license vending stands in public buildings would curtail his personal liberties.

Sen. Davis (R-Montgomery) told his colleagues that "chronic alcoholics are sick men, and many can be helped."

Sen. Balch (D-Talbot) said he knew "how sick some drunks can be," but regarded state care as "paternalistic."

Balch and Sen. Storm (D-Frederick) were against the bill. Sen. Carter (D-Balto 3rd) voted for it after a floor agreement that the House would attack an amendment requiring financially able patients to pay for clinical treatment.

The Senate put off until tomorrow a decision on the administration-backed measure to keep the earned income tax rate at two per cent. Without a repealer, the charge would go up one-half per cent on 1948 income.

Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) chairman of the Finance Committee which approved the "freeze," agreed to the postponement. Earlier he had said he was confident it could pass today.

President Dutra, Of Brazil, To Visit U. S. This Spring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. (AP)—President Truman announced today that President Dutra of Brazil has accepted an invitation to visit the United States May 18.

The Brazilian President's departure from his country must receive the approval of the Brazilian Legislature.

Mr. Truman visited Rio De Janeiro in 1947, and has asked the Brazilian Chief Executive to Washington for a return visit.

Full Committee Due To Get GOP Chairman Batte

Agreement Eludes Compromise Group

By JACK BELL

OMAHA, Jan. 26 (AP)—A committee of seven failed to reach any agreement tonight on compromising the fight over the Republican national chairmanship.

Members said after a closed meeting that the battle to unseat Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., probably will go before the full committee at a meeting tomorrow morning.

The compromise committee, headed by Werner Schroeder, of Illinois, had sought to find a peaceable way out of the controversy spawned by an attack of enemies of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on Scott as chairman.

Scott was named to the post last June at Dewey's insistence after the New York Governor was nominated for President.

Scott Forces Stand Firm

But Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman who has been active in the fight against Scott, told reporters that Scott's supporters on the Schroeder group refused to consider any compromise which would move the chairman out of his job.

Hallanan said the anti-Dewey forces had agreed to drop their sponsorship of Roy E. Dunn, Minnesota committeeman, as a candidate for the chairmanship if Scott also would withdraw.

Herbert K. Hyde, carrying the proxy of Lew Wentz, Oklahoma committeeman, said Scott forces were ready for "a finish fight" in tomorrow's committee session.

"We are not going to let them throw out Scott, a war veteran, for a 62-year-old man (Dunn) without a fight," Hyde declared.

Counting Of Noses Due

Thus the argument over the chairmanship seemed likely to be settled only by a counting of noses in the 105-member committee tomorrow.

Hyde said the Scott forces had hoped to compromise on changes in a newly-named executive committee.

Hallanan said it was his understanding that Scott was willing to rescind his order setting up a 15-member executive committee heavily weighted with Dewey supporters if his critics would drop their fight on him.

As matters stood, the committee appeared almost evenly divided between Scott and anti-Scott forces.

G O P Progressives Score

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A group of self-styled progressive House Republicans claimed a major victory today as GOP leaders agreed to overhaul their policy-making group and abandon seniority as a basis of selection.

They won unanimous backing of the Republican Committee on Committees for a resolution abolishing the old GOP Steering Committee and replacing it with a policy committee chosen largely on a geographical basis by the members themselves.

The resolution comes before a conference of the entire Republican House membership tomorrow afternoon (2 p. m.) and its approval is virtually certain.

U. Of Wash. Professor Resigns In Controversy

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP) — Dr. Thomas I. Cook quit today as professor of political science at the University of Washington after the dismissal of three other faculty members in a controversy over asserted present or former Communist activity.

Three other faculty members were placed on probation Saturday. They had been similarly accused.

"I resigned," Prof. Cook told a news conference, "because of the conspicuous violation of the proper processes for deciding issues of freedom and tenure x x x" at the university.

Commons Vote Of 283 To 193 Closes Debate

Time For Recognition Of New Jewish State Awaits Consultations

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House of Commons tonight voted confidence in Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's policy toward Israel.

With 50 Labor members abstaining, the House of Commons voted 283 to 193 for adjournment of full dress debate on Palestine.

Said Prime Minister Attlee just before the ballot:

"A vote of adjournment in these circumstances is a vote of confidence in the government."

Before the vote was taken Attlee also said that Britain had "accepted in principle" the recognition of Israel. He added:

"The question of the time of doing it is now a matter of consultation."

It was the first major test the Labor government had faced on foreign policy.

It was a victory for Bevin, who had said that recognition of Israel may contribute to a peace settlement, but that he had withheld that recognition for further international consultation.

Bevin said Britain was consulting with members of the British Commonwealth and its Western European pact allies on the time for such recognition.

"I am assuming that replies will be in the next few days when the final act will be taken," he said.

Churchill Leads Opposition

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition, had called for immediate government recognition of Israel. He drew support from members of his party, liberals and some discontented Laborites.

Attlee, in reply, said "it would have been ill advised to have rushed into recognition of Israel. Now, I believe it might contribute to peace and settlement."

Bevin opened the debate with a belligerent defense of the Labor government's Palestine policies. He said these had been essential to safeguard the Middle East against the spread of Communism.

He hinted that Britain might intervene if fighting flared again between Arabs and Jews in Palestine. He said Britain would find it "very difficult to stand by, indifferent and inactive," in the event of a renewal of Jew-Arab warfare in the truce-stilled Holy Land.

As to recognition, he said: "The State of Israel is now a fact and we (the Labor government) have not tried or done anything to undo it."

British sources had forecast that Britain would announce de facto recognition of the Jewish state today. Both Bevin and Attlee made clear some steps must come first.

Ex-Juror Testifies For Reds, Gets $3.70

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A member of the federal grand jury which indicted 11 top United States Communists today demanded—and got—$3.70 for appearing as a witness for the defense.

The witness, D. Benjamin Brush, New Rochelle, N. Y., who described himself as a Princeton graduate and a "free-lance engineer" with an annual income in excess of $5,000, had been subpoenaed by defense counsel along with other members of the former spy-hunting grand jury.

He was called as a part of the defense effort to prove that the jury-picking system in the New York federal district discriminates against the poor and in favor of the rich.

The 11 Communists are charged with working for the forcible overthrow of the government.

Brush objected to appearing as a defense witness because he had not been given a subpoena fee when the document was handed him.

Nevada Haylift Paying Off; New Storm Hits California

[By The Associated Press]

Aided by good flying weather, the Nevada haylift for snow-stranded livestock appeared to be winning the battle against starvation Wedesday.

However, January storms lashed some other section of the country and conditions were growing more critical in ice-rocked Nothern Nebraska.

A new blizzard and cold whirled into the Southern California mountains and desert and sleet formed a sheath of ice across a large area of the midcontinent.

Despite the success of airmen in getting feed to starving range livestock in Nevada, ranchers fear that the Artic-like cold and snow—worst in 60 years—will take a large toll.

The hay run, being operatel by "Flying Boxcars" of the Fouth Air Force, continued in temperatures near 30 degrees below zero. Four C-82s made flights to the Northeastern Nevada ranges at 40-minute intervals. The planes dropped 148,000 pounds of fodder to hungry sheep and cattle Tuesday.

Full extent of losses will not be known until roads are opened and a detailed check can be made. Stock tend to weaken under severe cold almost as quickly as from hunger.

President Truman, meanwhile, made another $200,000 available to help relieve suffering in snow-bound western states. Another $100,000 was allocated Monday for aid to Indians and stockmen in the blizzard affected areas.

Earlier Gov. Val Peterson, of Nebraska, appealed personally to President Truman for Army help in reaching snow-bound humans and cattle in 22 northern counties. The Governor also asked the federal government to match $500,000 the Nebraska Legislature has moved to appropriate for blizzard relief.

Rep. Case (R-SD) said he will introduce a bill calling for a $1,000,000 increase in funds available to meet the weather crisis. A $500,000 disaster fund was voted the President last year.

The Southern California blizzard marooned scores of persons in summer resorts. Many tourists also were stranded at Las Vegas, Nev. Plane flights out of Las Vegas were canceled and trains were running three to four hours late.

Weather Forecast
Mostly cloudy and somewhat colder with rain this afternoon or night.

GOP Senators Will Seek End To Filibusters

Republicans Draft Multi-Billion Dollar Housing Programs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Republican senators today decided to try to put an end to filibusters even if the move brings on a southern talkfest that would tie up the 81st Congress indefinitely.

Chairman Taft (Ohio), of the GOP policy group, said the Republicans agreed the filibuster question should be "disposed of promptly." He added, however, that the Democratic majority should bring the matter to the Senate floor.

The Rules Committee is considering ways to end filibusters, which southerners often have used to block votes on measures they oppose—such as President Truman's civil rights proposals.

At a hearing today Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) hinted that he and 16 other senators might filibuster against the rules change if necessary.

The Rules Committee hopes to complete testimony Friday.

Housing

Republicans in the House and Senate announced plans to introduce separate multi-billion dollar housing bills which they hope to substitute for the administration's long-range plan. The administration wants to construct 1,000,000 public housing dwellings in the next seven years, along with slum clearance and other features. The GOP Senate housing bill proposes 600,000 public housing units in six years. The GOP House bill would provide 810,000 dwellings to be built at a rate of 135,000 to 200,000 a year. All three bills would provide federal grants to local authorities for building, maintenance and operation.

Veterans

The House Veterans Affairs Committee will start hearings on a bill by Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) to pay veterans $60 a month pension beginning at age 60 with a stepup to $90 at 65. One estimate of the cost was $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year by 1959.

Wages

The House Labor Committee will open hearings on an administration bill to boost the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour and bring 5,000,000 more workers under the law.

Controls

Mr. Truman's supporters won a first-round victory today before the Senate Banking Committee, which approved a seven-months extension of the voluntary materials allocation program. Democrats beat down, 8 to 2, a Republican effort to extend the voluntary system 13 months. The administration wants the voluntary system to continue only long enough for Congress to consider putting in mandatory controls over scarce materials.

Pricing Policies

The Pittsburgh and Cleveland Chambers of Commerce endorsed a bill aimed at giving businessmen a legal basis for setting uniform delivered prices on their products. They appeared before the Senate Commerce Committee trade group. The National Farmers Union opposed the bill.

Young Mechanic Again Cast In Hero's Role

HURFFVILLE, N. J., Jan. 26 (AP) — A 24-year-old garage mechanic saved two young boys from drowning today when he swam 200 feet with one tucked in each arm.

A year ago, Louis Siderio saved an 82-year-old woman from being hit by an auto in West Berlin when he knocked her from the car's path with a flying tackle.

Siderio was en route from his West Berlin, N. J., home to Pitman, N. J., garage today when he was stopped by Vincent Miland, a farmer.

Miland, speechless from excitement and fear, pointed to his two sons, Robert, 9, and Fred, 7, struggling in Old Timber Lake.

Acheson Says Reservoir Of U. S. Capital Available For Backward Area Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson declared today the United States must marshal new reserves of military and economic might in the world struggle for freedom against what he called "reactionary" Communism.

Acheson, in his first news conference as chief of United States foreign policy under President Truman, discussed two main lines of action:

1—He said that a "very great" reservoir of private capital is available to finance President Truman's new program to raise the standard of living in backward areas of the world. But he served notice that countries desiring such help must create conditions "attractive" to private investment.

2—On the military front of the cold war, Acheson endorsed the plans worked out by former Secretary of State Marshall and retiring Undersecretary Lovett for a military alliance with Western Europe.

Virtually quoting from President Truman's inauguration speech, Acheson declared that "we are convinced that we can best contribute to the maintenance of peace by joining with other nations in making it absolutely clear in advance that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force."

Alliance Nearly Complete

He further indicated for the first time officially that the North Atlantic defense agreement, in negotiation for many months among the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, is about completed. He said that he hoped "to be able very soon" to talk about it in specific terms.

In the main, Acheson, who took office only last Friday, went down the line with the policies already well laid out by his predecessors in office and by his chief, President Truman. Most of what he said which was new was concerned with his heavy stress on private capital rather than any great new outpouring of public funds to carry through Mr. Truman's program for raising living standards in backward areas.

And it was important that Acheson was the one to say this, because he announced that President Truman had called on the State Department to blueprint the program—or as he put it, to compile suggestions in cooperation with other government departments and submit them to the President. He said there is no blueprint yet.

On established foreign policy principles, Acheson spoke out briefly for cooperation with Republican leaders in Congress and out, such as Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) and John Foster Dulles; he promised to carry out the "good neighbor" policy toward Latin America; he maintained the hands-off attitude toward China by declining to go beyond statements already made by the President, Gen. Marshall and Undersecretary Lovett; and in general he indicated his intention of going forward with Marshall's plans

Seven Hurt During 300-Man Invasion

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 26 (AP)—A one-man grand jury today indicted 11 CIO United Steel Workers as the aftermath of a commando-type dawn raid on the struck Shakespeare Company plants here.

The defendants were slated for arraignment Thursday on indictments returned by Circuit Judge John Simpson, one-man state grand juror. Conviction carries maximum penalties up to five years in prison.

Bricks were hurled, autos overturned, windows smashed, a truck burned, equipment damaged and seven workmen injured during the 300-man invasion last December 1.

At the time, Police Chief Howard Hoyt labelled the raiders "union goons."

Two Union Officials Indicted

Judge Simpson's indictments named Thomas Shane, state director of the USW-CIO; Glen E. Sigman, the international union representative who led the Shakespeare strike, and nine others. Ten of the defendants are from the Detroit area and one from Kalamazoo.

There was no immediate comment from Shane or the others.

Shane, Sigman, Harry Stefanick, a Detroit steelworker, and five others were accused on 11 counts covering conspiracy to commit assault, incite a riot and break, enter and destroy property.

Stefanick and three other men were named in a second indictment charging actual breaking and entry into the plants.

With sharp precision, the raiders sped into the city about dawn, barricaded streets, invaded the plants and then drove away in their cars.

Von Papen Set Free, Fine Cut

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 26 (AP) — A German denazification court freed Franz Von Papen from an eight-year sentence and slashed his fine to 30,000 marks ($9,000) today.

The court ruled Von Papen, the grey fox of Hitler's diplomacy and a notorious international figure since he was kicked out of the United States in 1915, was not a major Nazi offender after all.

It convicted him of being only an offender, the second category of Nazism, reversing his conviction in 1947 as a major offender. It ruled that, aside from the 30,000-mark fine, his imprisonment since 1945 was enough punishment.

All except 5,000 marks of Von Papen's fortune, including estates in the British and French zones of Germany, had been confiscated under the 1947 conviction. These will be returned to him.

The new ruling barred Von Papen from voting, from holding office, from joining a political party and from jobs moulding public opinion, such as speaking or writing.

Von Papen, now 69 and suffering from hardening of the arteries, told newsmen he hopes to take a long rest.

Three Hurt By Exploding Grenades At Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, Md., Jan. 26 (AP) — Two civilian employes and a fireman were injured today by exploding phosphorous grenades at the Army chemical center here.

An Army spokesman said David Currie and Ed Dougherty, both of Joppa, Md., were hit by burning fragments while checking a carton of grenades for classification and repacking.

The third victim was Fireman John R. Newcomb, Darlington, Md. He was wounded while trying to drag the ignited carton away from other explosives.

Ty Says He'll Marry Linda Today Despite Legal Hitch

ROME, Tuesday, Jan. 27 (AP) — Tyrone Power said he will marry Linda Christian at 10:30 a. m. today (4:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) regardless of any last minute legal hitch in California.

"If this marriage is not recognized in California when we return there we will get married all over again," he said.

The wedding of the Hollywood film stars will be held at the scheduled hour in Rome's Santa Francesco Roman Catholic Church with high-placed Italian society and Hollywood notables in attendance.

The legal hitch developed in California when it developed that final divorce papers for Power had not yet been signed.

Until the papers are signed the ceremony is not legal as far as the State of California is concerned, a Hollywood dispatch said.

Unless a special court order is obtained in California the signing could not take place before 9 a. m., California time, or Hollywood to have the decree signed at midnight Wednesday and word flashed to Rome before 10 a. m., Rome time. It was up to the judge to decide whether he would co-operate.

(California law requires a year's wait between granting of interlocutory and final divorce decrees. The final decree is a formality, but the law prescribes that a full calendar year must elapse before it is granted. The French actress, Annabella, won the divorce on January 26, 1948, so under the law the final cannot be granted until January 27.

(W. G. Sharp, Los Angels County clerk, said no arrangements have been made to open his office at midnight to enter a final judgment in Annabella's divorce suit.)

Last night Miss Christian, happy on the eve of the wedding, told reporters she plans to start having babies right away.

Military Funeral For Iwo Jima Hero

An honor guard of United States Marines leads the procession for the military funeral at Weslaco, Texas, for Cpl. Harlon H. Block, one of the six marines in the famous picture of the raising of the flag on Iwo Jima after its capture February, 1945. Block was killed in action two weeks after the flag-raising.

Administration Captures Round In Control Fight

Senate Group Paves Way For Truman Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) —The administration's anti-inflation drive gained momentum today as the Senate Banking Committee voted to extend industry's self-rationing system seven months.

This action paved the way for early Congress consideration of President Truman's general economic program which he says must be backed by stand-by compulsory control powers.

The Democrats demonstrated their strength in turning back a Republican effort to continue the voluntary agreements plan for 13 months past the February 28 expiration date.

The GOP contended that the voluntary method was working well and therefore should be given a longer trial. Evidently this was designed to forestall administration requests for mandatory controls.

Motion Defeated 8-2

This motion by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) was defeated 8 to 2. Following that the seven-month extension requested by the administration was approved unanimously.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said the final committee action "left the door wide open for any administration anti-inflation proposals." But he promptly added that the vote "does not commit anybody to mandatory controls."

The Senate-House Economic Committee meanwhile prepared to open a full scale study of Mr. Truman's general anti-inflation program which he outlined in broad detail in his state of the union message and his annual economic report.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the joint committee, told reporters the hearings probably will start February 8 with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan the first witness. Brannan has been designated legislative director of the administration's general anti-inflation plan.

Nanking And Reds Accuse Each Other Of Bad Faith

Nationalists Strive To Set Up Defense Line South Of Yangtze

By HAROLD K. MILKS

NANKING, Jan. 26 (AP) — The Chinese government and the Communists accused each other of bad faith today. As peace prospects dimmed, the Nationalists hastily tried to establish a new defense line south of the Yangtze.

The Communists radio asserted Acting President Li Tsung-Jen was trying to get a breathing spell while organizing further resistance. It called on him to show his good faith by immediately detaining leading war criminals.

(As heard and translated in Shanghai, the broadcast called on Li to "detain" Chiang Kai-Shek and other "war criminals").

It was reported on high authority that Chiang Kai-Shek would return to power should the peace talks fizzle. This report came from sources so high they can be considered unimpeachable.

A government spokesman accused the Communists of stalling. He called on the Reds to name peace delegates now and select a place for a conference.

"False Peace" Plot Charged

Almost as in answer to this — although there was no direct connection between the two statements — the Red radio said the Nationalists were plotting to distort peace talks into "a false peace."

The Nationalists were accused of seeking "to preserve the strength of the Chiang Kai-Shek reactionary bloc through fake negotiations."

A highly-placed source, who talked to Acting President Li today, said Li was trying to halt the transfer of the government to Canton.

The Foreign Office announced early today that all government functions would cease in Nanking February 3 and the new capital of government-held China would be set up at Canton, effective February 5.

This source said Foreign Minister Wu Teh-Chen was behind the removal to Canton. Li was pictured as insisting the government should stay in Nanking as long as the Reds are willing to negotiate.

(Since the removal to Canton already has been announced Li seems to have no control over the Cabinet, despite his position as "acting president." Chiang's friends in the Cabinet already have blocked some of Li's proposed measures.)

Hope To Improve Positions

Some diplomatic observers said both the government and Red charges of stalling were probably true. They believe both sides hope to improve their position with delays.

On the one hand, the Reds have the military power, but hope to get a victory cheaper through dickering.

On the other, the government may believe a delay will help because a flight south would give it a better chance to survive.

Father Chooses Blindness For His Two Babies

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—A father, half-blind since childhood, has chosen blindness for his two babies rather than almost certain death.

The father, Abe Goldstein, 30, Pacific war veteran, and his wife were told by doctors that their two children were suffering from a cancerous eye condition.

The disease, ertino-blastoma, would spread and probably cause the children's deaths, the doctors said.

The only hope was removal of both eyes of the boy, Michael, 11 months, and one eye of their daughter, Karen, 2½ years.

"Go ahead, doctor, operate," said the father.

The operations were performed yesterday and the children were reported doing "very nicely" today.

Landlords Warned As "Revolt" Launched

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (INS) — A mass eviction campaign to protest rent controls threatened tenants in large cities tonight and Federal Housing Expeditor Tighe Woods warned of possible court prosecution to quell the "landlords revolt."

The mass eviction movement already is underway in Tulsa where it was initiated by a unit of the Property Owners Association of America.

Woods reversed an earlier opinion that the threatened evictions could not be stopped and declared that the "good faith" clause of the rent control law provides enough authority to stop such action.

The Housing Expeditor said such evictions as those in Tulsa cannot be held in "good faith." Woods added in a radio broadcast that he has been advised courts have upheld that "interpretation" and that injunctions will be sought against mass evictors.

Md. Senate, With Two Dissenters, Approves Bill To Aid Alcoholics

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 26. (AP)—The Maryland Senate, with only two dissenters, passed a bill today to "help chronic alcoholics — sick men."

The measure, which was sent to the House for action, would create an unpaid commission on alcoholism and appropriate $100,000 every year to maintain four hospital clinics for chronic tripplers.

The Senate also put a final stamp of approval on a change in the law to keep Dr. Horace E. Flack on duty as director of the Department of Legislative Reference.

It required two suspensions of the rules to rush the measure through for Gov. Lane's signature. The Governor had asked legislative action to exempt Dr. Flack, who has been a consultant to lawmakers for more than 30 years, from compulsory retirement at 70.

Flack reahces that age in May.

The Flack bill was the only one finally enacted in a day taken over largely by committee hearings, where legislators heard:

1. House sponsors of "anti-subsersive" bills assert Communism has put the United States "in greater danger than ever before."

2. Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, announce personal opposition to a bill which would create an advisory committee on education to help set state school policy.

3. Kenneth Merrill, an Annapolis blind man, say granting the Maryland Workshop for the Blind exclusive rights to license vending stands in public buildings would curtail his personal liberties.

Sen. Davis (R-Montgomery) told his colleagues that "chronic alcoholics are sick men, and many can be helped."

Sen. Balch (D-Talbot) said he knew "how sick some drunks can be," but regarded state care as "paternalistic."

Balch and Sen. Storm (D-Frederick) were against the bill. Sen. Carter (D-Balto 3rd) voted for it after a floor agreement that the House would attack an amendment requiring financially able patients to pay for clinical treatment.

The Senate put off until tomorrow a decision on the administration-backed measure to keep the earned income tax rate at two per cent. Without a repealer, the charge would go up one-half per cent on 1948 income.

Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) chairman of the Finance Committee which approved the "freeze," agreed to the postponement. Earlier he had said he was confident it could pass today.

U. Of Wash. Professor Resigns In Controversy

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP) — Dr. Thomas I. Cook quit today as professor of political science at the University of Washington after the dismissal of three other faculty members in a controversy over asserted present or former Communist activity.

Three other faculty members were placed on probation Saturday. They had been similarly accused.

"I resigned," Prof. Cook told a news conference, "because of the conspicuous violation of the proper processes for deciding issues of freedom and tenure x x x" at the university.

President Dutra, Of Brazil, To Visit U. S. This Spring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. (AP)—President Truman announced today that President Dutra of Brazil has accepted an invitation to visit the United States May 18.

The Brazilian President's departure from his country must receive the approval of the Brazilian Legislature.

Mr. Truman visited Rio De Janeiro in 1947, and has asked the Brazilian Chief Executive to Washington for a return visit.

Full Committee Due To Get GOP Chairman Batte

Agreement Eludes Compromise Group

By JACK BELL

OMAHA, Jan. 26 (AP)—A committee of seven failed to reach any agreement tonight on compromising the fight over the Republican national chairmanship.

Members said after a closed meeting that the battle to unseat Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., probably will go before the full committee at a meeting tomorrow morning.

The compromise committee, headed by Werner Schroeder, of Illinois, had sought to find a peaceable way out of the controversy spawned by an attack of enemies of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on Scott as chairman.

Scott was named to the post last June at Dewey's insistence after the New York Governor was nominated for President.

Scott Forces Stand Firm

But Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman who has been active in the fight against Scott, told reporters that Scott's supporters on the Schroeder group refused to consider any compromise which would move the chairman out of his job.

Hallanan said the anti-Dewey forces had agreed to drop their sponsorship of Roy E. Dunn, Minnesota committeeman, as a candidate for the chairmanship if Scott also would withdraw.

Herbert K. Hyde, carrying the proxy of Lew Wentz, Oklahoma committeeman, said Scott forces were ready for "a finish fight" in tomorrow's committee session.

"We are not going to let them throw out Scott, a war veteran, for a 62-year-old man (Dunn) without a fight," Hyde declared.

Counting Of Noses Due

Thus the argument over the chairmanship seemed likely to be settled only by a counting of noses in the 105-member committee tomorrow.

Hyde said the Scott forces had hoped to compromise on changes in a newly-named executive committee.

Hallanan said it was his understanding that Scott was willing to rescind his order setting up a 15-member executive committee heavily weighted with Dewey supporters if his critics would drop their fight on him.

As matters stood, the committee appeared almost evenly divided between Scott and anti-Scott forces.

G O P Progressives Score

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A group of self-styled progressive House Republicans claimed a major victory today as GOP leaders agreed to overhaul their policy-making group and abandon seniority as a basis of selection.

They won unanimous backing of the Republican Committee on Committees for a resolution abolishing the old GOP Steering Committee and replacing it with a policy committee chosen largely on a geographical basis by the members themselves.

The resolution comes before a conference of the entire Republican House membership tomorrow afternoon (2 p. m.) and its approval is virtually certain.

Commons Vote Of 283 To 193 Closes Debate

Time For Recognition Of New Jewish State Awaits Consultations

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House of Commons tonight voted confidence in Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's policy toward Israel.

With 50 Labor members abstaining, the House of Commons voted 283 to 193 for adjournment of full dress debate on Palestine.

Said Prime Minister Attlee just before the ballot:

"A vote of adjournment in these circumstances is a vote of confidence in the government."

Before the vote was taken Attlee also said that Britain had "accepted in principle" the recognition of Israel. He added:

"The question of the time of doing it is now a matter of consultation."

It was the first major test the Labor government had faced on foreign policy.

It was a victory for Bevin, who had said that recognition of Israel may contribute to a peace settlement, but that he had withheld that recognition for further international consultation.

Bevin said Britain was consulting with members of the British Commonwealth and its Western European pact allies on the time for such recognition.

"I am assuming that replies will be in the next few days when the final act will be taken," he said.

Churchill Leads Opposition

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition, had called for immediate government recognition of Israel. He drew support from members of his party, liberals and some discontented Laborites.

Attlee, in reply, said "it would have been ill advised to have rushed into recognition of Israel. Now, I believe it might contribute to peace and settlement."

Bevin opened the debate with a belligerent defense of the Labor government's Palestine policies. He said these had been essential to safeguard the Middle East against the spread of Communism.

He hinted that Britain might intervene if fighting flared again between Arabs and Jews in Palestine. He said Britain would find it "very difficult to stand by, indifferent and inactive," in the event of a renewal of Jew-Arab warfare in the truce-stilled Holy Land.

As to recognition, he said: "The State of Israel is now a fact and we (the Labor government) have not tried or done anything to undo it."

British sources had forecast that Britain would announce de facto recognition of the Jewish state today. Both Bevin and Attlee made clear some steps must come first.

Ex-Juror Testifies For Reds, Gets $3.70

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A member of the federal grand jury which indicted 11 top United States Communists today demanded—and got—$3.70 for appearing as a witness for the defense.

The witness, D. Benjamin Brush, New Rochelle, N. Y., who described himself as a Princeton graduate and a "free-lance engineer" with an annual income in excess of $5,000, had been subpoenaed by defense counsel along with other members of the former spy-hunting grand jury.

He was called as a part of the defense effort to prove that the jury-picking system in the New York federal district discriminates against the poor and in favor of the rich.

The 11 Communists are charged with working for the forcible overthrow of the government.

Brush objected to appearing as a defense witness because he had not been given a subpoena fee when the document was handed him.

Nevada Haylift Paying Off; New Storm Hits California

[By The Associated Press]

Aided by good flying weather, the Nevada haylift for snow-stranded livestock appeared to be winning the battle against starvation Wedesday.

However, January storms lashed some other section of the country and conditions were growing more critical in ice-rocked Nothern Nebraska.

A new blizzard and cold whirled into the Southern California mountains and desert and sleet formed a sheath of ice across a large area of the midcontinent.

Despite the success of airmen in getting feed to starving range livestock in Nevada, ranchers fear that the Artic-like cold and snow—worst in 60 years—will take a large toll.

The hay run, being operatel by "Flying Boxcars" of the Fouth Air Force, continued in temperatures near 30 degrees below zero. Four C-82s made flights to the Northeastern Nevada ranges at 40-minute intervals. The planes dropped 148,000 pounds of fodder to hungry sheep and cattle Tuesday.

Full extent of loses will not be known until roads are opened and a detailed check can be made. Stock tend to weaken under severe cold almost as quickly as from hunger.

President Truman, meanwhile, made another $200,000 available to help relieve suffering in snow-bound western states. Another $100,000 was allocated Monday for aid to Indians and stockmen in the blizzard affected areas.

Earlier Gov. Val Peterson, of Nebraska, appealed personally to President Truman for Army help in reaching snow-bound humans and cattle in 22 northern counties. The Governor also asked the federal government to match $500,000 the Nebraska Legislature has moved to appropriate for blizzard relief.

Rep. Case (R-SD) said he will introduce a bill calling for a $1,000,000 increase in funds available to meet the weather crisis. A $500,000 disaster fund was voted the President last year.

The Southern California blizzard marooned scores of persons in summer resorts. Many tourists also were stranded at Las Vegas, Nev. Plane flights out of Las Vegas were canceled and trains were running three to four hours late.

"WINDY CITY" FIRE—This on-the-spot picture shows a wall breaking away from a burning eight-story building in Chicago. Some 25,000 spectators watched a force of 400 firemen battle the blaze in the vacant building, from which flames shot 100 feet into the air. Fire Department authorities suspect arson.

Md. Senate

Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) and others asked the Senate to go slowly when the bill came out of committee last week. Although Lane said in his budget message that 1950 revenues were estimated on the basis of a two per cent levy, a floor contest was still forecast by some senators.

Storm said last week he will offer an amendment to reduce the rate on the first $1,000 of unearned income from five per cent to two per cent.

A committee of six senators met with a like number from the House following the afternoon sessions to plan their campaign with Lane in a probe of mental hospitals.

Lane asked for the help of a General Assembly committee during the course of his budget message. As a result, Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) withdrew a resolution in which he had asked a prompt investigation of hospital conditions.

Both Senate and House were in session a short time, but both received some bills likely to stir up an argument later.

Kimble and Sen. Hofferbert (D-Balto 1st) proposed establishing a 40-hour week for Maryland workers, with time and a half pay required for extra hours. Their bill also would outlaw "discrimination" against women.

In the House, Delegate Sklar (D-Balto 4th) offered a bill to exempt household fuel from the sales tax.

CIO were on strike at the time in a dispute over seniority and other contract provisions. Wages were not an issue. The walkout, which began September 7, is continuing.

Shortly after the raid, Shane described it as a union "rally" in support of the strikers. He said USW-CIO members from throughout Michigan took part.

The company's plants, manufacturing fishing tackle and auto parts, were operating with a reduced force at the time. Shane accused the management of importing "strike breakers" and said the latter provoked the December 1 violence.

New Bonus Petition Is Filed By Sen. Kimble

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 26 (AP) — Another petition asking Maryland to give a bonus to its World War II veterans was filed in the Senate today by Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Kimble said one of the signers was Paul J. Wiedorfer, Baltimore, Maryland's only living holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

The Allegany Senator previously had submitted petitions signed by more than 1,600 persons.

"WINDY CITY" FIRE—This on-the-spot picture shows a wall breaking away from a burning eight-story building in Chicago. Some 25,000 spectators watched a force of 400 firemen battle the blaze in the vacant building, from which flames shot 100 feet into the air. Fire Department authorities suspect arson.

Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) and others asked the Senate to go slowly when the bill came out of committee last week. Although Lane said in his budget message that 1950 revenues were estimated on the basis of a two per cent levy, a floor contest was still forecast by some senators.

Storm said last week he will offer an amendment to reduce the rate on the first $1,000 of unearned income from five per cent to two per cent.

A committee of six senators met with a like number from the House following the afternoon sessions to plan their campaign with Lane in a probe of mental hospitals.

Lane asked for the help of a General Assembly committee during the course of his budget message. As a result, Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) withdrew a resolution in which he had asked a prompt investigation of hospital conditions.

Both Senate and House were in session a short time, but both received some bills likely to stir up an argument later.

Kimble and Sen. Hofferbert (D-Balto 1st) proposed establishing a 40-hour week for Maryland workers, with time and a half pay required for extra hours. Their bill also would outlaw "discrimination" against women.

In the House, Delegate Sklar (D-Balto 4th) offered a bill to exempt household fuel from the sales tax.

Eleven Indicted

CIO were on strike at the time in a dispute over seniority and other contract provisions. Wages were not an issue. The walkout, which began September 7, is continuing.

Shortly after the raid, Shane described it as a union "rally" in support of the strikers. He said USW-CIO members from throughout Michigan took part.

The company's plants, manufacturing fishing tackle and auto parts, were operating with a reduced force at the time. Shane accused the management of importing "strike breakers" and said the latter provoked the December 1 violence.

New Bonus Petition Is Filed By Sen. Kimble

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 26 (AP) — Another petition asking Maryland to give a bonus to its World War II veterans was filed in the Senate today by Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Kimble said one of the signers was Paul J. Wiedorfer, Baltimore, Maryland's only living holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

China At Mercy Of Commies; Policy Needed

In his sweeping inaugural indictment of Soviet policy at home and abroad, President Truman failed to mention China. But the crisis in Asia is not to be ignored. Certainly it cannot be ignored by the United States, which carries, in the Far East as in Europe, so heavy a responsibility for "containing" Russo-Communist power.

Our hand is being forced by fast-moving events in China. The retirement of Chiang Kai-shek as president will encourage the peace-at-any price crowd in Nanking. On several occasions during his 22 years as head of the Chinese Nationalist government, Generalissimo Chiang has given up his position as head of state and has walked out on his followers. In the past, this has invariably been a shrewdly-calculated political trick to unite the quarreling factions under him. Also invariably, the trick has worked, and the statesmen and generals have begged him to return.

The technique this time was the same, but under very dramatic circumstances. There are also these great differences: Never before had Chiang left the government with an enemy victorious in the field. Never before have the Chinese people—who still cleave to their Nationalist government—been so apathetic about further resistance to an enemy. Never before in modern history has a Chinese government had so little hope to offer its people.

The Chinese people; sick of fighting and of high prices and taxes, are ready for peace at any price. But flushed with victory, the Communists are not expected to entertain offers for peace by the Nationalists. There has been no doubt for weeks that the peace would be on Communists terms. They will insist upon abject surrender and the yielding up of an indefinite number of "war criminals." In a word, any peace will amount to a death sentence for Chiang, unless he flees the country.

Beyond this, no one can accurately foretell the generalissimo's future. He seems uncertain about it himself. This is reflected in his ambigious and flowery farewell statement. It seems hardly likely that he will follow a course predicted a month ago and set up a government in Formosa.

In spite of these developments, American policy in China is still, to use Winston Churchill's phrase about Russia, "an enigma wrapped in a mystery." We have been trying to ignore the mess, hoping against hope that some way may be found to get along with the Chinese Communists.

Our State Department has ignored or forgotten the declaration of Red leader Mao Tze-tung, on the occasion of the thirty-first anniversary of the Bolshevik seizure of power in Russia:

"The Communist Party in China . . . was established and developed with the Communist Party of the Soviet Union as a model. . . . After the victory of the Second World War, American imperialism and its running dogs in various countries replaced Fascist Germany, Italy and Japan. . . . This enemy still has its strength, and all revolutionary forces within every country must unite with each other and organize an anti-imperialist united front headed by the Soviet Union."

Whether under a wing of the Cominform or struggling for its independence, China is too big and important to be swept under a State Department rug.

Chicago man will be eligible for parole from a penitentiary sentence in 232 years. By that time he may like the place and decide to stay.

Polio Fund-Raising Campaign Nearing Its End

Cumberland is more than midway in what is called the March of Dimes, a national campaign, which closes with the end of the month. The Wishing Well, operated by various civic, service and military groups on Baltimore Street is typifying the whole movement. There's where you drop your dimes, or your dollars —there or in the coin receptacles to be found in business establishments. The object is, as everybody knows, to raise funds sufficient to combat Infantile Paralysis, a disease which in the last six years has stricken more than 100,000 persons.

The case for the movement may be very simply stated: Not one family in ten, even those with high earning power, can meet unaided the expense of polio treatment. The disease requires the teamwork of seven or more medical specialists, a pediatrician, orthopedist, nurse, physical therapist, occupational therapist, medical social worker, psychological consultant. That is where the funds comes in—$17,000,000 spent by the National Foundation in 1948, a goodly sum in Allegany county.

If on a single day everybody in Allegany county dropped in a dime, the goal here would be far exceeded. Or, as a Cumberland News reader proposes, if every adult would contribute a dime for every year he or she has walked, the campaign would be put over the top with a surplus for unforeseen emergencies.

In attempting to solve family troubles and divorce cases, has anyone thought of placing the parents in custody of the children?

And Now—"Earth Brown"

This is the time of year when manufacturers stun the purchasing public with the new line of 1949 colors. Gowns, lipstick and cars—to name a few—have the same old colors, but they are distinguished by a whipped froth of Nomenclature. The names are too exotic, bizarre, (and numerous) for most males, but they have taken them in stride each year as part of the old sales promotion game.

As a rule, these flamboyant announcements are ground for no more than a cynical snicker, but now many a mere male will be compelled to admit to something more than passing interest. A rug manufacturer has announced a new color called "earth brown."

The manufacturer's brochure says that "to the brown-leaf undertones have been added some gray, beige and rose tones, to make a soft understated pattern." That can be ignored by those who are more interested in the technological impact of this new "earth brown" color on American households.

To the millions of housewives whose children and menfolk annually track bushels of native soil into the carpets, it should bring freedom of sorts from worry and work. Perhaps, at last, the pretty and the practical have been rolled into a single package. Anyway, the possibilities strain the imagination.

The Nearsighted Eye

BEFORE THE TURN of the century, youngsters attended schools that were often dirty and inadequately lighted. They were forced to use flat desks and poorly printed books. In many instances, the print was so fine that it was difficult to decipher. There was no reason to change until Cohn published a paper on the relationship between reading and shortsightedness. This study initiated a revolution in school hygiene. Many physicians had mentioned the connection between defective vision and eyestrain but until this report appeared, no particular attention was paid to the possibility.

Cohn stated that 1.4 per cent of lower grade pupils were nearsighted and that the proportion mounted gradually to about 60 per cent among university students. The blame was placed on close work especially under the conditions which existed at that time. The solution was simple and shortly thereafter, larger windows and better lights were incorporated into classrooms, desks were graded, and a limit was set on how much near work could be done. The need for eye examinations of students was stressed also so that glasses might be fitted to correct existing defects and prevent further damage.

The idea seemed logical and before long, statisticians began to publicize the high incidence of myopia in the more studious and brilliant persons in the world. Scattered reports from Sweden and other European countries appeared, stating that fewer children were becoming myopic in schools with improvements in hygiene and lighting. Another physician made a survey of 120,000 eye tests in China and found that 70 per cent showed myopia. He ascribed this high rate to the strain these people had to undergo in studying the difficult Chinese characters while bending over low desks wtih poor illumination. It is well known that for hundreds of years, 70 per cent of all Chinese have been myopic. The author was still convinced even though he mentioned in the same article that 98 per cent of the population were illiterate.

Physicians who were skeptical of Cohn's postulate did not give in easily and, as the years passed, became more and more convinced that close work could not cause nearsightedness. Byt this time, youngsters were studying in ideal environments and the proportion who suffered from myopia remained the same instead of decreasing.

It is now the consensus that this eye defect is hereditary and the fact that it progressed during the age when children attend school is purely coincidental. Statistics show that there has been no rise in the percentage of myopia even though there has been a tremendous growth in education and literacy during the past century. Some individuals are born with longer eyeballs in much the same way as others are taller or have larger noses than normal; the farsighted person has a shorter eyeball than the myopic. This is the current explanation but does not explain all cases. In a certain number the outer wall of the eye is weakened through inflammation, which causes the orbit to increase in size. This may be aggravated by continued eyestrain.

Inducing Cramping

Mrs. O. writes: Once or twice I have stretched my legs in bed and have had to pull them back quickly as I developed cramps in the calves. One night recently while out walking I just thought of muscle spasms, and they were upon me. They did not leave until I got my mind on something entirely remote from the pain. Can you explain this phenomenon?

Reply

Cramping occurs when the muscle is overstretched. Just thinking about the condition will not bring it on; most of us unconsciously go thru the causative motions to see if the spasm will reappear. In this respect it is similar to bending a sore knee or twisting a stiff neck to see if the pain is still there.

SIDE ACHE

D. S. writes: What is the cause of pain under the ribs on the right side? I can take a deep breath without distress but when I stoop over or try to get out of bed, I can hardly get up. What is your advice?

Reply

When pain is produced by movements of this nature, we suspect neuralgia orginating in the spine. In the circumstances, pain is felt along the course of a nerve that is pinched by the vertebrae.

NERVELESS TOOTH

G. W. writes: Does a tooth turn black after its nerve is removed?

Reply

A tooth usually loses its luster and darkens after the nerve is out. Now and then, it becomes blackish.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

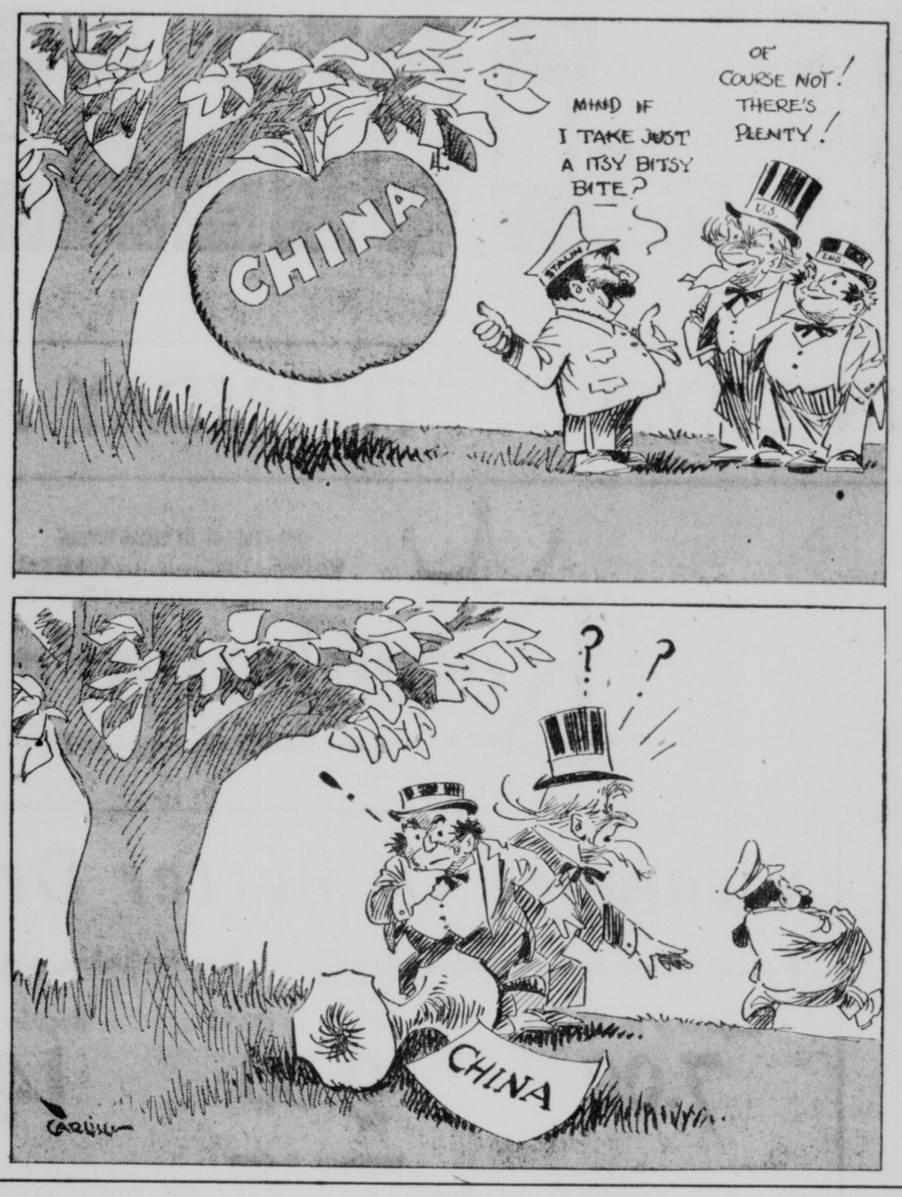
The most serious problem the Republican Party is faced with is the Republican Party. It's split up the back like a finnan haddie for two.

The GOP has had plenty of time in which to muse upon man's inhumanity to man. But it never comes out of a huddle with a play.

Last November they thought the time was as ripe as an apple on the ground. But to everybody's amazement who do you think sat down to play the piano?

None other than that great captain of industry, that terrific pioneer of construction, that great engineer of gigantic landmarks, who will rattle south in history as Harry the porch builder.

THAT WAS SOME BITE WASN'T IT?



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Latin Dictators Flourish In USA's Front Yard; Senator Chavez Of New Mexico Gets In Dr. Gallup's Corner; Senate Small Business Committee On Skids

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—While we are worrying about troubles in Greece, Turkey, Iran and the back door of Europe, trouble is increasing in our own front yard—Latin America.

Foreign Minister Carlos Hevia of Cuba, stopped in Washington to warn President Truman about these troubles last week, but couldn't get in to see him. Too much inauguration. However, other Latin-American Ambassadors have talked to Truman pri[illegible] to the inauguration and have received mixed reactions.

The President is worried about the increasing growth of Latin-American militarism, but in the case of Venezuela—which the USA recognized last week—he explained that we had to get along with the Venezuelan dictators because we had to get Venezuelan oil for Marshall Plan shipments to Europe.

Also Mr. Truman showed signs of peeve at his old friend, ex-President Gallegos of Venezuela for a statement made when he arrived in exile in Cuba to the effect that the Venezuelan revolt was the United States' fault.

Most Latin diplomats are inclined to agree that hasty U. S. recognition of the Peruvian military dictators did lead to the Venezuelan revolt. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman seemed considerably nettled over Gallegos' remark, even though he and President Gallegos traveled out to Bolivar, Mo., last year to unveil a statue of Simon Bolivar, and got to know each other quite well.

At any rate more trouble is brewing in Venezuela, where the military are already at each other's throats. Also the Pan American Union is now debating an embarrassing Chilean demand that the Venezuelan dictators release ex-President Bettencourt from jail.

New Mexico Politics

The Governor of New Mexico met the senior Senator from New Mexico at Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's reception the other day. They were polite but not pleased.

Thereby hangs the story of an election reversal as unexpected as anything predicted by Dr. Gallup.

The Governor of New Mexico, big, popular Tom Mabry, is a Democrat. The senior Senator from New Mexico, dark, bushy-browed Dennis Chavez, is also a Democrat. But they do not love each other.

Reason: Chavez was certain Mabry would not be re-elected governor last November, staked everything that New Mexico would go Republican.

Furthermore, Chavez worked out a neat scheme whereby his brother Dave could be appointed to the United States Senate by a Republican governor. Chavez, ill for some time, last fall did not expect to live. And he wanted his brother to take his place in the Senate.

Undoubtedly, Governor Mabry would have been willing to appoint Dave Chavez to the Senate, but Dennis Chavez didn't give him a chance. He assumed the Republicans were sure-shot winners, and that a Republican governor, Manuel Lujan, would be in the saddle to do the appointing.

So Senator Chavez let it be known he was for Lujan with the tacit understanding that Lujan would appoint brother Dave to the Senate if Dennis passed away. For a time the Senator even gave the impression that he was also for Tom Dewey.

Then came the election returns. Governor Mabry fooled Chavez and was re-elected. Obviously he is not now going to appoint brother Dave to the Senate. So a lot of people are betting that rather than have Mabry appoint his successor, Dennis Chavez will now fool his doctors.

Protecting Small Business

Hotly debated in Senate cloakrooms this week has been the question of whether the Senate Small Business Committee shall continue as an independent body or become a subcommittee under the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

One thing which the 80th Congress did well—despite all its other faults—was to operate a fearless, forthright Small Business Committee. This was due in part to the astuteness of its counsel, George Meredith, and in part to the rambunctious belligerency of Senator Wherry of Nebraska, who was loud and vocal in his championship of small business though his votes on the Senate floor sometimes were the other way.

Despite this good job, many Democrats want to merge the Small Business Committee—which has operated in its own right—and make it merely a subcommittee.

Part of this opposition is because the Small Business Committee has stepped on too many big-business toes. Part also is based on the fact that if the Small Business Committee remains independent, it will be dominated by kindly, able Senator Jim Murray of Montana, a highly respected statesman, but who is expected to appoint his son as counsel and operate as a one-man committee.

This criticism may not be justified, but it exists. And it may influence the fate of one of the most important committees in the Senate.

Chinese "Face"

The exit of Chiang Kai-Shek recalls a famous photo taken in the White House garden of Chiang's brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, together with President Truman, and the then Secretaries of State, War and Navy—Edward Stettinius, Henry L. Stimson and James V. Forrestal.

The photo was arranged by ex-braintruster Tom Corcoran, attorney for the Chinese Government, through his close friend, Forrestal, in order to strengthen Soong's hand in China and make it appear that he was the bosom friend of the President of the United States and his highest Cabinet members.

The photo worked wonders. "Face" (we call it prestige) means everything in China, and Soong came back to Nanking ace-high with everyone. Also, it strengthened the position of Chiang Kai-Shek. He and his family were considered to have the 100 per cent support of the U. S. Government.

It was at about this time that General Marshall went to China as special Ambassador, and used all his persuasive powers to get Chiang to take other leaders into his Government, form a coalition cabinet. But Chiang refused. He had various tokens, such as this photo, to make him think he stood well with Marshall's superior in Washington.

Such are some of the intricacies of Chinese diplomacy.

Note—Tommy the cork is now one of the most active wire-pullers to keep in office Jim Forrestal, the man who helped arrange the miracle-working photo.

U. S. Seems In Process Of Making New China Error

By MARK SULLIVAN

To the mistakes we have made about China—"mistakes" is short of the right word—we can now add another, and seem in process of doing so. Having had much responsibility for the fall of China to Communism, we now can find ways of not facing the tragedy that it is and the fact of our part in it. A familiar trait of human nature.

In implications that suggest an attitude on the part of the Administration at Washington, and in expressions in the news and comment, appears an occasional note which in effect seems to minimize what has taken place, as if to suggest "Oh well, maybe it won't be so bad after all." Variations imply that it will take years for Russia and Communism to organize their control of China; that the vastness of China will make it impossible for Moscow to dominate; that the Chinese are a strongly individualistic people and will not really accept the collectivist doctrine of Communism; that China in its long history has absorbed many conquering regimes and alien philosophies, and will do so now.

Weak Groping For Self-Comfort

All that is weak groping for self-comfort. Reluctant to face consequences that are certain and immediate, people turn to vague imaginings of ameliorating possibilities in a remote future. But if that is the easy way, it is not the way of men with hard minds who look reality in the face, including ones who stand up to the necessity or duty of making hard decisions.

In the recent war the heads of the allied nations had a phrase which they used in their conferences about changes in the world line-up in successive stages of the conflict; it was, "over-all strategic concept". If in the present situation leaders of the various forces that oppose world domination by Communism were to make an over-all strategic concept of the stage brought about by the fall of China, they would list the changes in all the factors that make up this conflict—economic, military, and what counts much in this conflict, morale, meaning the psychological attitudes of peoples throughout the world.

These factors are not separable. How they merge, and the immense force of the sum of them, is illustrated by one country. In Japan, economic recovery now becomes more difficult, in fact problematic, and is almost certainly postponed. For the economic recovery of Japan depends mainly on trade with China, and this will now be at the sufferance of the Communist heads. It goes without saying that the Communist heads will use their power to our disadvantage, as a weapon in their attempt at world domination. Postponement of economic recovery in Japan will cause continuation of our expenditures for its support, probably both the economic and military cost of our occupation of Japan will increase.

In Japan as everywhere, economic prostration is a cause of susceptibility to Communism. To this is now added the psychological effect of seeing China fall to Communism, and evidence of increased strength of Communism was seen in the recent Japanese elections. Until recently we have looked upon Japan as a buttress against Communism and Russia, our policy there has been based on this assumption. We now run risk of being obliged to see Japan, not as the front of resistance against Communism by us and the western world, but as the front of Communist advance.

Fall Of China Sets Us Back

Not only in Japan but elsewhere in the Far East, the fall of China to Communism sets us back. Our foothold in Korea is now untenable. In Burma, Indo-China and elsewhere, movements toward Communism already existing both internally and through stimulation and organization from Moscow, will be encouraged and strengthened.

The sum of all the developments in the Far East can be put in one sentence. The whole of the Russian and Communist drive toward world domination has had two prongs, one in Asia and one in Europe — and the Asiatic prong is now far advanced toward success.

The two prongs were never separable, and the advance of the Asiatic one will affect the European one. In the world conflict as a whole, the forces resisting Communism—economic, psychological and military—are likely to pass through a shuffling and re-grouping, amounting in the end to what military terminology would call taking up a new position.

Ideas For U. S. Welfare As Voiced By Mrs. Roosevelt

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—If President Truman, either in his State of the Union message or in his inaugural address, had written the lines quoted below he would have stiumlated an unprecedented wave of confidence. The business situation in America would have been much brighter and there would be the highest hopes now everywhere that the United States was going to be economically strong enough to serve the world.

The words to be quoted were not written by a reactionary or by anyone who wants to go back to "horse and buggy" days or by someone who isn't interested in social-welfare legislation or the progress of the people. Yet, they express—better than any business man has done to date—the basic philosophy that has made America the greatest producing nation on earth.

Here is the quotation which ought to be read by everybody in the government and everybody in Congress and everybody else who is interested in the maintenance of the American economic system:

"It is essential to a high level of employment that it be profitable for capital to be invested not just in safe enterprise but in new and untried enterprises.

"There must be incentive for this, particularly in times of peace. In times of war, when many men are risking their lives at the battlefronts, many others are willing to risk their money to do whatever is necessary for the well-being of the country. However, in times of peace there is not the same patriotic motive with which to prod capital into productive enterprise and, therefore, incentives must be found.

"Some of our biggest investors—such as trust companies, banks and insurance companies—are limited by law in their investments in order to safeguard those whose money they are using. Therefore, if we expect to develop new enterprises, to employ more people and to have more buying power, there must always be available capital from the individual investors. This is getting harder and harder to find today.

"It is of vital interest, of course, to the farmer and the wage earner that the things they have to buy keep on increasing in cost, because even tho wages go up and farm prices go up they never seem quite to cover the increased cost of living brought about by inflation and the passing on to the public of whatever costs have been imposed on the manufacturer.

"Therefore, it is going to be necessary, it seems to me, to examine everything not only with an eye to what we would like to do, but with the constant thought before us of what the essentials are that must be done.

"The preservation of the credit of our government is of vital importance to us and to the world as a whole, and while I believe there are many things in our program, as outlined by the President, that are essential and will help to bring us prosperity, I think even the best of them should be weighed with the viewpoint of their essentiality in attaining the objectives that we have before us. These objectives are rehabilitation in the world at large and stability and strength in our own economic system at home.

"These ends should never be forgotten and their importance should be explained to the people as each step is taken in this carefully balanced program which alone will see thru the difficulties of the next few years."

The above lines were written by none other than Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and published just a few days ago. The ideas are so well expressed that they certainly ought to have the widest possible circulation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

POLITICS at this stage are neither inspiring nor very exciting. In theory, ours is a two party political system which functions in Congress on a bi-partisan or, better said, a mutual-partisan basis. No committee in the Congress, for instance, is completely membered by one party and even some administrative organs of government consist, by law, of members of both parties.

There is not one word in the Constitution about political parties. Washington included in his cabinet men like Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson who in time were to build political factionalism which even became violent in their antagonisms.

As the country developed, the two party concept, taken from England, gathered strength and became fixed in our system. For a short interval during the Civil War, each section of the country was governed by one party, but after the war, party lines reformed and the system continued. (I need note, for historic accuracy, that when Lincoln ran for his second term, he did face a Democratic candidate.)

Since 1932, the Republican Party has in Congress functioned according to the system, serving on committees and going through the motions of a unified political organization. Outside Congress, the Party has been inadequately organized, with uncertain leadership with no definite ideological position in American life. Even at its conventions, these uncertainties presented themselves. The Republican Party revolved about personalties, labored not in the realm of ideals, of principles, of high purposes—but on how to be elected. And they never quite made it because they had nothing to say to those who voted democratic; they were extraordinarily discouraging to those who normally voted Republican.

This process continues. At this moment, in Congress, the Party is, as usual, splitting over personalities. The Senators and Representatives will take their places on committees in accordance with the mutual-partisan arrangement. But beyond that, it is all personalities. The Republican Party still has no statement of principles, no ideals, no inspiring thought to offer the old or the young. In a word, their lack of opposition leaves the country with only one party—the party of Truman.

The Democratic Party is a party of complex sects and factions. It ranges from the A. D. A. on the left to Republican opportunists and Dixiecrats on the right. Its elements are so divergent that there is no real power within the political organization. From this standpoint, the Democratic Party does not exist as a party but is a congeries of politicians reacting to Truman. So his cabinet has been reduced to its most primitive form, a secretariat of the presidency.

Instead, the control of all political power and activity is vested in the White House group and their associates. John Steelman, Clark Clifford and David Niles possess more influence and authority than the elected representatives of the public.

The Republicans are functioning neither wisely nor realistically. They are already in a personality quarrel over 1952—unwilling to recognize that for them there may be no 1952. The first battle of that quarrel is the chairmanship of the Republican national committee. An attempt is being made to remove Hugh Scott, the present chairman. An assault is being made on the titular leadership of Thomas E. Dewey; an effort to eliminate the Taft leadership in Congress was made by both the Dewey forces and the Republican "liberals."

All this is nonsense because, as it stands, the Republican Party lacks national support; only individuals in it have followings which are strictly personal. Unless this party can find an ideal to unite men and leadership to bring union within the party, its position will become increasingly hopeless.

At this moment, two men have followings that may become the nucleus of political strength. These two men are Harold Stassen and Dwight D. Eisenhower, as candidates for the presidency in 1952.

But as long as there is no organic unity in the party, there can be no prospect of success in 1952. And that unity must surround a high ideal, a clarion call, a piercing call, a piercing voice that arouses hope.

That has been lacking since 1932—except for one moment at the Philadelphia convention when Herbert Hoover spoke in the language of eternal principles instead of casual campaigning.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

How to Take Life Happily

In the first place, the way to take life happily is to take it as it comes, meeting every obligation and emergency with courage and patience. We never know what a day may bring forth, but if we are forearmed with a certain cheerful readiness, we can be assured that whatever may happen, we shall be able to meet it without fear.

Every experience in life resolves itself into a lesson. These lessons are what make us alert and alive to events. Said William James: "Let no youth have any anxiety about the upshot of his education, whatever the line may be. If he keep faithfully busy each hour of the working day, he may safely leave the final result to itself."

Worries, won't help. They never have. But events as they occur, will help. Many people try to take too much life at a time, whereas it should be taken carefully, thoughtfully—even an inch at a time! I like those two words—without fear. Think for a moment how full of meaning they are. The shut-in realizes them and so is fortified with patience and a happy outlook.

Sorrow, disappointment and failure are difficult things to face—but they are a part of life, and come to all of us in time, in some form or other. But they can be made to be but temporary. We can arise, as the Prodigal Son did in the Bible story, and go to meet happier events. We can begin anew. Life is full of detours, but most detours bring up out to the smooth road eventually. And then the memory of the rough road is quickly forgotten.

No matter how difficult the way of life may appear at times, cheerfulness is bound to creep in, just like the sunshine does through dark clouds, when least expected. "Some days," said the poet Longfellow, "must be dark and dreary." Do you ever note that those, who seem to experience more trouble than their share, actually take life in its stride —happily?

Each of us should early formulate a philosophy of life, personally conceived, and stay by it through thick and thin. Such a plan will do more to assure success and happiness than anything else. It will take anyone safely over the bumps!

China At Mercy Of Commies; Policy Needed

In his sweeping inaugural indictment of Soviet policy at home and abroad, President Truman failed to mention China. But the crisis in Asia is not to be ignored. Certainly it cannot be ignored by the United States, which carries, in the Far East as in Europe, so heavy a responsibility for "containing" Russo-Communist power.

Our hand is being forced by fast-moving events in China. The retirement of Chiang Kai-shek as president will encourage the peace-at-any price crowd in Nanking. On several occasions during his 22 years as head of the Chinese Nationalist government, Generalissimo Chiang has given up his position as head of state and has walked out on his followers. In the past, this has invariably been a shrewdly-calculated political trick to unite the quarreling factions under him. Also invariably, the trick has worked, and the statesmen and generals have begged him to return.

The technique this time was the same, but under very dramatic circumstances. There are also these great differences: Never before had Chiang left the government with an enemy victorious in the field. Never before have the Chinese people—who still cleave to their Nationalist government—been so apathetic about further resistance to an enemy. Never before in modern history has a Chinese government had so little hope to offer its people.

The Chinese people; sick of fighting and of high prices and taxes, are ready for peace at any price. But flushed with victory, the Communists are not expected to entertain offers for peace by the Nationalists. There has been no doubt for weeks that the peace would be on Communists terms. They will insist upon abject surrender and the yielding up of an indefinite number of "war criminals." In a word, any peace will amount to a death sentence for Chiang, unless he flees the country.

Beyond this, no one can accurately foretell the generalissimo's future. He seems uncertain about it himself. This is reflected in his ambigious and flowery farewell statement. It seems hardly likely that he will follow a course predicted a month ago and set up a government in Formosa.

In spite of these developments, American policy in China is still, to use Winston Churchill's phrase about Russia, "an enigma wrapped in a mystery." We have been trying to ignore the mess, hoping against hope that some way may be found to get along with the Chinese Communists.

Our State Department has ignored or forgotten the declaration of Red leader Mao Tze-tung, on the occasion of the thirty-first anniversary of the Bolshevik seizure of power in Russia:

"The Communist Party in China . . . was established and developed with the Communist Party of the Soviet Union as a model. . . . After the victory of the Second World War, American imperialism and its running dogs in various countries replaced Fascist Germany, Italy and Japan. . . . This enemy still has its strength, and all revolutionary forces within every country must unite with each other and organize an anti-imperialist united front headed by the Soviet Union."

Whether under a wing of the Cominform or struggling for its independence, China is too big and important to be swept under a State Department rug.

Chicago man will be eligible for parole from a penitentiary sentence in 232 years. By that time he may like the place and decide to stay.

Polio Fund-Raising Campaign Nearing Its End

Cumberland is more than midway in what is called the March of Dimes, a national campaign, which closes with the end of the month. The Wishing Well, operated by various civic, service and military groups on Baltimore Street is typifying the whole movement. There's where you drop your dimes, or your dollars —there or in the coin receptacles to be found in business establishments. The object is, as everybody knows, to raise funds sufficient to combat Infantile Paralysis, a disease which in the last six years has stricken more than 100,000 persons.

The case for the movement may be very simply stated: Not one family in ten, even those with high earning power, can meet unaided the expense of polio treatment. The disease requires the teamwork of seven or more medical specialists, a pediatrician, orthopedist, nurse, physical therapist, occupational therapist, medical social worker, psychological consultant. That is where the funds comes in—$17,000,000 spent by the National Foundation in 1948, a goodly sum in Allegany county.

If on a single day everybody in Allegany county dropped in a dime, the goal here would be far exceeded. Or, as a Cumberland News reader proposes, if every adult would contribute a dime for every year he or she has walked, the campaign would be put over the top with a surplus for unforeseen emergencies.

In attempting to solve family troubles and divorce cases, has anyone thought of placing the parents in custody of the children?

And Now—"Earth Brown"

This is the time of year when manufacturers stun the purchasing public with the new line of 1949 colors. Gowns, lipstick and cars—to name a few—have the same old colors, but they are distinguished by a whipped froth of Nomenclature. The names are too exotic, bizarre, (and numerous) for most males, but they have taken them in stride each year as part of the old sales promotion game.

As a rule, these flamboyant announcements are ground for no more than a cynical snicker, but now many a mere male will be compelled to admit to something more than passing interest. A rug manufacturer has announced a new color called "earth brown."

The manufacturer's brochure says that "to the brown-leaf undertones have been added some gray, beige and rose tones, to make a soft understated pattern." That can be ignored by those who are more interested in the technological impact of this new "earth brown" color on American households.

To the millions of housewives whose children and menfolk annually track bushels of native soil into the carpets, it should bring freedom of sorts from worry and work. Perhaps, at last, the pretty and the practical have been rolled into a single package. Anyway, the possibilities strain the imagination.

The Nearsighted Eye

BEFORE THE TURN of the century, youngsters attended schools that were often dirty and inadequately lighted. They were forced to use flat desks and poorly printed books. In many instances, the print was so fine that it was difficult to decipher. There was no reason to change until Cohn published a paper on the relationship between reading and shortsightedness. This study initiated a revolution in school hygiene. Many physicians had mentioned the connection between defective vision and eyestrain but until this report appeared, no particular attention was paid to the possibility.

Cohn stated that 1.4 per cent of lower grade pupils were nearsighted and that the proportion mounted gradually to about 60 per cent among university students. The blame was placed on close work especially under the conditions which existed at that time. The solution was simple and shortly thereafter, larger windows and better lights were incorporated into classrooms, desks were graded, and a limit was set on how much near work could be done. The need for eye examinations of students was stressed also so that glasses might be fitted to correct existing defects and prevent further damage.

The idea seemed logical and before long, statisticians began to publicize the high incidence of myopia in the more studious and brilliant persons in the world. Scattered reports from Sweden and other European countries appeared, stating that fewer children were becoming myopic in schools with improvements in hygiene and lighting. Another physician made a survey of 120,000 eye tests in China and found that 70 per cent showed myopia. He ascribed this high rate to the strain these people had to undergo in studying the difficult Chinese characters while bending over low desks wtih poor illumination. It is well known that for hundreds of years, 70 per cent of all Chinese have been myopic. The author was still convinced even though he mentioned in the same article that 98 per cent of the population were illiterate.

Physicians who were skeptical of Cohn's postulate did not give in easily and, as the years passed, became more and more convinced that close work could not cause nearsightedness. Byt this time, youngsters were studying in ideal environments and the proportion who suffered from myopia remained the same instead of decreasing.

It is now the consensus that this eye defect is hereditary and the fact that it progressed during the age when children attend school is purely coincidental. Statistics show that there has been no rise in the percentage of myopia even though there has been a tremendous growth in education and literacy during the past century. Some individuals are born with longer eyeballs in much the same way as others are taller or have larger noses than normal; the farsighted person has a shorter eyeball than the myopic. This is the current explanation but does not explain all cases. In a certain number the outer wall of the eye is weakened through inflammation, which causes the orbit to increase in size. This may be aggravated by continued eyestrain.

Inducing Cramping

Mrs. O. writes: Once or twice I have stretched my legs in bed and have had to pull them back quickly as I developed cramps in the calves. One night recently while out walking I just thought of muscle spasms, and they were upon me. They did not leave until I got my mind on something entirely remote from the pain. Can you explain this phenomenon?

Reply

Cramping occurs when the muscle is overstretched. Just thinking about the condition will not bring it on; most of us unconsciously go thru the causative motions to see if the spasm will reappear. In this respect it is similar to bending a sore knee or twisting a stiff neck to see if the pain is still there.

SIDE ACHE

D. S. writes: What is the cause of pain under the ribs on the right side? I can take a deep breath without distress but when I stoop over or try to get out of bed, I can hardly get up. What is your advice?

Reply

When pain is produced by movements of this nature, we suspect neuralgia orginating in the spine. In the circumstances, pain is felt along the course of a nerve that is pinched by the vertebrae.

NERVELESS TOOTH

G. W. writes: Does a tooth turn black after its nerve is removed?

Reply

A tooth usually loses its luster and darkens after the nerve is out. Now and then, it becomes blackish.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The most serious problem the Republican Party is faced with is the Republican Party. It's split up the back like a finnan haddie for two.

The GOP has had plenty of time in which to muse upon man's inhumanity to man. But it never comes out of a huddle with a play.

Last November they thought the time was as ripe as an apple on the ground. But to everybody's amazement who do you think sat down to play the piano?

None other than that great captain of industry, that terrific pioneer of construction, that great engineer of gigantic landmarks, who will rattle south in history as Harry the porch builder.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—While we are worrying about troubles in Greece, Turkey, Iran and the back door of Europe, trouble is increasing in our own front yard—Latin America.

Foreign Minister Carlos Hevia of Cuba, stopped in Washington to warn President Truman about these troubles last week, but couldn't get in to see him. Too much inauguration. However, other Latin-American Ambassadors have talked to Truman pr to the inauguration and have received mixed reactions.

The President is worried about the increasing growth of Latin-American militarism, but in the case of Venezuela—which the USA recognized last week—he explained that we had to get along with the Venezuelan dictators because we had to get Venezuelan oil for Marshall Plan shipments to Europe.

Also Mr. Truman showed signs of peeve at his old friend, ex-President Gallegos of Venezuela for a statement made when he arrived in exile in Cuba to the effect that the Venezuelan revolt was the United States' fault.

Most Latin diplomats are inclined to agree that hasty U. S. recognition of the Peruvian military dictators did lead to the Venezuelan revolt. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman seemed considerably nettled over Gallegos' remark, even though he and President Gallegos traveled out to Bolivar, Mo., last year to unveil a statue of Simon Bolivar, and got to know each other quite well.

At any rate more trouble is brewing in Venezuela, where the military are already at each other's throats. Also the Pan American Union is now debating an embarrassing Chilean demand that the Venezuelan dictators release ex-President Bettencourt from jail.

New Mexico Politics

The Governor of New Mexico met the senior Senator from New Mexico at Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's reception the other day. They were polite but not pleased.

Thereby hangs the story of an election reversal as unexpected as anything predicted by Dr. Gallup.

The Governor of New Mexico, big, popular Tom Mabry, is a Democrat. The senior Senator from New Mexico, dark, bushy-browed Dennis Chavez, is also a Democrat. But they do not love each other.

Reason: Chavez was certain Mabry would not be re-elected governor last November, staked everything that New Mexico would go Republican.

Furthermore, Chavez worked out a neat scheme whereby his brother Dave could be appointed to the United States Senate by a Republican governor. Chavez, ill for some time, last fall did not expect to live. And he wanted his brother to take his place in the Senate.

Undoubtedly, Governor Mabry would have been willing to appoint Dave Chavez to the Senate, but Dennis Chavez didn't give him a chance. He assumed the Republicans were sure-shot winners, and that a Republican governor, Manuel Lujan, would be in the saddle to do the appointing.

So Senator Chavez let it be known he was for Lujan with the tacit understanding that Lujan would appoint brother Dave to the Senate if Dennis passed away. For a time the Senator even gave the impression that he was also for Tom Dewey.

Then came the election returns. Governor Mabry fooled Chavez and was re-elected. Obviously he is not now going to appoint brother Dave to the Senate. So a lot of people are betting that rather than have Mabry appoint his successor, Dennis Chavez will now fool his doctors.

Protecting Small Business

Hotly debated in Senate cloakrooms this week has been the question of whether the Senate Small Business Committee shall continue as an independent body or become a subcommittee under the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

One thing which the 80th Congress did well—despite all its other faults—was to operate a fearless, forthright Small Business Committee. This was due in part to the astuteness of its counsel, George Meredith, and in part to the rambunctious belligerency of Senator Wherry of Nebraska, who was loud and vocal in his championship of small business though his votes on the Senate floor sometimes were the other way.

Despite this good job, many Democrats want to merge the Small Business Committee—which has operated in its own right—and make it merely a subcommittee.

Part of this opposition is because the Small Business Committee has stepped on too many big-business toes. Part also is based on the fact that if the Small Business Committee remains independent, it will be dominated by kindly, able Senator Jim Murray of Montana, a highly respected statesman, but who is expected to appoint his son as counsel and operate as a one-man committee.

This criticism may not be justified, but it exists. And it may influence the fate of one of the most important committees in the Senate.

Chinese "Face"

The exit of Chiang Kai-Shek recalls a famous photo taken in the White House garden of Chiang's brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, together with President Truman, and the then Secretaries of State, War and Navy—Edward Stettinius, Henry L. Stimson and James V. Forrestal.

The photo was arranged by ex-braintruster Tom Corcoran, attorney for the Chinese Government, through his close friend, Forrestal, in order to strengthen Soong's hand in China and make it appear that he was the bosom friend of the President of the United States and his highest Cabinet members.

The photo worked wonders. "Face" (we call it prestige) means everything in China, and Soong came back to Nanking ace-high with everyone. Also, it strengthened the position of Chiang Kai-Shek. He and his family were considered to have the 100 per cent support of the U. S. Government.

It was at about this time that General Marshall went to China as special Ambassador, and used all his persuasive powers to get Chiang to take other leaders into his Government, form a coalition cabinet. But Chiang refused. He had various tokens, such as this photo, to make him think he stood well with Marshall's superior in Washington.

Such are some of the intricacies of Chinese diplomacy.

Note—Tommy the cork is now one of the most active wire-pullers to keep in office Jim Forrestal, the man who helped arrange the miracle-working photo.

U. S. Seems In Process Of Making New China Error

By MARK SULLIVAN

To the mistakes we have made about China—"mistakes" is short of the right word—we can now add another, and seem in process of doing so. Having had much responsibility for the fall of China to Communism, we now can find ways of not facing the tragedy that it is and the fact of our part in it. A familiar trait of human nature.

In implications that suggest an attitude on the part of the Administration at Washington, and in expressions in the news and comment, appears an occasional note which in effect seems to minimize what has taken place, as if to suggest "Oh well, maybe it won't be so bad after all." Variations imply that it will take years for Russia and Communism to organize their control of China; that the vastness of China will make it impossible for Moscow to dominate; that the Chinese are a strongly individualistic people and will not really accept the collectivist doctrine of Communism; that China in its long history has absorbed many conquering regimes and alien philosophies, and will do so now.

Weak Groping For Self-Comfort

All that is weak groping for self-comfort. Reluctant to face consequences that are certain and immediate, people turn to vague imaginings of ameliorating possibilities in a remote future. But if that is the easy way, it is not the way of men with hard minds who look reality in the face, including ones who stand up to the necessity or duty of making hard decisions.

In the recent war the heads of the allied nations had a phrase which they used in their conferences about changes in the world line-up in successive stages of the conflict; it was, "over-all strategic concept". If in the present situation leaders of the various forces that oppose world domination by Communism were to make an over-all strategic concept of the stage brought about by the fall of China, they would list the changes in all the factors that make up this conflict—economic, military, and what counts much in this conflict, morale, meaning the psychological attitudes of peoples throughout the world.

These factors are not separable. How they merge, and the immense force of the sum of them, is illustrated by one country. In Japan, economic recovery now becomes more difficult, in fact problematic, and is almost certainly postponed. For the economic recovery of Japan depends mainly on trade with China, and this will now be at the sufferance of the Communist heads. It goes without saying that the Communist heads will use their power to our disadvantage, as a weapon in their attempt at world domination. Postponement of economic recovery in Japan will cause continuation of our expenditures for its support, probably both the economic and military cost of our occupation of Japan will increase.

In Japan as everywhere, economic prostration is a cause of susceptibility to Communism. To this is now added the psychological effect of seeing China fall to Communism, and evidence of increased strength of Communism was seen in the recent Japanese elections. Until recently we have looked upon Japan as a buttress against Communism and Russia, our policy there has been based on this assumption. We now run risk of being obliged to see Japan, not as the front of resistance against Communism by us and the western world, but as the front of Communist advance.

Fall Of China Sets Us Back

Not only in Japan but elsewhere in the Far East, the fall of China to Communism sets us back. Our foothold in Korea is now untenable. In Burma, Indo-China and elsewhere, movements toward Communism already existing both internally and through stimulation and organization from Moscow, will be encouraged and strengthened.

The sum of all the developments in the Far East can be put in one sentence. The whole of the Russian and Communist drive toward world domination has had two prongs, one in Asia and one in Europe — and the Asiatic prong is now far advanced toward success.

The two prongs were never separable, and the advance of the Asiatic one will affect the European one. In the world conflict as a whole, the forces resisting Communism—economic, psychological and military—are likely to pass through a shuffling and re-grouping, amounting in the end to what military terminology would call taking up a new position.

Ideas For U. S. Welfare As Voiced By Mrs. Roosevelt

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—If President Truman, either in his State of the Union message or in his inaugural address, had written the lines quoted below he would have stiumlated an unprecedented wave of confidence. The business situation in America would have been much brighter and there would be the highest hopes now everywhere that the United States was going to be economically strong enough to serve the world.

The words to be quoted were not written by a reactionary or by anyone who wants to go back to "horse and buggy" days or by someone who isn't interested in social-welfare legislation or the progress of the people. Yet, they express—better than any business man has done to date—the basic philosophy that has made America the greatest producing nation on earth.

Here is the quotation which ought to be read by everybody in the government and everybody in Congress and everybody else who is interested in the maintenance of the American economic system:

"It is essential to a high level of employment that it be profitable for capital to be invested not just in safe enterprise but in new and untried enterprises.

"There must be incentive for this, particularly in times of peace. In times of war, when many men are risking their lives at the battlefronts, many others are willing to risk their money to do whatever is necessary for the well-being of the country. However, in times of peace there is not the same patriotic motive with which to prod capital into productive enterprise and, therefore, incentives must be found.

"Some of our biggest investors—such as trust companies, banks and insurance companies—are limited by law in their investments in order to safeguard those whose money they are using. Therefore, if we expect to develop new enterprises, to employ more people and to have more buying power, there must always be available capital from the individual investors. This is getting harder and harder to find today.

"It is of vital interest, of course, to the farmer and the wage earner that the things they have to buy keep on increasing in cost, because even tho wages go up and farm prices go up they never seem quite to cover the increased cost of living brought about by inflation and the passing on to the public of whatever costs have been imposed on the manufacturer.

"Therefore, it is going to be necessary, it seems to me, to examine everything not only with an eye to what we would like to do, but with the constant thought before us of what the essentials are that must be done.

"The preservation of the credit of our government is of vital importance to us and to the world as a whole, and while I believe there are many things in our program, as outlined by the President, that are essential and will help to bring us prosperity, I think even the best of them should be weighed with the viewpoint of their essentiality in attaining the objectives that we have before us. These objectives are rehabilitation in the world at large and stability and strength in our own economic system at home.

"These ends should never be forgotten and their importance should be explained to the people as each step is taken in this carefully balanced program which alone will see thru the difficulties of the next few years."

The above lines were written by none other than Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and published just a few days ago. The ideas are so well expressed that they certainly ought to have the widest possible circulation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

POLITICS at this stage are neither inspiring nor very exciting. In theory, ours is a two party political system which functions in Congress on a bi-partisan or, better said, a mutual-partisan basis. No committee in the Congress, for instance, is completely membered by one party and even some administrative organs of government consist, by law, of members of both parties.

There is not one word in the Constitution about political parties. Washington included in his cabinet men like Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson who in time were to build political factionalism which even became violent in their antagonisms.

As the country developed, the two party concept, taken from England, gathered strength and became fixed in our system .For a short interval during the Civil War, each section of the country was governed by one party, but after the war, party lines reformed and the system continued. (I need note, for historic accuracy, that when Lincoln ran for his second term, he did face a Democratic candidate.)

Since 1932, the Republican Party has in Congress functioned according to the system, serving on committees and going through the motions of a unified political organization. Outside Congress, the Party has been inadequately organized, with uncertain leadership with no definite ideological position in American life. Even at its conventions, these uncertainties presented themselves. The Republican Party revolved about personalties, labored not in the realm of ideals, of principles, of high purposes—but on how to be elected. And they never quite made it because they had nothing to say to those who voted democratic; they were extraordinarily discouraging to those who normally voted Republican.

This process continues. At this moment, in Congress, the Party is, as usual, splitting over personalities. The Senators and Representatives will take their places on committees in accordance with the mutual-partisan arrangement. But beyond that, it is all personalities. The Republican Party still has no statement of principles, no ideals, no inspiring thought to offer the old or the young. In a word, their lack of opposition leaves the country with only one party—the party of Truman.

The Democratic Party is a party of complex sects and factions. It ranges from the A. D. A. on the left to Republican opportunists and Dixiecrats on the right. Its elements are so divergent that there is no real power within the political organization. From this standpoint, the Democratic Party does not exist as a party but is a congeries of politicians reacting to Truman So his cabinet has been reduced to its most primitive form, a secretariat of the presidency.

Instead, the control of all political power and activity is vested in the White House group and their associates. John Steelman, Clark Clifford and David Niles possess more influence and authority than the elected representatives of the public.

The Republicans are functioning neither wisely nor realistically. They are already in a personality quarrel over 1952—unwilling to recognize that for them there may be no 1952. The first battle of that quarrel is the chairmanship of the Republican national committee. An attempt is being made to remove Hugh Scott, the present chairman. An assault is being made on the titular leadership of Thomas E. Dewey; an effort to eliminate the Taft leadership in Congress was made by both the Dewey forces and the Republican "liberals."

All this is nonsense because, as it stands, the Republican Party lacks national support; only individuals in it have followings which are strictly personal. Unless this party can find an ideal to unite men and leadership to bring union within the party, its position will become increasingly hopeless.

At this moment, two men have followings that may become the nucleus of political strength. These two men are Harold Stassen and Dwight D. Eisenhower, as candidates for the presidency in 1952.

But as long as there is no organic unity in the party, there can be no prospect of success in 1952. And that unity must surround a high ideal, a clarion call, a piercing call, a piercing voice that arouses hope.

That has been lacking since 1932 —except for one moment at the Philadelphia convention when Herbert Hoover spoke in the language of eternal principles instead of casual campaigning.

Today's Talk

How to Take Life Happily

In the first place, the way to take life happily is to take it as it comes, meeting every obligation and emergency with courage and patience. We never know what a day may bring forth, but if we are forearmed with a certain cheerful readiness, we can be assured that whatever may happen, we shall be able to meet it without fear.

Every experience in life resolves itself into a lesson. These lessons are what make us alert and alive to events. Said William James: "Let no youth have any anxiety about the upshot of his education, whatever the line may be. If he keep faithfully busy each hour of the working day, he may safely leave the final result to itself."

Worries, won't help. They never have. But events as they occur, will help. Many people try to take too much life at a time, whereas it should be taken carefully, thoughtfully—even an inch at a time! I like those two words—without fear. Think for a moment how full of meaning they are. The shut-in realizes them and so is fortified with patience and a happy outlook.

Sorrow, disappointment and failure are difficult things to face—but they are a part of life, and come to all of us in time, in some form or other. But they can be made to be but temporary. We can arise, as the Prodigal Son did in the Bible story, and go to meet happier events. We can begin anew. Life is full of detours, but most detours bring up out to the smooth road eventually. And then the memory of the rough road is quickly forgotten.

No matter how difficult the way of life may appear at times, cheerfulness is bound to creep in, just like the sunshine does through dark clouds, when least expected. "Some days," said the poet Longfellow, "must be dark and dreary." Do you ever note that those, who seem to experience more trouble than their share, actually take life in its stride —happily?

Each of us should early formulate a philosophy of life, personally conceived, and stay by it through thick and thin. Such a plan will do more to assure success and happiness than anything else. It will take anyone safely over the bumps!

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Edna Arnold to Carlton Lapp, Oldtown Road, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Arnold, Elk Garden, W. Va., parents of the bride. The ceremony was performed December 11 by Rev. Joseph W. Young at his residence, Bedford Road. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sonner, city, were the attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Elk Garden High School and the bridegroom of Fort Hill. A veteran of the ETO, he served in the Normandy invasion.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Moose Home and a dinner was served at Maplside Tavern.

Macabees Install

Installation of officers of Tent 18, Maccabees, was held recently at the home. Richard Hixon, past commander, was presented a gift in appreciation of his services.

Other officers are Richard C. Simmons, commander; Fred J. Hillebrecht, lieutenant commander; Harold B. Morehead, record keeper; Mrs. Ruth Hixon, chaplain; Mrs. Emma Corley, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Eileen Knight, mistress-at-arms; Mrs. M. A. Bramble, Mrs. Mildred Kasubeck, lieutenant of the guards; Mrs. Grace Davis, picket; Mrs. Wilhelmina Townsend, sentinel; Mrs. Marian Hillebrecht, musician; and Mrs. Bramble, Publicity.

Girl Scouts Appeal For Volunteers

The need for leadership and sponsoring groups to work through the local Girl Scout Council is stressed by Mrs. Lester Millenson, chairman of the Organization committee, in an appeal for volunteers. Miss Millenson reports that many girls desire to become scouts but due to lack of interest in individuals and groups there are no troops in the sections.

Any adult group interested in sponsoring a troop or having a representative on the Organization committee is asked to call Mrs. Millenson or the Girl Scout house.

Farewell Party Given

Mrs. Mabel Cline was honored by a group of friends at a farewell party Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. D. G. Zehrbach, Maryland Avenue. Mrs. Cline and her husband will leave shortly for Phoenix, Ariz.

A Valentine color scheme was carried out and cards were played. Mrs. Edward Kaylor, Mrs. W. E. Young, Mrs. Guy Ziler and Mrs. P. H. Lueck won awards. Others attending were Miss Violet Kennedy, Erie, Pa.; Mrs. Myrtle Youngblood, Mrs. Frank Gobeli, Mrs. D. L. Miller, Mrs. E. C. Kilroy, Mrs. Earl Conn, Mrs. Edna Lueck, Mrs. Thomas Dentinger, Mrs. Helen Stallings, Mrs. Ruth Shaner and Mrs. J. L. Fisher.

Allegany Ladies Aid To Buy Electronic Voice-Writer

Chairmen For Year Are Named

The purchase of an electronic voice-writer for the use of the doctors at Allegany Hospital was selected by the Ladies Aid Society of the hospital for its project of the year.

Mrs. John B. Stevens and her staff of officers assumed their duties at the meeting Tuesday, the project was selected and committes for the year were appointed.

Unlike a stenographer, who is on duty eight hours a day, the electronic voice writer will be available 24 hours a day and will be used for making X-ray readings, in laboratory research, staff meetings, taking case history, clinical reports and recording operations. Sister Angela, superintendent of the hospital, speaking of the machines, said they have proven their worth and are becoming a must in the hospital of today because of the demands made on the time of doctors and secretaries. They are in use in large hospitals and are an outstanding contribution in taking dictation of information of diagnosis and observation.

Officers serving with Mrs. Stevens are Mrs. William Barley, first vice president; Mrs. Louis Lippold, second vice president; Mrs. Mortimer Nehring, secretary and Mrs. William F. Kerber, treasurer.

Committees named are Sewing, Miss Jane Mattingly, chairman; with Mrs. Mary Finan; Portable Library and Dispensary Book Rack, Mrs. Ralyh Leonard, Mrs. Gormer Kelly, co-chairmen; Mrs. Ralph Ketzner, Mrs. M. M. Nehring, Mrs. Harold C. Peck, Mrs. Fred Ruppert, Mrs. Eugene Close, Miss Winifred Laffey.

Card Club, Mrs. Lippold, chairman, with Mrs. William B. Blake, Mrs. Clara Schutt, Mrs. G. V. Fletchinger; Pediatrics Birthday, Miss Margaret Norton, chairman; Mrs. James Keech, Jr., Mrs. Michael O'Neill; Telephone committee, Mrs. P. W. Cavanaugh, chairman; Mrs. Nelson Russler, Mrs. William Lee and Mrs. W. F. Kerber; Sunshine, Mrs. William C. McDermott, chairman; Mrs. William Claus, Mrs. Barley and Mrs. Thomas O'Neil.

Mrs. Nehring was appointed in charge of tray favors; Mrs. John Cavanaugh and Mrs. Harold C. Peck comprise the Hospitality committee; Mrs. Joseph Madden and Miss Adelaide Hession are co-chairman of Ways and Means. Other members of their committee are Mrs. Thomas Conlon, Mrs. George L. Carney, Mrs. Joseph Lippold, Mrs. Close, Mrs. Seldon Landis and Mrs. Eugene F. Raphel.

Six new members were enrolled. Twenty-eight members attended the meeting and Mrs. Lippold was hostess. Mrs. Ruppert will be hostess for the meeting February 8.

Sorority Has Illustrated Art Program

The contemporary American paintings being exhibited by Encyclopedia Britannica were the topic of the cultural program of Maryland Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, given by Mrs. Ethel Bruce and Mis Natalie Jacobson Monday night at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Bruce explained that in order to heighten interest in several of its articles the company commissioned several famous United States artists to make contributions to its publications. As these paintings began to arrive at Britannica headquarters in Chicago the idea of extending the project to form an adequate collection of contemporary American paintings was born.

These pictures, though few in number, were living representations of America, her land, factories, people, politics, fashion and growth and strength, the speaker pointed out. It was then decided to complete the survey and get the best work of other Americans and put the entire group on tour. Since the first showing in April and May 1945 at the Art Institute, Chicago, the speaker said that x x x 28 new paintings have been added, 21 new artists honored and seven of the original paintings have been replaced. The collection now has 127 paintings.

Mrs. Bruce explained how this change will be constant so the collection will always represent the best contemporary American painting.

Miss Jacobson, a painter in her own right and first prize winner at the Allegany County Art Exhibit last February, discussed the "Seven Schools of Painting," their techniques and motivations, and illustrated her lecture with slides of the collection she saw in Chicago.

Miss Jacobson explained how "Impressionism" is an attempt to paint sunlight by breaking up color into its primary hues, with the paint put on in separate daubs and little or no use of black outline or contrast of light and dark.

The second school, "Post Impressionism," grew out of the first, she said. The use of broken color was retained, paint was still put on in big broad brush strokes but the use of light and dark contrasts and black or dark outline was employed. "Realism" is an attempt of the artist to paint as he sees without editorial comment. He tries for true, disinterested or photographic likeness, she explained.

In the "Expressionism" school she said the artist attenpts to paint not only what he sees, but what he feels or thinks about a subject. In order to better express himself, he may change, accent or distort certain forms or colors which he sees. This, she said, is sometimes done so subtly that the painting seems more real than those done by the realist.

For the "Construction-Abstract Design-Purists" Miss Jacobson explained the artist is not interested in natural forms as such, but only inasmuch as they give him ideas for interesting patterns, shapes, lines, colors and textures for him to arrange into a symphony of graphic form. For that reason he feels justified to make any changes or simplification of natural forms to suit his purpose. He may even use no natural forms at all, but invent new forms.

Explaining "Surrealism," she said it is an expression of mystery, magic and the subconscious mind in graphic form, and the school is a natural result of recent interest in psychology and psychiatry. The seventh school, "Primitive," paintings are naive and child-like with colors often "raw" or unmixed pure colors, she said. Forms are very simple and there is little use of shading or perspective.

The attorney general of the United States has one solicitor general, six assistant attorney generals, one chief clerk, four solicitors of Internal Revenue.

Ronald Smith Heads ITU

The Intermediate Training Union of LaVale Baptist Chapel elected officers at the meeting Monday at the pastor's home.

Ronald Smith was elected president; Clayton Smith, vice president; Thelma Herrell, secretary; Jane Douty and John Hunter, Bible readers' leaders; Harriet Lease, Owen Barncord, group captains; Polly Snow, Mary Beeman, William Smith and Clayton Smith, Social committee.

Carolyn Smith, Marguerite Herrell, missionary leaders; Robert Gilkey, study course; Charles Snow, choirister; Phyllis Barncord, pianist; Mrs. J. C. Ledbetter, adult counselor; Charles Snow, reporter.

Plans were formulated for reaching new members, and for a Valentine party, to be under the direction of the Social committee.

Tournament Continues

The third round of the Cumberland Country Club championship tournament will be held tonight at the club, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

In the bridge tournament 60 teams are contesting for the club title and, with the tournament half over, the committee reports 20 teams are so close that the lead could change in a single game. Less than 4,000 points separate the high team of Mrs. Fred Small and Mrs. William Gunter from the team ranking 25th in total points. Mr. and Mrs. David Kauffman are 300 points behind the leaders. The final round will be played one week from tonight, and will be preceded by a club supper.

In the Gin Rummy tournament Mrs. William Somerville is in the lead at the halfway mark, closely pressed by Mrs. Frank Cawley, Gordon Bowie and Mrs. Benjamin Wright.

Official scorers and judges in the tournaments are Albert Carlson, B. M. Kamens and Porter D. Collins.

Walter Brode Weds Gloria Jeanne Null

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer A. Null, 120 Seymour Street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gloria Jeanne Null, to Walter Scott (Jack) Brode, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brode, 34 Boone Street. The ceremony was performed January 21 by Rev. C. L. Beard in Trinity Methodist Church parsonage. Mrs. Shirley Goss and Harold Brode were the attendants.

The bride wore blue with brown hat and accessories and her matron of honor wore grey moire with red hat and accessories.

Allegany Ladies Aid To Buy Electronic Voice-Writer

Chairmen For Year Are Named

The purchase of an electronic voice-writer for the use of the doctors at Allegany Hospital was selected by the Ladies Aid Society of the hospital for its project of the year.

Mrs. John B. Stevens and her staff of officers assumed their duties at the meeting Tuesday, the project was selected and committes for the year were appointed.

Unlike a stenographer, who is on duty eight hours a day, the electronic voice writer will be available 24 hours a day and will be used for making X-ray readings, in laboratory research, staff meetings, taking case history, clinical reports and recording operations. Sister Angela, superintendent of the hospital, speaking of the machines, said they have proven their worth and are becoming a must in the hospital of today because of the demands made on the time of doctors and secretaries. They are in use in large hospitals and are an outstanding contribution in taking dictation of information of diagnosis and observation.

Officers serving with Mrs. Stevens are Mrs. William Barley, first vice president; Mrs. Louis Lippold, second vice president; Mrs. Mortimer Nehring, secretary and Mrs. William F. Kerber, treasurer.

Committees named are Sewing, Miss Jane Mattingly, chairman; with Mrs. Mary Finan; Portable Library and Dispensary Book Rack, Mrs. Ralyh Leonard, Mrs. Gormer Kelly, co-chairmen; Mrs. Ralph Ketzner, Mrs. M. M. Nehring, Mrs. Harold C. Peck, Mrs. Fred Ruppert, Mrs. Eugene Close, Miss Winifred Laffey.

Card Club, Mrs. Lippold, chairman, with Mrs. William B. Blake, Mrs. Clara Schutt, Mrs. G. V. Fletchinger; Pediatrics Birthday, Miss Margaret Norton, chairman; Mrs. James Keech, Jr., Mrs. Michael O'Neill; Telephone committee, Mrs. P. W. Cavanaugh, chairman; Mrs. Nelson Russler, Mrs. William Lee and Mrs. W. F. Kerber; Sunshine, Mrs. William C. McDermott, chairman; Mrs. William Claus, Mrs. Barley and Mrs. Thomas O'Neil.

Mrs. Nehring was appointed in charge of tray favors; Mrs. John Cavanaugh and Mrs. Harold C. Peck comprise the Hospitality committee; Mrs. Joseph Madden and Miss Adelaide Hession are co-chairman of Ways and Means. Other members of their committee are Mrs. Thomas Conlon, Mrs. George L. Carney, Mrs. Joseph Lippold, Mrs. Close, Mrs. Seldon Landis and Mrs. Eugene F. Raphel.

Six new members were enrolled. Twenty-eight members attended the meeting and Mrs. Lippold was hostess. Mrs. Ruppert will be hostess for the meeting February 8.

You will find that a pair of kitchen scissors is handy for many tasks. It may be used for shredding parsley for garnish, or for adding to various dishes; for quartering marshmallows to be used for sweet potato topping, etc.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

A pre-nuptial party for Miss Jeannine Williams was given by Mrs. Russell Rader recently at her home, Sheridan Place. Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fletcher, 1404 Virginia Avenue, is to become the bride of William R. Rader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rader, Sheridan Place, February 19 in Kingsley Methodist Church.

The bridal and Valentine motif were combined in the decorations and a wedding cake and white tapers centered the table.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Babst, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wotring, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wotring, Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Summerkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. George Maguire, Mrs. Patrick Weller, Miss Betty Shrieve, Miss JoAnn Thrasher, Miss Billy Fletcher, Darrell Baker and Roy Alt.

Bowling Green Group Holds Card Party

The Bowling Green Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary held a card party Tuesday night at the fire hall, with 20 tables in play and 32 prizes awarded. Proceeds will be used for the auxiliary's projects.

Top awards in bridge were won by Mrs. Mary E. Reed, Mrs. Coit Speicher and Mrs. Evelyn O'Donnell. In 599 the three high winners were B. C. McElwee, T. C. Powell and Mrs. Edward Shertzer. Mrs. E. L. Feltner also won an award. Concluding play refreshments were served.

The general business session of the auxiliary will be held Tuesday night.

Sorority Has Illustrated Art Program

The contemporary American paintings being exhibited by Encyclopedia Britannica were the topic of the cultural program of Maryland Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, given by Mrs. Ethel Bruce and Mis Natalie Jacobson Monday night at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Bruce explained that in order to heighten interest in several of its articles the company commissioned several famous United States artists to make contributions to its publications. As these paintings began to arrive at Britannica headquarters in Chicago the idea of extending the project to form an adequate collection of contemporary American paintings was born.

These pictures, though few in number, were living representations of America, her land, factories, people, politics, fashion and growth and strength, the speaker pointed out. It was then decided to complete the survey and get the best work of other Americans and put the entire group on tour. Since the first showing in April and May 1945 at the Art Institute, Chicago, the speaker said that x x x 28 new paintings have been added, 21 new artists honored and seven of the original paintings have been replaced. The collection now has 127 paintings.

Mrs. Bruce explained how this change will be constant so the collection will always represent the best contemporary American painting.

Miss Jacobson, a painter in her own right and first prize winner at the Allegany County Art Exhibit last February, discussed the "Seven Schools of Painting," their techniques and motivations, and illustrated her lecture with slides of the collection she saw in Chicago.

Miss Jacobson explained how "Impressionism" is an attempt to paint sunlight by breaking up color into its primary hues, with the paint put on in separate daubs and little or no use of black outline or contrast of light and dark.

The second school, "Post Impressionism," grew out of the first, she said. The use of broken color was retained, paint was still put on in big broad brush strokes but the use of light and dark contrasts and black or dark outline was employed. "Realism" is an attempt of the artist to paint as he sees without editorial comment. He tries for true, disinterested or photographic likeness, she explained.

In the "Expressionism" school she said the artist attenpts to paint not only what he sees, but what he feels or thinks about a subject. In order to better express himself, he may change, accent or distort certain forms or colors which he sees. This, she said, is sometimes done so subtly that the painting seems more real than those done by the realist.

For the "Construction-Abstract Design-Purists" Miss Jacobson explained the artist is not interested in natural forms as such, but only inasmuch as they give him ideas for interesting patterns, shapes, lines, colors and textures for him to arrange into a symphony of graphic form. For that reason he feels justified to make any changes or simplification of natural forms to suit his purpose. He may even use no natural forms at all, but invent new forms.

Explaining "Surrealism," she said it is an expression of mystery, magic and the subconscious mind in graphic form, and the school is a natural result of recent interest in psychology and psychiatry. The seventh school, "Primitive," paintings are naive and child-like with colors often "raw" or unmixed pure colors, she said. Forms are very simple and there is little use of shading or perspective.

The attorney general of the United States has one solicitor general, six assistant attorney generals, one chief clerk, four solicitors of Internal Revenue.

Ronald Smith Heads ITU

The Intermediate Training Union of LaVale Baptist Chapel elected officers at the meeting Monday at the pastor's home.

Ronald Smith was elected president; Clayton Smith, vice president; Thelma Herrell, secretary; Jane Douty and John Hunter, Bible readers' leaders; Harriet Lease, Owen Barncord, group captains; Polly Snow, Mary Beeman, William Smith and Clayton Smith, Social committee.

Carolyn Smith, Marguerite Herrell, missionary leaders; Robert Gilkey, study course; Charles Snow, choirister; Phyllis Barncord, pianist; Mrs. J. C. Ledbetter, adult counselor; Charles Snow, reporter.

Plans were formulated for reaching new members, and for a Valentine party, to be under the direction of the Social committee.

Tournament Continues

The third round of the Cumberland Country Club championship tournament will be held tonight at the club, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

In the bridge tournament 60 teams are contesting for the club title and, with the tournament half over, the committee reports 20 teams are so close that the lead could change in a single game. Less than 4,000 points separate the high team of Mrs. Fred Small and Mrs. William Gunter from the team ranking 25th in total points. Mr. and Mrs. David Kauffman are 300 points behind the leaders. The final round will be played one week from tonight, and will be preceded by a club supper.

In the Gin Rummy tournament Mrs. William Somerville is in the lead at the halfway mark, closely pressed by Mrs. Frank Cawley, Gordon Bowie and Mrs. Benjamin Wright.

Official scorers and judges in the tournaments are Albert Carlson, B. M. Kamens and Porter D. Collins.

Walter Brode Weds Gloria Jeanne Null

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer A. Null, 120 Seymour Street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gloria Jeanne Null, to Walter Scott (Jack) Brode, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brode, 34 Boone Street. The ceremony was performed January 21 by Rev. C. L. Beard in Trinity Methodist Church parsonage. Mrs. Shirley Goss and Harold Brode were the attendants.

The bride wore blue with brown hat and accessories and her matron of honor wore grey moire with red hat and accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed by the G. C. Murphy Company. The bridegroom attended Allegany High School and is employed by Astor Cab Company.

A Frog He Would A-Wooing Go

GRAINSVILLE, Fla.— (AP)—If a mama Whistling Frog has light brown stripes down her back and papa wears a dark brown shield, will their third son have stripes or a shield? Dr. C. J. Goin, assistant professor of bislogical sciences at the University of Florida cares so much he:

Spent over $1,000 on a 900-mile field trip to Jamaica; camped six weeks in the Jamaican Blue Mountains; and captured 2,500 frogs. Goin, now busy with an analysis of data gathered this summer on the American Academy of Arts and Sciences-sponsored trip, said the information had no economic value. "It is just an addition to the sum total of man's knowledge," he said.

He explained that the Whistling Frog (the Eleutherodactylus) is an unusual animal in that unlike other amphibs such as toads and salamanders its young is hatches on land; and instead of a croak it whistles, always on the same key.

As to any decision on the color pattern, Goin said his trip substantiated what he already thought: the patterns are inherited in much the same manner that eye color is inherited in humans.

Norway Sells Out Its Canned Crab

BERGEN, Norway (AP) — Norway will export 80,000 to 100,000 cases of canned crab this year, the newspaper "Bergens Tidende" reported. By far the greater part of this has been sold to Britain. The value of the crab export will amount to 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 kroner ($1,600,000 to $2,000,000). There will be little crab left for the Norwegian home market, the newspaper added.

Italy Plans Book Of Thanks To U. S.

ROME (AP)—A private move to thank Americans for last winter's "Friendship Train" is well under way. The thanks will take the shape of many thousand copies of a 0-pound volume (26 inches by 12), bound in artistic hand-tooled Florentine leather, with some 3,000 pages of text, plates, and photographs.

Titled simply "Italy," the book will be presented by Italian firms, institutions, and private citizens, recipients of American aid, to corresponding firms, institutions, and individuals beyond the Atlantic. "Italy" will convey to the Americans, in plain style, information about Italy's history, geography, religion, culture, arts, sciences and business.

Up to date photos, sketches, diagrams and statistics illustrate each section. The section dealing with paintings will have about 70 full-page colored plates showing Italian masterpieces from the early 13th Century to modern times.

At the end of the volume, a photographic documentary will show the extent of war destruction and how far reconstruction has proceeded—with essential American aid. Italy's top scientist, professors, artists, and writers collaborated in the book, and leading Italian statesmen sent massages of friendship.

A foreword to the book is written by James C. Dunn, U. S. Ambassador.

Czech Sokol 'Reformed'

PRAGUE (AP) — Communist "reform" of the historical Sokol society appeared complete at the beginning of November when it was revealed that 12,000 members had been expelled because they were reactionary and that 98,000 workers had newly joined the society.

A patriotic, Czech cultural society founded by Bohemian patriots in the middle of the 19th century, its members had distinctive uniforms and staged mass gymnastic drills as part of their philosophy of a sane mind in a sound body. It was intensely nationalistic and predominantly conservative.

Sokol members had to learn to act according to the principles of the new people's democracy, or get out, they were told. The move to reform the society was two-fold: ousting suspect leaders at the top, and introducing new blood from the workers and "the people."

The old members who remained were presumably sufficiently "educated" to the new ways of the society. The new workers formed 91 new factory-sokol groups. Outside this group was also announced the formation of 184 separate Sokols in the army.

More Go To School

SINGAPORE — (AP) — More than one-tenth of Singapore's population went to school during 1947, the largest enrollment in the city's history. Education department officials reported school enrollment topped 100,000, more than doubling since the end of the Japanese occupation. The number of schools climbed from 124 at the end of 1945 to 270 at the end of 1947. More than half the students were Chinese. The Chinese school's staffs totalled 1,419 teachers.

Former Frostburg Resident Honored At Kingwood

A former Frostburg resident was presented 'Civic Service Award" by the Kingwood, W. Va., Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, as a feature of its seventh anniversary celebration last night.

James Jenkins, Jr., who lived in Frostburg until three years ago, owns and operates enterprises which employ approximately 400 residents of Preston County, acording to the Preston County Journal, weekly newspaper.

Among the enterprises owned by Jenkins in the West Virginia county are West Virginia Northern Railroad, Industrial Coal Company, Preston Service Center, Industrial Stores Company, Kingwood Cleaners, Jenkins Mine Supply. Jenkins Oil Company, Kingwood Finance Company, Ross Coal Company, Knight Buick Company, H. and L. Construction Company and the Jenkins Equipment Company.

The award, a framed and engraved certificate, was persented by Ex-Congressman Melvin C. Snyder. According to Robert Jackson, secretary of the Kingwood Aerie, it was given "in recognition of his (Jenkins) contribution to the welfare of the county (Preston) and community and active participation in civic affairs.

Jenkins is married to the former Miss Nellie Yarnall, Cumberland, daughter of William E. Yarnell, Park Heights, and the late Mrs. Ellen M. Yarnall.

The name "Nebraska" derives from "Ne-brath-ka", an Indian phrase meaning shallow water.

Mild Weather Brings Coal Sale Decrease

Retail coal dealers report sales decreases ranging from 15 and 85 per cent because of the unusually mild weather.

"We haven't had an order for a month," a spokesman for one dealer said in reporting his business off 85 to 90 per cent. As for the supply of coal, that is assured. Orders are filled direct from the mine.

"It's dropped off considerably," another dealer asserted, "in fact about half."

That estimate includes big vein coal, his biggest seller, and stoker coal which was also reported off 50 per cent. The decrease, he reported has been noticeable for the past two weeks.

"Very noticeable," reported another who said there is no demand for hand-fired fuel (run of mine). Stoker coal demand remains good, this dealer reported, but is off 15 to 20 per cent.

It was a year ago yesterday, today and tomorrow that this section was experiencing zero weather and distributors were hard pressed to fill their orders, the dealer recalled. Asked the difference between the demand this time last year and now, the dealer said "it is off 40 per cent."

Stockpiles of fuel here are reported generally good. Supplies above the ground are plentiful, it was said.

Join Regular Army

Enlisting in the Regular Army for three years, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke, are Virgil L. White, and George W. Parks, both of 427 Virginia Avenue, this city, and William A. Rankin, Frostburg.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who's A Foreigner?

While I'm waiting for a haircut the other day, Slim Hartman lets slip with a crack about those "foreigners" who live by the depot.

"Now wait a minute, Slim," snaps Doc Sherman. "Don't forget we're all 'foreigners' more or less. Some of our families have simply been here longer than others. But even if they came over on the Mayflower, they were foreigners to the Indians."

Slim gets a little red and you could see that Doc had him. "And the reason they came here," he goes on, "was to find freedom to do and think as they wanted to so long as they didn't tramp on the rights of the other fellow."

From where I sit, America became the great land it is today through our being tolerant of different people and different tastes—whether it's a taste for square dancing or waltzing, radio or movies, goat's milk or a temperate glass of sparkling beer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who's A Foreigner?

While I'm waiting for a haircut the other day, Slim Hartman lets slip with a crack about those "foreigners" who live by the depot.

"Now wait a minute, Slim," snaps Doc Sherman. "Don't forget we're all 'foreigners' more or less. Some of our families have simply been here longer than others. But even if they came over on the Mayflower, they were foreigners to the Indians."

Slim gets a little red and you could see that Doc had him. "And the reason they came here," he goes on, "was to find freedom to do and think as they wanted to so long as they didn't tramp on the rights of the other fellow."

From where I sit, America became the great land it is today through our being tolerant of different people and different tastes—whether it's a taste for square dancing or waltzing, radio or movies, goat's milk or a temperate glass of sparkling beer.

Circle 8 Names February Hostesses

Circle 8, Centre Street Methodist Church, Mrs. Bruce Smith leader, met Tuesday night in the church parlor. Mrs. Marshall Miler conducted the devotional, reading the Second Timothy, including the singing of "In the Hour of Trial" and concluding with a prayer.

Reports were given and communications read. Plans were made for a bake sale in conjuction with the next meeting and activity appointments were discussed. Hostesses for February were appointed. They are Mrs. Stanley Buckley, Mrs. Thornton Murray, Mrs. A. J. Kompanek, Mrs. Charles New and Mrs. Ivan Hall.

The study book, "On Our Door Step," was concluded by Mrs. Philip Lucas, who reviewed work in Alaska, Puerto Rico, Panama and the Virgin Islands.

Thirty members attended and a social hour followed. Hostesses were Mrs. Herbert Lehr, Mrs. William Hoover, Mrs. Thornton Murray and Mrs. Freemont Delinger.

They will reside in Alexandria, Va.

Buttons Welcome

LONDON (AP)—Buttons rattle like hail into the collection plate at St. Matthew's Sunday school at Brixton—but teacher approves. The kids are collecting them for a missionary in the Sundan whose converts wear them in their hair.

Church Bells In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The Germans found a leak in the Soviet blockade. So church bells rang Sunday morning.

Neither the German nor the American pastor of the church asked their parishioners where the two new bells came from. They accepted them, gratefully, dedicated them and the American community in Zehlendorf was awakened a recent Sunday morning by a familiar sound.

This happened in the Church of Ernst Moritz Arndt. It is used by a German Evangelical congregation at 9 o'clock each Sunday and by American Protestants at 11 o'clock.

Some months ago the German parishioners asked their German pastor, the Rev. Ernst Gess, and the American, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Siebens of Toledo, O., if they would like bells. Certainly, they would like bells.

The Germans scuttled over into the Soviet zone and made a deal for casting two new bells. When the job was finished, they smuggled the bells out of the Soviet zone and into western Berlin. How you smuggle bells past traffic roadblocks probably belongs in the same category with how one steals a steamroller.

They were the first bells to be heard in the Zehlendorf-Dahlem area since Hitler corralled all the chimes and turned them into much-needed scrap for his war machine more than eight years ago.

Prior to the 17th century chairs were scarce, being reserved for the master and mistress of the wealthier manors, and, for that reason, were called "thrones."

Boy Friend's Revenge

HELSINKI (AP) — Twenty sturdy men from the village of Myrskyla in Finland deeply regret that they tried to save a war widow.

The neighbors of the widow were convinced that the stranger who came and settled on her little farm and lived on her small life annuity had no good motives. When the liaison had lasted for a year they decided that the widow would land in the poorhouse if the alleged parasite was not removed.

Consequently, 20 men surrounded the widow's farm, dragged out the man and took him for a ride to the parish border line where they gave him a sound thrashing and told him not to return.

The man did return, however, accompanied by the police. The 20 men will be prosecuted for trespassing, assault and battery.

A tour is a tour, but this is ridiculous:

Today we outdid ourselves in hustle-bustle by appearing in three states in six hours. We left Birmingham, Ala., at 12.30, were in Memphis for a matinee by 1:30 and at 6:47 we hit Jackson, Miss., for the evening show.

Before I go any further, I want you to know that alll these departures were of our own free will and were not planned escapes.

Naturally it's a big problem trying to handle your laundry on such quick notice. I feel so silly climbing out on a wing at 6,000 feet just to take in a suit of underwear.

Hawkins Field, where we landed in Jackson, was a real surprise. After we got in they told us we were the only D-C 6 ever to land there, because other pilots were afraid to bring in such big planes.

(Note: On next tour be sure to get pilot who is 100 per cent coward.)

I had a few minutes before our late show, so I ran into the famous State Museum to see a few relics from the Civil War. I would have enjoyed it very much, but three of them tried to date me.

Absentee voting was originated for military personnel in the Civil War, and was gradually extended to civilians.

Ridgeley Lions First Donors To Campaign

The Ridgeley Lions Club has donated $15 to the March of Dimes campaign in that community, William C. Knieriem, chairman, reported last night.

Knieriem is a member of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, which is sponsoring the drive in Ridgeley at the request of the Mineral County March of Dimes committee.

Knieriem said 200 contribution envelopes were mailed yesterday to Ridgeley residents.

He pointed out, however, that the list of prospective donors is incomplete because of the late start of campaign activities, and urged all persons wishing to contribute to send their donations to the local committee in care of Knobley Mountain Post.

The Legion will hold a buffet supper and dance Saturday night on behalf of the campaign, which closes next Monday.

Company Created Need For Rate Hikes, PSC Told

Case Terms Increase Request 'Unwarranted'

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—A spokesman for Attorney General Hall Hammond declared today the Chesapeake and Potomac Company's request for temporary telephone rate boosts was based on "an emergency of the firm's own making."

He added "it is the feeling of the chief law enforcement officer that the state should voice its protest and x x x do what it could to protect the people against what we think is an unwarranted request."

The spokesman, Richard Case, was one of three attorneys joining in a final onslaught on the proposed boost which the telephone company contends it needs because of critically reduced earnings.

The hearing before the Public Service Commission on the temporary rate hike concluded today. The agency gave counsel for both sides 10 days to submit written briefs.

Case said he believed this was the first case where the Attorney General actively participated in a temporary rate increase hearing.

Controversy Over Statute

A controversy developed in the closing arguments centered on the statute under which the C. and P. is seeking the $4,000,000 temporary relief before presenting its case for a $6,000,000 permanent raise.

Clarence W. Miles, attorney for the utility, contended the PSC was legally obligated to grant the emergency relief upon the company's showing it was not earning a reasonable return on its investment.

Case and other foes of the increase disputed this. They argued the statute intended temporary relief in exceptional emergency conditions and that the C. and P. has not shown that such a situation existed.

Phillip H. Dorsey, Jr., the People's Counsel of the Commission, recalled the company's rate boost 18 months ago and said there was no reason to grant emergency relief because of a "temporary lag in the rate of return."

The company has testified that since the 1947 rate increase, its rate of return has become "progressively worse." Its top executives asserted they saw no indication of improvement without the adjustments it asks.

The proposed increase would add from 25 cents to $2 to monthly bills of Maryland subscribers.

Case, hammering away on the question of emergency, noted that denial of the temporary request would have no significant effect on the utility's functions and added:

"This case was brought basically to preserve the credit of the company, and inferentially that of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, its parent."

Better Basis Later

He said the PSC would have a better basis for decision when the company presents its full case for permanent rates—something the C. and P. says may take about three months—and he emphasized:

"If it is contended that the discretion of this Commission in granting emergency relief be exercised to preserve the C. and P., and, inferentially, the A. T. and T's credit, the Attorney General strenuously suggests that the answer to the petition be no."

Miles in his rebuttal said the lack of adequate return was sufficient under the law to entitle the utility to emergency rates.

He noted that the PSC's 1947 decision held the C. and P. to be entitled to a 5½ per cent return on its investment, but that it had fallen far below that figure in its actual earnings—with mounting expenses, through labor costs and plant expansion, contributing to steady decline in the rate of return.

John Ghingher, of the Baltimore City Solicitor's office, summed up in behalf of the city by disputing that the utility was entitled to temporary relief "as a matter of right" and joined Dorsey and Case in asking dismissal of the petition.

Harold Buchman, State Director of the Progressive Party, also submitted a statement terming the applications both for the temporary and permanent increases "completely unjustified."

Filipinos Rush Schools To Get U. S. Dollars

MANILA (AP) — To win a race against time, with millions of U. S. dollars at stake, the Philippines government has decided to build 3,500 rural schools instead of a new capitol.

The U. S. Congress in 1946 authorized $120,000,000 to restore war-wrecked public property, but fixed a deadline of June 30, 1950. The Philippines allocated $12,500,000 of this for a new capitol at Quedon City, but engineers now have estimated that it will require at least five years to build it.

To avoid the risk of losing the money, the Philippines administration now has decided to use $1,000,000 for capitol planning, $5,000,000 to repair other government buildings, and the remaining $6,500,000 for small frame schools, which can be erected speedily.

American Bishop Heads Rebuilding Board

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Rt. Rev. J. I. Blair Larned, bishop of the American Episcopal church in Europe, was elected chairman of the board of managers of the department of reconstruction and inter-church aid of the World Council of Churches, at the first meeting of the board here.

The board was set up at the first assembly of the World Council of Churches held in Amsterdam in August. It is the channel through which Protestant and Orthodox churches in all parts of the world are to assist the rehabilitation and reconstruction of needy churches in war-devastated areas of Europe.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Gen. Julius Ochs Adler and Bob Considine stole the show at the annual banquet of the Overseas Press Club, but John McCloy, president of the World Bank, won the biggest single light with a Winston Churchill story. During the war, it appears, the Foreign Office insisted upon its prerogative of reading Churchill's radio speeches before delivery.

In one of them, an undersecretary presumed to question the Prime Minister's ending a sentence with a preposition. Mr. Churchill summoned the offender and exploded, "This is the kind of arrant pedantry up with which I will not put."

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the S.S.S Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host o happy people SSS Tonic has helped Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle o SSS Tonic from your drug store today SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health

John R. Miles Will Address Kiwanis Club

Chamber To Hear Panel Discussion

John R. Miles, Washington, director of research of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday, February 3, at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

He will discuss the educational program of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Arrangements for the address were made at a meeting of the Educational Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon in the Chamber offices.

The committee, headed by Adolph Blunk, reviewed proposed federal and state legislation on education.

A general discussion on the needs of the Allegany County school system was also held, with particular emphasis on the needs for expansion of educational plants.

The committee will meet with Miles next Thursday afternoon following the Kiwanis meeting.

A panel discussion on employment will be held at a dinner meeting of the Chamber to be held Thursday, February 10, at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Howard M. Smith, chairman of the Cumberland Industrial Promotion Committee, will lead the discussion.

He will be assisted by I. Alvin Pasarew, director of the Maryland State Planning Commission; E. J. Southerington, industrial development engineer of the B. and O. Railroad, and Elmer P. Bactell, industrial sales engineer of the Potomac Edison Company, and other industrial experts.

In a letter to members, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber, pointed out that employment in major industries in Cumberland has been shrinking during the past year. In 1947, the average employment was 17,867 and in 1948 the average was 17,584.

Triplett, Price Win Camera Club Prizes

George Smith took second honors in the black and white print class with his "Winter Sunset"; O. C. Dean took third with "I'm a Grandpa Now"; Charles S. Fields' "Tough Pull" took fourth and Triplett's "Grace" placed fifth.

Black and white photographs were judged by Mrs. Gladys King and Richard Sistzler was judge in color competition.

The thirty members attending discussed instruction of younger members of the club by the older members in their home darkrooms. The members also judged an out-of-town salon.

Picture-taking for the club will be February 3. The group will meet at Knight's of Malta Hall at 8 p. m. and then make a tour of the city to get night pictures.

Ridgeley Man Held On Assault Charge

A Ridgeley, W. Va., man was lodged in City Jail last night after being arrested on a warrant charging assault on a Mt. Savage woman.

The prisoner identified himself as Leroy Litten. Police said the warrant was issued for Leo. S. Bridges. It was obtained January 17 by Olive Bridges, who said the assault took place January 15.

Mrs. Louis Sturtz and Mrs. Louise Booth, both of Barrelville, were listed as witneses.

Food Costs Increase

The price of the Chamber of Commerce food basket rose a few more cents last week.

Cost of the 15-item food basket stood at $8.21 last Thursday, as compared to $8.10 on January 6 and $8.16 on January 13. Increases in the cost of oranges was chiefly responsible for the boost.

Sgt. Jolley Gets New Guard Post

Appointment of Staff Sgt. Joseph E. Jolley, Oldtown Road, to fill the newly created post of administrative assistant for the 115th Infantry Regiment, First Battalion, Maryland National Guard, was announced yesterday by Lt. Col. Randolph Milholland, commanding officer.

Jolly, who is also mess cook for the local Headquarters Company, is now assistant to both local units, companies C and headquarters, and for Company D, Frostburg.

In his new post Jolley will handle an increased number of reports and correspondence between units and higher levels. The job has been too large for unit commanders and office personnel working one night a week.

Sgt. Jolley will continue as mess cook while his unit is in the field. A unit will be without an administrative assistant while it is in the field during summer encampment or combat.

Jolley and his cooks won the "Best Kitchen" plaque last summer at Camp Ritchie during most of the two-weeks encampment. The award stayed with the local battalion all during the encampment.

Jolley, who served as a cook for Infantry companies in the South Pacific during World War II, wears five battle stars.

Woman, 71, Is Attacked

A 71-year-old local woman who was criminally attacked yesterday morning by a "nice-looking young man dressed in dark clothes" was reported "resting comfortably" late last night in Allegany Hospital, where she was admitted after the assault. Police said there was no trace of her assailant.

The victim, Hannah H. Adams, was taken to Allegany Hospital at 11:35 by City Police who had been called after the woman walked to a next-door business establishment.

When examined by a physician at Allegany Hospital she was found to have been criminally assualted and was in a state of shock.

According to an employe of the cleaning establishment next door to the Volunteers of America home at 151-153 North Mechanic Street, where the attack was committed the woman walked into the place and related the crime to the employes there.

The Adams woman, who lives at the headquarters, told them a man had appeared at the door shortly before 11 o'clock and asked for the manager.

She said she informed him she was alone and the manager would be in soon, and asked him to wait in the office upstairs where it was more comfortable.

She stated the man asked her to light the gas stove in the office and when she leaned over, he grabbed her and dragged her into a bedroom on the second floor.

The assailant was described by the victim as "nice looking, wearing dark clothes, and having dark hair and dark eyes." She said he left hurriedly by the front entrance.

John R. Miles Will Address Kiwanis Club

Chamber To Hear Panel Discussion

John R. Miles, Washington, director of research of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday, February 3, at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

He will discuss the educational program of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Arrangements for the address were made at a meeting of the Educational Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon in the Chamber offices.

The committee, headed by Adolph Blunk, reviewed proposed federal and state legislation on education.

A general discussion on the needs of the Allegany County school system was also held, with particular emphasis on the needs for expansion of educational plants.

The committee will meet with Miles next Thursday afternoon following the Kiwanis meeting.

A panel discussion on employment will be held at a dinner meeting of the Chamber to be held Thursday, February 10, at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Howard M. Smith, chairman of the Cumberland Industrial Promotion Committee, will lead the discussion.

He will be assisted by I. Alvin Pasarew, director of the Maryland State Planning Commission; E. J. Southerington, industrial development engineer of the B. and O. Railroad, and Elmer P. Bactell, industrial sales engineer of the Potomac Edison Company, and other industrial experts.

In a letter to members, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber, pointed out that employment in major industries in Cumberland has been shrinking during the past year. In 1947, the average employment was 17,867 and in 1948 the average was 17,584.

Sgt. Jolley Gets New Guard Post

Appointment of Staff Sgt. Joseph E. Jolley, Oldtown Road, to fill the newly created post of administrative assistant for the 115th Infantry Regiment, First Battalion, Maryland National Guard, was announced yesterday by Lt. Col. Randolph Milholland, commanding officer.

Jolly, who is also mess cook for the local Headquarters Company, is now assistant to both local units, companies C and headquarters, and for Company D, Frostburg.

In his new post Jolley will handle an increased number of reports and correspondence between units and higher levels. The job has been too large for unit commanders and office personnel working one night a week.

Sgt. Jolley will continue as mess cook while his unit is in the field. A unit will be without an administrative assistant while it is in the field during summer encampment or combat.

Jolley and his cooks won the "Best Kitchen" plaque last summer at Camp Ritchie during most of the two-weeks encampment. The award stayed with the local battalion all during the encampment.

Jolley, who served as a cook for Infantry companies in the South Pacific during World War II, wears five battle stars.

Paul E. Garling is administrative assistant for Company A, Frederick, and Company B, Hagerstown, which are also part of the First Battalion.

Triplett, Price Win Camera Club Prizes

Black and white photographs were judged by Mrs. Gladys King and Richard Sistzler was judge in color competition.

The thirty members attending discussed instruction of younger members of the club by the older members in their home darkrooms. The members also judged an out-of-town salon.

Picture-taking for the club will be February 3. The group will meet at Knight's of Malta Hall at 8 p. m. and then make a tour of the city to get night pictures.

Ridgeley Man Held On Assault Charge

A Ridgeley, W. Va., man was lodged in City Jail last night after being arrested on a warrant charging assault on a Mt. Savage woman.

The prisoner identified himself as Leroy Litten. Police said the warrant was issued for Leo. S. Bridges. It was obtained January 17 by Olive Bridges, who said the assault took place January 15.

Mrs. Louis Sturtz and Mrs. Louise Booth, both of Barrelville, were listed as witneses.

Food Costs Increase

The price of the Chamber of Commerce food basket rose a few more cents last week.

Cost of the 15-item food basket stood at $8.21 last Thursday, as compared to $8.10 on January 6 and $8.16 on January 13. Increases in the cost of oranges was chiefly responsible for the boost.

Shrine Patrol Holds Annual Officer Election

Officers of Ali Ghan Shrine Patrol were re-elected at a meeting Monday night at Ali Ghan City Club.

They are John Morgan and George W. Brown, majors; Kinsey A. Wolfe, captain; Walter C. Close, first lieutenant; Philip W. Wand, second lieutenant; Lawrence H. Shafferman, associate second lieutenant; Roger H. Row, secretary; Harold C. Wickard, chief rabban; Paul W. Glime, Earl W. Wagner and P. Thorner Smith ,associate treasurers; Harold V. Bloom, associate secretary, and Robert S. Elias, associate captain.

Monday night's election was the 29th in the history of the patrol. The group was organized in 1922 as a part of the Western Maryland Shrine Club of Boumi Temple, Baltimore.

C. M. Gosorn was first captain of the patrol. John Somerville served as captain in 1924, but resigned. J. E. Lamp was then elected captain and served until his death in August of 1929.

John Morgan, who had been first lieutenant since 1925, was elected captain. On his resignation in 1945, George W. Brown, former first lieutenant, was elected captain. He served until his resignation in 1947 and Robert Elias was elected. Elias served for one year before K. A. Wolfe succeeded him.

The patrol will hold a semi-formal Valentine dance February 11 at Ali Ghan City Club from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., with music by the Top Hatters.

Driftwood on the seashore burns with a brightly colored flame because wood that has been soaked in sea water has absorbed chemicals containing calcium, potassium and sodium. Such salts or compounds give off strong colors when heated sufficiently.

There would be a great gain in international co-operation if the well-fed and prosperou realized that the overwhelming majority of the plain people c this earth are still primarily concerned with the fundamentals of life: food, clothes, shelter, relief from hunger, pain and sickness.

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Start Now On Long Road To Success

The only way you'll ever get anything done on time and do it well enough to be proud of it, is to go after what you want to accomplish in a big way, and keep working for it. Whether it's term tests, adding your bit to the social life by giving a party, or planning your future career, you can be sure of one thing right now. It's not going to happen by itself.

Nancy Mottram

You've heard it said hundreds of times — if it's worth having it's worth working for. And it's true. Because the things you want aren't always going to be there, waiting for you to take or be handed into your keeping on a silver platter. You've got to put something of yourself into any project you take on. It's the only way to be sure of success; and when you're doing your best, the chances of failure are dim.

• — • — •

It's easier to hand 90 per cent of the responsibility to somebody else, and sit down with a good book, but you might not be very pleased with the results. If you're sincerely interested in getting an A on that English paper, or getting that job to put you a little further towards the career you want eventually, now's the time to start out.

You're growing older and it won't be too long before you take your place in the wide world; but you can't wait til then to decide what you're going to do with the rest of your days. Spending your leisure time sleeping, flipping through your homework, and loafing, on the claim that you haven't any particular ambitions, may seem an easy life now—but how long can it stay that way?

If you have any higher hopes and ideas, start doing more than just thinking about them. You can plan the years ahead in an hour while sitting home but making all those day dreams reality is something else again. You can't afford to be slipshod—not when it matters so much.

Do a bit of brainwork about your future. Get a blueprint in your mind of what you want to do and what you want to be and then figure out how to get there. You won't be groping in the dark then. You'll have some definite opinions on how to go about it, and since several heads are better than one, you can ask advice of your parents as well as people who know about the field of work you'd like to enter. And if you begin now, you'll have a very valuable head start!

Miss Mottram cannot answer all letters personally, but the most important ones will be answered in her column.

Foresters To Resume Tree Stock Surveys In Summer

Area foresters will continue a program of tree stock surveys in state forests this year, William A. Parr, district forester, announced yesterday.

The surveys, which were begun last year, aid foresters to determine the volume of different species and sizes of trees, Parr explained. He declared the information is useful in preparing an intensive forest management plan.

A crew of forest workers is now continuing the survey in Swallow Falls State Forest, Parr said, adding that four crews completed a survey in about 7,000 of the forest's 7,500-odd acres last summer.

The Swallow Falls survey should be completed in the next two or three months, Parr declared. Last summer a survey was completed in about 1,000 acres of Potomac State Park, which has a total area of about 12,000 acres.

This year, Parr continued, three three-man crews will resume work in Potomac State Forest and three crews will begin a survey in the 51,000 acres of Savage River State Forest. Parr said, however, that the foresters expect to cover only a proportionately small part of the large Savage River forest.

At Green Ridge State Forest, a boundary line survey is expected to be completed this year. Three men are now working on the project and the program there has now reached the map-making stage, Parr explained.

The surveys, Parr said, are a sort of inventory-taking procedure to aid foresters in planning a proper management plan, including complete maps of areas involved, cutting plans and recreational development plans.

Cutting on any area, Parr explained, will be determined by the value of the area as a watershed protection or as a recreational area. No cutting will be allowed in recreational areas and cutting in watershed protection areas will be lighter than in flatter areas, he added.

"At present," Parr stated, "the forests are being managed under an extensive plan to increase the growth on the poorer areas and to maintain growth on good areas.

"Part of the work of stock survey crews is to determine the approximate rate of growth of various species in the state forests."

Last year, Parr reminded, several college students were hired as leaders of survey crews and some high school boys were employed as surveyors' assistants and in other related tasks. He said the practice may be continued again this summer.

would have more power in Maryland," he continued, "such as the right to sit in on hearings following disasters."

Among other things the bill will provide for more rigid inspection of mines, and would set up new regulations covering gas, exits and roof supports.

One of the most important changes would give state inspectors the power to close a mine immediately when they deemed it unsafe.

"When an inspector finds a dangerous condition, he should have the power to order an immediate correction or in the event it is not made to close the mine," the senator stated.

Concerning the office of the Bureau of Mines, Senator Kimble said "it belongs in the western part of the state."

"Annapolis is no place for that office," he said. "It would be just as proper for the Tidewater Fisheries Commission to be located in Cumberland as it is for the Mine Bureau to be in Annapolis."

He said his third bill would call for the compulsory retirement of Dr. Rutledge because he is "physically unable to perform his duties or to assume responsibilities."

Fifty years ago—1898—the steel dam near Ashfork, Ariz., was the first of its kind completed successfully. The steel portion is 184 feet long and the spillway crest is 46 feet above bedrock.

DEATHS

M. SGT. CHARLES L. KESSLER

A funeral service was conducted Tuesday in the Cook Funeral Home, Baltimore, for M. Sgt. Charles L. Kessler, veteran recruiter who was killed Friday in an automobile accident in Baltimore. Burial was in Greebmount Cemetery.

Sgt. Kessler had been attached to the Baltimore Recruiting Office since 1946. During his 20 years service, he was associated with M. Sgt. Clarence Biehn of the local office in recruiting activities.

Attending the funeral from the local office were Sgt. Biehn, Sgt. First Class Bernard Rodebush and First Lt. George J. Gocke.

MRS. ANNA M. BEALKY

Mrs. Anna Margaret Bealky, 68, widow of Bernard Bealky, died yesterday morning at her home, 630 Elm Street. She had been bedfast a week and in failing health two years.

Mrs. Bealky was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and the Ladies Aid Society of the congregation.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Raymond Valentine and Miss Anna May Bealky; three sons, George Louis, Robert J. and Bernard F. Bealky, and a sister, Mrs. D. F. Wagoner, all of this city, and seven grandchildren.

The body is at the Valentine residence, 632 Elm Street. A funeral service will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. Phillip C. Priester, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Oldtown Road.

RICHARD D. ROBERTSON

Richard D. Robertson, 82, of 311 Schley Street, died yesterday morning at his home. He was a former B. and O. boilermaker, retiring about 15 years ago.

Survivors include his widow, the former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Slider; a son, Earl C. Robertson, this city; a grandchild and one great-grandchild. A brother, Everhart Robertson, this city, died about a week ago.

The body is at the residence where a funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

WATSON L. CREEK

Watson Leon Creek, 45, refrigeration engineer of the City Ice and Fuel Company, died yesterday at his home, 103 Mary Street. He had been ill several months.

A native of Piney Grove, Mr. Creek had resided here 14 years. He served in the ground forces of the Air Corps during World War II and was a member of Piney Grove Methodist Church.

Surviving are his parents, Theodore N. and Annie E. Creek; a brother, James W. Creek, Martinsburg, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Leo R. Leasure, this city, and Mrs. C. T. Norris, Belle Grove.

A funeral service will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. in the Kight Funeral Home. Rev. J. Edgar Walter, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Military honors at the grave in Piney Plains Cemetery will be in charge of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

B. L. PUFFENBARGER

Benjamin Lee Puffenbarger, 71, near Wiley Ford, W. Va., died yesterday morning after an illness of two years.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Homer Hite, Elkins, W. Va.; Mrs. William Chadwick, this city; Mrs. Joseph Toler and Rachel Puffenbarger, at home, and Mrs. Carl Mort, Somerset, Pa., and five sons, Frank Puffenbarger, Cass, W. Va.; Roy and Edward Puffenbarger, Pittsburgh; Randolph Puffenbarger, Short Gap, W. Va., and Meade Puffenbarger, at home.

He also leaves two brothers, Kenton Puffenbarger, Staunton, Va., and Robert Puffenbarger, Wiley Ford; two sisters, Mrs. William Barkley, Elkins, and Mrs. Bowman Barkley, Wiley Ford; 14 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home for a service tomorrow at 10 a. m. with Rev. Charles V. Elliott officiating. Burial will take place in Abe Cemetery.

DAVIS SERVICE

A funeral service for Leonard L. Davis, 52, 401 Oldtown Road, who died Sunday in Allegany Hospital, was held yesterday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Ambrose Buckley, Hawthorne Avenue. Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, officiated and burial was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were Charles W. Davis, Charles R. Davis, Elmer Hughes, Albert L. Harbaugh, William Beier and Frank J. Davis.

MISS HENRIETTA MCDONALD

Miss Henrietta McDonald, 77, died last night at 11:15 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roger Murray, 638½ Lincoln Street. She had been ill several years.

She was a daughter of the late Allen and Ellen McDonald and a native of Eckhart. She was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Murray are two sisters, Mrs. Margaret McAtee, Cumberland, and Mrs. Charles Grant, Cresaptown; two brothers, James E. McDonald, Springfield, Ohio, and John W. McDonald, Ligon, Ky.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Probe Of Roadhouse Blaze To Be Asked

PARSONS, W. Va. —Fire Chief Earl Corcoran and the owner of a roadhouse near Hendricks which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, said last night they will request a complete investigation of the blaze by a representative of the State Fire Marshall's Office.

The roadhouse, Twin Springs, five miles north of Hendricks on Route 72, was owned by Leo Arbogast, Elkins. Damage was estimated at $5,000. Corcoran made an investigation of the blaze yesterday.

Six cabins surrounding the roadhouse were not damaged, Corcoran said. The roadhouse, he added, was partially insured.

Corcoran said he and Arbogast decided to ask for an investigation after he had talked with Arbogast, who is in Pittsburgh, by telephone yesterday.

paths and we took the one we were sure we came up, but it wasn't. That night we walked for miles."

After darkness fell, Helmick explained that he took his pocket knife, and cut some limbs from a pine tree and made a bed for the boys and then lay down "real close" to them so he could keep them warm.

"You know that pocket knife of mine, Mr. Crosten. I want you to take it. My brother has it now, but I'd like to give it to you. You'll have to clean it up for the sticky stuff from the pines stuck to it, and it smells just like those pines we slept in."

The sheriff assured Helmick that he would like very much to have the knife, but inquired why he was giving away the one possession that he prized most dearly.

"I like you, I'm not afraid of you. I want you to have it. Mom will get it for you, but remember that it came from me, and don't lose it. You're the man who found me."

"Did you get hungry, John?" the sheriff asked.

"No I never remember of being hungry, I was too scared and wondered if any one would find us. Once I saw a cabin and thought if I could get to it, I could get food and then carry the little boys there, but when I started looking for it I couldn't find it again.

"Mr. Crosten, what would you have said of I had broken into one of those houses up there? Would you have believed that I did it for food and shelter and did not mean to steal?" We weren't running off, Helmick assured the sheriff. "Lots of people thought we were, but we weren't. I don't do such bad things, and besides it was raining and cold."

Helmick told the sheriff that he never got cold and his feet didn't hurt. "No sir, I never got cold. That's funny isn't it? I could see my feet swelling up and watched them break the stitches in my shoes, but they didn't hurt. Did you see those shoes, Mr. Crosten?

"I left the boys to get help and I was going to walk until I found help, Helmick said. "When the men found me, I had just laid down at the creek (Beaver Creek) to get a drink and was resting."

The sheriff surprised Helmick as the interview ended. He presented him with a bag full of candy and fruit. "Happy birthday, John," the sheriff said.

John Helmick, the Davis, W. Va., youth who lived through one of the area's most harrowing experiences, was 17 years old yesterday, and on his birthday, the physicians caring for him, were preparing to amputate his feet so they could give him a present too—the life that over 1,000 men in the area searched for four days to save.

Foresters To Resume Tree Stock Surveys In Summer

Area foresters will continue a program of tree stock surveys in state forests this year, William A. Parr, district forester, announced yesterday.

The surveys, which were begun last year, aid foresters to determine the volume of different species and sizes of trees, Parr explained. He declared the information is useful in preparing an intensive forest management plan.

A crew of forest workers is now continuing the survey in Swallow Falls State Forest, Parr said, adding that four crews completed a survey in about 7,000 of the forest's 7,500-odd acres last summer.

The Swallow Falls survey should be completed in the next two or three months, Parr declared. Last summer a survey was completed in about 1,000 acres of Potomac State Park, which has a total area of about 12,000 acres.

This year, Parr continued, three three-man crews will resume work in Potomac State Forest and three crews will begin a survey in the 81,000 acres of Savage River State Forest. Parr said, however, that the foresters expect to cover only a proportionately small part of the large Savage River forest.

At Green Ridge State Forest, a boundary line survey is expected to be completed this year. Three men are now working on the project and the program there has now reached the map-making stage, Parr explained.

The surveys, Parr said, are a sort of inventory-taking procedure to aid foresters in planning a proper management plan, including complete maps of areas involved, cutting plans and recreational development plans.

Cutting on any area, Parr explained, will be determined by the value of the area as a watershed protection or as a recreational area. No cutting will be allowed in recreational areas and cutting in watershed protection areas will be lighter than in flatter areas, he added.

"At present," Parr stated, "the forests are being managed under an extensive plan to increase the growth on the poorer areas and to maintain growth on good areas.

"Part of the work of stock survey crews is to determine the approximate rate of growth of various species in the state forests."

Last year, Parr reminded, several college students were hired as leaders of survey crews and some high school boys were employed as surveyors' assistants and in other related tasks. He said the practice may be continued again this summer.

would have more power in Maryland," he continued, "such as the right to sit in on hearings following disasters."

Among other things the bill will provide for more rigid inspection of mines, and would set up new regulations covering gas, exits and roof supports.

One of the most important changes would give state inspectors the power to close a mine immediately when they deemed it unsafe.

"When an inspector finds a dangerous condition, he should have the power to order an immediate correction or in the event it is not made to close the mine," the senator stated.

Concerning the office of the Bureau of Mines, Senator Kimble said "it belongs in the western part of the state."

"Annapolis is no place for that office," he said. "It would be just as proper for the Tidewater Fisheries Commission to be located in Cumberland as it is for the Mine Bureau to be in Annapolis."

He said his third bill would call for the compulsory retirement of Dr. Rutledge because he is "physically unable to perform his duties or to assume responsibilities."

Fifty years ago—1898—the steel dam near Ashfork, Ariz., was the first of its kind completed successfully. The steel portion is 184 feet long and the spillway crest is 46 feet above bedrock.

DEATHS

M. SGT. CHARLES L. KESSLER

A funeral service was conducted Tuesday in the Cook Funeral Home, Baltimore, for M. Sgt. Charles L. Kessler, veteran recruiter who was killed Friday in an automobile accident in Baltimore. Burial was in Greebmount Cemetery.

Sgt. Kessler had been attached to the Baltimore Recruiting Office since 1946. During his 20 years service, he was associated with M. Sgt. Clarence Biehn of the local office in recruiting activities.

Attending the funeral from the local office were Sgt. Biehn, Sgt. First Class Bernard Rodebush and First Lt. George J. Gocke.

MRS. ANNA M. BEALKY

Mrs. Anna Margaret Bealky, 68, widow of Bernard Bealky, died yesterday morning at her home, 630 Elm Street. She had been bedfast a week and in failing health two years.

Mrs. Bealky was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and the Ladies Aid Society of the congregation.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Raymond Valentine and Miss Anna May Bealky; three sons, George Louis, Robert J. and Bernard F. Bealky, and a sister, Mrs. D. F. Wagoner, all of this city, and seven grandchildren.

The body is at the Valentine residence, 632 Elm Street. A funeral service will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. Phillip C. Priester, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Oldtown Road.

RICHARD D. ROBERTSON

Richard D. Robertson, 82, of 311 Schley Street, died yesterday morning at his home. He was a former B. and O. boilermaker, retiring about 15 years ago.

Survivors include his widow, the former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Slider; a son, Earl C. Robertson, this city; a grandchild and one great-grandchild. A brother, Everhart Robertson, this city, died about a week ago.

The body is at the residence where a funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

WATSON L. CREEK

Watson Leon Creek, 45, refrigeration engineer of the City Ice and Fuel Company, died yesterday at his home, 103 Mary Street. He had been ill several months.

A native of Piney Grove, Mr. Creek had resided here 14 years. He served in the ground forces of the Air Corps during World War II and was a member of Piney Grove Methodist Church.

Surviving are his parents, Theodore N. and Annie E. Creek; a brother, James W. Creek, Martinsburg, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Leo R. Leasure, this city, and Mrs. C. T. Norris, Belle Grove.

A funeral service will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. in the Kight Funeral Home. Rev. J. Edgar Walter, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Military honors at the grave in Piney Plains Cemetery will be in charge of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

B. L. PUFFENBARGER

Benjamin Lee Puffenbarger, 71, near Wiley Ford, W. Va., died yesterday morning after an illness of two years.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Homer Hite, Elkins, W. Va.; Mrs. William Chadwick, this city; Mrs. Joseph Toler and Rachel Puffenbarger, at home, and Mrs. Carl Mort, Somerset, Pa., and five sons, Frank Puffenbarger, Cass, W. Va.; Roy and Edward Puffenbarger, Pittsburgh; Randolph Puffenbarger, Short Gap, W. Va., and Meade Puffenbarger, at home.

He also leaves two brothers, Kenton Puffenbarger, Staunton, Va., and Robert Puffenbarger, Wiley Ford; two sisters, Mrs. William Barkley, Elkins, and Mrs. Bowman Barkley, Wiley Ford; 14 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home for a service tomorrow at 10 a. m. with Rev. Charles V. Elliott officiating. Burial will take place in Abe Cemetery.

DAVIS SERVICE

A funeral service for Leonard L. Davis, 52, 401 Oldtown Road, who died Sunday in Allegany Hospital, was held yesterday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Ambrose Buckley, Hawthorne Avenue. Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, officiated and burial was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were Charles W. Davis, Charles R. Davis, Elmer Hughes, Albert L. Harbaugh, William Beier and Frank J. Davis.

MISS HENRIETTA MCDONALD

Miss Henrietta McDonald, 77, died last night at 11:15 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roger Murray, 638½ Lincoln Street. She had been ill several years.

She was a daughter of the late Allen and Ellen McDonald and a native of Eckhart. She was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Murray are two sisters, Mrs. Margaret McAtee, Cumberland, and Mrs. Charles Grant, Cresaptown; two brothers, James E. McDonald, Springfield, Ohio, and John W. McDonald, Ligon, Ky.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Probe Of Roadhouse Blaze To Be Asked

PARSONS, W. Va. —Fire Chief Earl Corcoran and the owner of a roadhouse near Hendricks which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, said last night they will request a complete investigation of the blaze by a representative of the State Fire Marshall's Office.

The roadhouse, Twin Springs, five miles north of Hendricks on Route 72, was owned by Leo Arbogast, Elkins. Damage was estimated at $5,000. Corcoran made an investigation of the blaze yesterday.

Six cabins surrounding the roadhouse were not damaged, Corcoran said. The roadhouse, he added, was partially insured.

Corcoran said he and Arbogast decided to ask for an investigation after he had talked with Arbogast, who is in Pittsburgh, by telephone yesterday.

paths and we took the one we were sure we came up, but it wasn't. That night we walked for miles."

After darkness fell, Helmick explained that he took his pocket knife, and cut some limbs from a pine tree and made a bed for the boys and then lay down "real close" to them so he could keep them warm.

"You know that pocket knife of mine, Mr. Crosten. I want you to take it. My brother has it now, but I'd like to give it to you. You'll have to clean it up for the sticky stuff from the pines stuck to it, and it smells just like those pines we slept in."

The sheriff assured Helmick that he would like very much to have the knife, but inquired why he was giving away the one possession that he prized most dearly.

"I like you, I'm not afraid of you. I want you to have it. Mom will get it for you, but remember that it came from me, and don't lose it. You're the man who found me."

"Did you get hungry, John?" the sheriff asked.

"No I never remember of being hungry, I was too scared and wondered if any one would find us. Once I saw a cabin and thought if I could get to it, I could get food and then carry the little boys there, but when I started looking for it I couldn't find it again.

"Mr. Crosten, what would you have said of I had broken into one of those houses up there? Would you have believed that I did it for food and shelter and did not mean to steal?" We weren't running off, Helmick assured the sheriff. "Lots of people thought we were, but we weren't. I don't do such bad things, and besides it was raining and cold."

Helmick told the sheriff that he never got cold and his feet didn't hurt. "No sir, I never got cold. That's funny isn't it? I could see my feet swelling up and watched them break the stitches in my shoes, but they didn't hurt. Did you see those shoes, Mr. Crosten?

"I left the boys to get help and I was going to walk until I found help, Helmick said. "When the men found me, I had just laid down at the creek (Beaver Creek) to get a drink and was resting."

The sheriff surprised Helmick as the interview ended. He presented him with a bag full of candy and fruit. "Happy birthday, John," the sheriff said.

John Helmick, the Davis, W. Va., youth who lived through one of the area's most harrowing experiences, was 17 years old yesterday, and on his birthday, the physicians caring for him, were preparing to amputate his feet so they could give him a present too—the life that over 1,000 men in the area searched for four days to save.

Along The Potomac To Washington

By J. GLENN BEALL
(Member of Congress from Maryland Sixth District)

The President's uncomplimentary references to Communists and Communism in his Inaugural Address made a good impression on most Congressmen, regardless of political affiliation, and it's evident that Mr. Truman is becoming more aware of the great differences between our form of government and the Russian tyranny.

Some seasoned capital observers believe that the President's strong words may be a harbinger of a change in technique. During the recent political campaign, Mr. Truman planned to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow for direct talks with Stalin; but pressure from the Secretary of State prevented this ill-fated venture.

Now, it appears that the President definitely has given up the idea of such a junket, despite the recent rumors that he would resurrect his proposal. He didn't give any evidence of "softness" toward Russia in this first speech of his new term.

The speech also seemed to forecast more expenditures overseas. He promised to implement the so-called Marshall Plan and he gave a hint of vast new expenditures for weapons of defense, apparently to be given to the nations of Western Europe already getting huge sums from the Economic Cooperation Administration.

If so, it seems plain that the whopping budget he already has recommended will have to be revised upward, instead of downward, as so many had hoped. The President did not specifically mention new expenditures, but he implied further aid to other nations.

• — • — •

In view of the President's stand, it is difficult, to say the least, to understand the Democratic sabotage of the House Committee on un-American Activities.

The Democratic leadership, through a subterfuge, tossed Representative John E. Rankin (D.-Miss.) and Representative F. Edward Hebert D.-La.) off the Un-American Activities Committee. This was accomplished by the simple ruse of having the Democratic caucus pass a rule providing that only lawyers could be appointed to the Committee.

Representative Hebert, who has gained a reputation for honesty and fair-mindedness, apparently was too much opposed to Communists in the federal government, as well as Communists overseas.

His scorching criticism of the Democratic leadership for bouncing him off the committee deserves reprinting:

"I sought only the truth . . ." he asserted in a speech in the House. "I was elected as a Democrat by the people of Louisiana and shall conduct myself according to their wishes and instructions. The denials of reprisal and punitive action are not convincing in view of the facts. The inescapable truth of the matter is that a precedent was broken in failing to reassign me to the Committee on Un-American Activities."

"The practice of the political purge is not a new art. It has always been indulged in as a means to liquidation by those who refuse to recognize the right of an individual to think and act for himself."

"I shall continue to say what I think and do what I say."

Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R.-Mass.), who ridiculed the idea of appointing only lawyers to the Un-American Activities Committee, pointed out that less than 50 per cent of the members of the House are lawyers and that this would discriminate against non-lawyers in Congress who wanted to serve on the Committee.

Representative Martin, who has seen Communists by sight or scent, declared that the Republicans would follow no such practice in their appointments to the Un-American Activities Committee.

It seems incredible, but it is true, that years after everyone from the President down to the page boy has learned how treacherous and deadly the Communists are, the Democratic leadership still overlooks the possibilities of Communist spy-rings in Washington and actually appoints men who are "soft" on Communism to the Un-American Activities Committee. Many believe the Democrats will rue the day they failed to declare unremitting war on Communists in Washington—as well as on Communist practices abroad.

UNDER THE DOME

We have been advised by the Post Office Deparament that the change in schedule of the rural carriers on the rural routes out of Union Bridge and New Windsor would be effective. These changes are being made in order that the subscribers to the Frederick Post may receive delivery of their papers on the same day it is printed. The postmasters of the Union Bridge and New Windsor Post Offices have been advised of the change effective at once.

We were advised that the E. C. A. Administrator Mr. Paul Hoffman had extended the time that the E. R. P. cargoes would be on a 50-50 basis for sixty days. Mr. Hoffman had said that after January 1 he would not be bound by this agreement. He did however extend the time until February 1 and an additional 60 day extension has now been given. I received many letters protesting Mr. Hoffman's first statement and am very much gratified that an extension of time has been given.

I attended the annual dinner of the National Limestone Association on January 18th. This dinner was attended by many of my constituents from Frederick County.

CHIANG'S RETREAT—This is the home in Fenghwa to which Chiang Kai-Shek, China's President, retired, after more than 20 years as leader of China. Fenghwa is located in Chekiang Province, southwest of Shanghai, and is the scene of Chiang's youth. He was not born in this house, but acquired it after he attained prominence in China's national affairs.

Norma Markwood To Head Church Group

MT. SAVAGE — Norma Jean Markwood was elected president of the intermediate group of Mt. Savage Methodist Church at a recent meeting in the church recreation hall.

Other new officers are Winnie Walsh, vice president; Mary Lee Stewart, secretary; and Carol Yutzy, treasurer.

Eileen Jenkins played several piano selections. Mrs. Gladys Deffenbaugh and the class served refreshments.

Mrs. Dorothy Crowe will be hostess at the February meeting.

New Trial Denied B. And O. Lawyer In Leasure Suit

In an opinion by Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish in Washington County Circuit Court yesterday, motions made by attorneys for the B. and O. Railroad for judgement and a new trial in the damage suit of Robert G. Leasure, this city, were denied.

A Washington county jury had awarded Leasure $17,500 July 22, 1948 for the loss of a foot in a crossing accident here and the motion for a new trial by defense attorneys was denied with the provision that the damages are reduced to $14,000.

Attorney James Alfred Avirett, local counsel for Leasure, said the plaintiff would agree to the $3,500 reduction.

Lost Right Foot

Leasure, 79, of 223 Harrison Street, lost his right foot and suffered other injuries as a result of being struck by a yard engine on the Baltimore Street crossing November 12, 1947. The case was moved to Washington county after it was docketed in Circuit Court here.

Avirett, who was assisted by Attorney John Wagaman, Hagerstown, said Judge Mish also denied the railroad's no. ov. motion (not withstanding the verdict or contention that the verdict is wrong and should be set aside.)

In commenting on the motion for a new trial, Avirett said Judge Mish thought the damages excessive and moved that if the amount is reduced by $3,500, the motion for a new trial will be denied.

Attorneys for the B. and O. were William A. Gunter and D. Lindley Sloan, this city; and Stuart E. Bushong, Hagerstown.

Local Navy Office To Show Movie

"December 7, Navy Version" will be shown to James P. Love Post No. 92, Lonaconing, next Tuesday at 8 p. m., acording to Chief Robert Belknap, local Navy recruiter. Chief Belknap also said he received word that Chief Edgar L. Schreder, former recruiter-in-charge here, arrived January 11 a Pearl Harbor for duty with th, submarine base there.

Dominic Violant Struck By Car

After his car struck and injured a 49-year-old pedestrian yesterday morning, Robert Bernard Corbin, 20, 23 Williams Street, was charged with reckless driving.

Police said Dominic Violant, 212 Thomas Street, received treatment in Allegany Hospital about 6:30 a. m. for abrasions of the left arm. The accident occurred near the intersection of Thomas and Crawford Street.

Corbin, police said, was driving south on Thomas Street when he passed another car going in the same direction and then hit Violant. Corbin drove to Virginia Avenue but returned to the scene and took the man to the hospital.

The driver posted $26.45 bond at Police Headquarters for a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

The state of West Virginia produces more hardwood than any other state excepting Arkansas, and has vast timber wealth, including yellow poplar, birch, ash, oak, spruce, hemlock and walnut.

Celanese Worker Gets Service Award

Joseph M. Briner, the first hourly paid worker to reach 25 years of service with the Celanese Corporation at Amcelle, was awarded a gold watch, certificate and pin, by Fred T. Small, plant manager, yesterday.

Briner is a dyer in the Dye House. Seven staff members have been awared the quarter-century award at the local plant, but Briner is the first hourly employe to receive this honor.

Briner became associated with Celanese in 1924 during the construction of the factory. He assisted in locating the boilers for the power plant and stayed as an operator. In 1930 he transferred to the Dye House.

He was born at Eckhart and was educated in Allegany county schools. He worked 15 years with Consolidation Coal Company and three years as a Baltimore City administration worker, before being employed by Celanese.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is there any way of curing an extravagant wife?

Answer: Husbands sometimes call their wives extravagant because at heart they resent having any of their money spent, except on themselves. But where a wife really squanders money, it is usually either because she has never had a chance to learn its value, or because she's trying to get even for what she feels to be unfair treatment in this respect or in others. Either way, the best "cure" probably is to agree upon a fair division of the family income and let neither partner have more than his or her share without the consent of the other.

Can the urge to "do good" be an escape?

Answer: Yes, and this is why we're apt to be suspicious of "do-gooders." One of the best ways to avoid becoming conscious of your own shortcomings, real or imagined, is by concentrating your attention on your neighbors' troubles, besides which the virtuous feeling that you're "doing them good" helps to keep your conscience quiet. But at the same time you're likely, quite unconsciously, to take out on the people you are "helping" your repressed resentment at the fact that you can't gratify your own forbidden wishes.

Does intelligence stop growing at sixteen?

Answer: The belief that it does—long held by psychologists—seems subject to revision in the light of recent research. For example, tests of more than a thousand persons reported to the Journal of Genetic Psychology by Prof. Robert L. Thorndike of Columbia showed that the age at which the highest scores for intelligence were achieved varied from 21 years and 6 months under one system of reckoning to 25 years and 9 months under another. Certain individuals seem beyond question to gain in intelligence up to the age of 20 or older.

YOU CAN ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS
and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

Read What They Say!

"We have sold Geo-Mineral for the last six months and it has been one of the best selling drug items we have ever handled"—say Porter Bros., pharmacists of Concord, N. C. "Users report amazing results in many instances, and we personally believe Geo-Mineral is a good medicine for purposes as indicated, and recommend it to sufferers who have tried other medicines with little if any results. They may discover that Geo-Mineral is what they have probably been needing and looking for — we unhesitatingly recommend it."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO MINERAL. Do not hesitate on moment. Go to your drug store no Get one bottle. Use it one week. I you are not 100 per cent satisfied we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long yo have been suffering, and how man medicines you have tried befor GEO-MINERAL may be the remed you need!

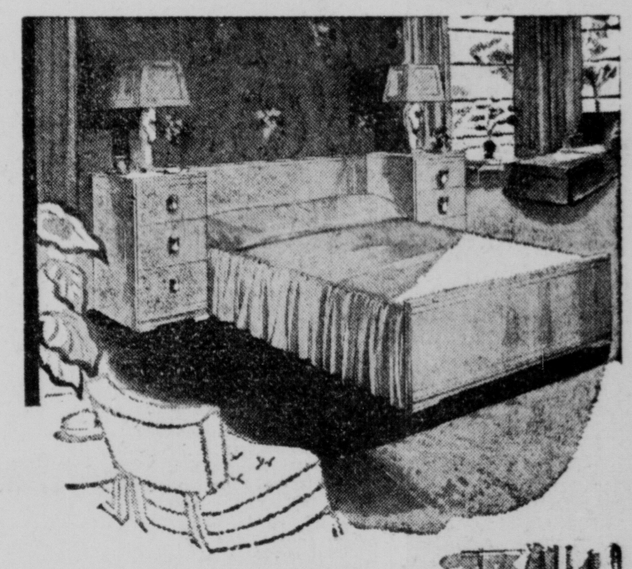
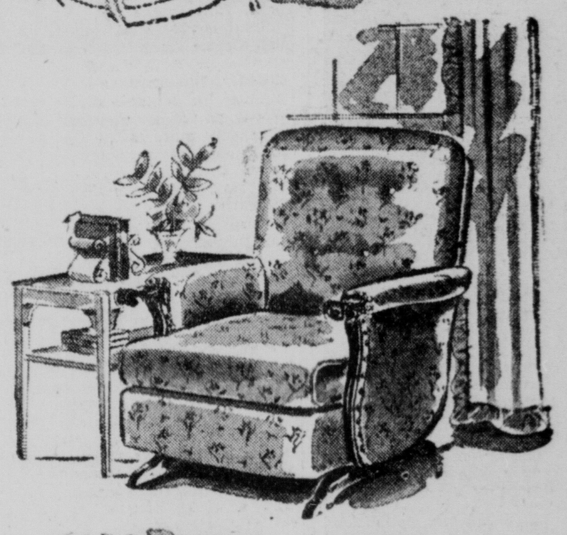
We're price-conscious in Millenson's Bargain Annex!

Everyone knows you can buy the finest furniture at Millenson's—handcrafted, with exclusive designs and superb styling. It's expensive, of course—and it's worth it! But not everybody knows that you can also buy good furniture at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES in Millenson's Bargain Annex. No hand-craftmanship, of course. No exclusive designs. When we go shopping for our Bargain Annex, we look for only three things—practical, good-looking styles—and good, solid construction—and the very lowest prices.



We don't buy any junk, because we know that shoddy merchandise is a bad buy, no matter how low the price! We buy good furniture, produced by modern American mass-production methods and machine operations that insure good quality while keeping the cost down. We buy wherever we can get the best bargains, and we bring them to you without any extra trimmings, with the lowest possible handling costs, and with a very small margin of profit. Shop and compare! You'll soon discover that the greatest values and the lowest prices are at Millenson's.



In the Bargain Annex, too, we sell a lot of used furniture that has been taken in trade—and every piece of used furniture is carefully sterilized before it is put on sale. As they're all one-of-a-kind items, and they don't stay long on the floor, it's impossible to advertise them—but experienced shoppers know that it pays to visit the Millenson Bargain Annex occasionally.

Keyser March Of Dimes Moving Toward Climax

Groudan Urges Supreme Effort

KEYSER, W. Va. — Henry Groudan, chairman of the Mineral County March of Dimes campaign, urges all citizens to redouble their efforts in the final week of the drive to make it a success.

Funds contributed are not only used to help those whom polio may strike but are also used to continue the research for a cure or preventive of the dread disease, the chairman said.

Persons who have received coin cards and school cards are urged to return them promptly with as generous a contribution as possible. Coin collectors have been placed throughout the county, Groudan said, and will remain there through this week.

James W. Goldsworthy, treasurer of the local chapter, reports there were four cases of polio in the county last year who received aid from the county fund. One of the patients is still hospitalized, he said, adding that payment of the bills of the last two cases has been withheld until the close of the present drive because the account would be overdrawn if paid now. A total of $1,005.72 was spent on one case alone last year he said. The needs of the local chapter are critical, the treasurer said, in spite of the fact that last year was the largest campaign ever conducted in this county.

The local chapter contributed $982.35 to the national fund last year, the treasurer said. This amount represented half the total contributions during the campaign, he added.

The campaign will officially close this weekend. However, several civic organizations are sponsoring events next month for the benefit of the drive. The local Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a March of Dimes dance at the Potomac State School gymnasium tomorrow night and the local Business and Professional Women's Club is sponsoring a home talent show "Fun For You" at the high school auditorium tonight and tomorrow night with part of the proceeds to be given to the campaign.

A minstrel, sponsored by the local Lions club, will be presented in February for the benefit of the polio fund.

March Of Dimes Dance Set In Fort Ashby

The Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company will sponsor a "March of Dimes" dance to be held Friday from 9 to 12 p. m. in the VFW Hall, Fort Ashby.

Frostburg Firemen Hold Installation

FROSTBURG — Florian Nickel, recently elected president of the Frostburg Fire Department, was installed Tuesday night at a celebration given by the incoming officers at Fireman's Hall.

Nickel has been a member of the department 31 years and has held the office of assistant chief. He is a local contractor.

Other officers installed follow: Vice president, Thomas Rank; secretary, Karl Nickel; treasurer, Alvin H. Rankin; fire chief, Woodrow Layman; Chaplain, Jesse Jacobs, and sergeant-at-arms, John Rank.

Members of the standing committee elected in January and installed last night are Evan Lloyd, James R. Sleeman, Thomas Kerr, James McGuire and George Tipping. Past Presidents Bernard Hughes, John Keller and Olin Gunnett served as installing officers.

Preceding the banquet Nickel announced that the seventy-second anniversary of the Volunteer Company will be held March 17.

Members of the dinner committee were Harry Snyder, chairman; George Wright, James McGuire, James Lloyd, Robert Stewart, Harry Michael, Ernest Pfaff, Charles Kerr and Henry Miller.

School-Home Relations Discussed By Davis

FROSTBURG — Parent-teacher relationship was the topic of an address delivered by Lewyn Davis at the January meeting of the Hill Street School P-TA, held Monday evening in the school auditorium with Mrs. Eleanor Martens, president, presiding.

Davis emphasized the importance of close co-operation among parent, teacher and pupil to obtain the best results in the training of the child to meet future problems in life.

The scripture reading and prayer were offered by Mrs. Dorothy Custer. Mrs. Gladys Broadwater read correspondence from County Superintendent C. L. Kopp relative to a health room at the school.

A standing committee consisting of Kenneth Crowe, chairman; John Logue, Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, Mrs. Evelyn Nelson and Principal John Manley was appointed to outline a program for school welfare.

The attendance award went to Mrs. Mary McGregor, teacher of the second grade. A report was read showing the present membership of the group totals 72 and that $31.28 has been raised for Band for Beall drive. Plans were approved for a Valentine party to be held February 14 in the class rooms with the mothers in charge.

Suits Filed In Mineral Court In Fatal Mishap

Stallings Defendant In Two Damage Cases

KEYSER, W. Va.—Civil suits got under way in Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday with Floyd E. Payne, Keyser, asking $2,500 damages of Leslie C. Stallings, Cumberland, Md., for injuries received in an automobile accident on November 30, 1947.

The jury was dismissed at 4 p. m. yesterday and will convene at 10 a. m. today.

All witnesses for the plaintiff testified and several for the defense completed testimony yesterday. Payne is represented by Attorneys Howard P. Shores and H. G. Shores while Walter C. Capper, Cumberland, and Emory Tyler, Keyser, represent Stallings.

Payne charges he was injured in an acident at the intersection of Fountain road at Route 46 when a truck driven by Stallings struck a car driven by Robert Shockey, father-in-law of Payne. Shockey was fatally injured in the accident.

The plaintiff contends Stallings was driving at a high rate of speed and without lights. The defense contends Shockey came onto Route 46 without stopping and crashed into the right side of Stallings' truck.

Also scheduled for trial today is the case of Mrs. Verna L. Shockey against Leslie C. Stallings. Mrs. Shockey is asking $10,000 damages as a result of the death of her husband in the same accident.

Elk Garden Residents Placed On Probation

KEYSER, W. Va.—Two Elk Garden residents pleaded guilty yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court to charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor child.

Leona Rawlings and Harry Dawson were each fined $5, sentenced to six months in jail and placed on probation for three years on provision they did not associate with each other during that time.

The pair was indicted by the October grand jury on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Rawlings' minor daughter.

That case and the murder trial of James "Ike" Bane were the only criminal trials scheduled for the January term of court.

Recruiter Re-Enlists

KEYSER, W. Va.—SFC Virgil P. Burns, local Army and Air Force recruiter, has returned from Fort Knox, Ky., where he re-enlisted for three years in the Regular Army unassigned.

Sgt. Burns came here as recruiter last August to replace Sgt. W. F. Welch, who was transferred to Westernport and has since been transferred to Silver Spring, Md.

A native of Cumberland, Md., Sgt. Burns is the son of Mrs. Bertha M. Burns, 723 Shawnee Avenue, Cumberland, and the late Patrick R. Burns, who died several weeks prior to his son's liberation. Burns was a Japanese captive, taken prisoner at the fall of Bataan in April, 1942, and liberated September 7, 1945.

He was led through the infamous "March of Death" to Camp O'Donnell and from there was transferred to a prisoner of war enclosure at Cabanatauan, P. I., and was a survivor of the "Death Ship" trip from Manila, P. I., to Japan, when two ships on which the prisoners were being transferred were mistakenly bombed and sunk by United States Navy planes.

Sgt. Burns was star athlete at La-Salle High School, Cumberland, and Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va., before entering the service. He now has 14 years of service in the Army and holds the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star. The recruiter resides in Keyser with his wife and two children.

P-TA Holds Discussion On Child Development

FROSTBURG — Dr. Albert C. Cook presided at the January meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Laboratory School of Frostburg State Teachers' College Monday evening in the college auditorium.

Mrs. Velma Richmond Pfahler was the guest soloist, with Miss Mabel Myers playing the piano accompaniments.

The film, "Human Growth," was discussed by Dr. Adam Baer and another film, "The Feeling of Rejection," based on a visual case history, was discussed by Miss Ruth Sherman, faculty member of the Laboratory School. This film brought out the necessity of more emphasis on study of the emotional development of the child, a consideration which has been overlooked in the home, school and community.

In a group discussion following the showing of the film, Miss Sherman stressed the responsibility of parents and teachers in providing children with emotional security so that they may live well-adjusted, harmonious lives.

The third grade with Miss Margaret Jones, teacher, received the banner for highest attendance at the meeting. Group singing was a feature of the program.

Keller Named Veteran's Employment Counsel

HYNDMAN, Pa. — The appointment of L. G. Keller, Hyndman, as a volunteer Veterans' Re-employment Rights Committeeman was announced yesterday by Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

Keller's position is with the Bureau of Veterans' Re-employment Rights under the Selective Service Act of 1948. He has served as a volunteer committeeman under the Selective Service and Training Act of 1940 in this area for the past five years.

Keller's duties as a committeeman will be to assist returning veterans in securing a proper reinstatement in their pre-service positions, to advise employers, upon request, of their responsibilities under the law, and to advise employers, labor, veterans and other interested groups of the re-employment provisions of the draft law.

He will continue to serve veterans of this area who are seeking their re-employment rights under the act of 1940, as well as those affected by the newer draft law.

TB Seal Sale Nets Less Than $300

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Mayor P. W. Clarke, head of Hardy County Tuberculosis Seal Sale, reports approximately $300 was donated during the Christmas season drive.

Clarke reports the fund held for the Hardy County Tuberculosis Association amounts to approximately $1,377.75, exclusive of the 1948 amount. The money given for TB Seals is put in a fund, credited to Hardy County, and then used in various ways to combat tuberculosis. Some is used to bring mobile units here and assist with TB clinics, some goes for medicine and treatment of those stricken and some for literature and Health Education.

This year's $292.70 is more than was donated in 1947, which was $258, but Clarke said many apparently have forgotten to return the envelopes.

Ridgeley Will Test Unbeaten Sentinels Tonight

District's Top Quints Play At Fort Hill Gym

Roby, Pence Will Ref; Piedmont Faces Beall

Fort Hill's undefeated Sentinels and Ridgeley High's Blackhawks, the two top scholastic teams in the tri-state district last season, and still front runners for the same honors this season, will tangle tonight at the Fort Hill court in the first game of their annual home-and-home series.

The Sentinels will put a twelve-game wining streak on the line in this game while Coach Jesse Riggleman's boys from the across the Potomac will be shooting for their sixth consecutive triumph. The Hawks will enter the battle with a 7-2 record. Their setbacks were administered by two formidable foes, the Alumni and University High School of Morgantown, W. Va.

Among Fort Hill's victims are Piedmont, twice, 32-26 and 38-27, LaSalle 45-32 and Allegany 39-38. The Mineral County quint defeated Allegany 36-24, LaSalle 44-18 and Piedmont 47-21.

Split Last Season

Last season Coach "Boby" Cavanaugh's city, WMI and Class "A" Maryland champions split even with the Blackhawks, winning at home 36-28 and losing at Ridgeley 30-29. The Sentinels concluded their campaign with a 27-5 record while Riggleman's aggregation copped 22 and dropped two, the second defeat being at the hands of Washington-Irving of Clarksburg in the state tourney at Morgantown.

The game looms as one of the best of the season and should be close and interesting with the Hill-toppers conceded a slight edge on their home floor.

Play will get under way at 8 p. m., with a preliminary tilt set for 6:45.

Clifton Van Roby and Bob Pence have been chosen to officiate.

Records of the teams to date:

Two other scholastic games are on the boards for tonight.

Petersburg High School's amazing Vikings will play hosts to Mathias High School in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Petersburg. It will be the 8th conference tilt for Coach Walt Owens' cagers and they'll be gunning for win No. 5.

Beall Invade Piedmont

Coach "Eddie" Finzel's Beall High floormen will test "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High Lions in the final game of their season series at Piedmont. Beall decisioned the Mineral county quint in a 34-34 thriller earlier in the campaign at Frostburg. Piedmont needs a win to crash the .500 class. The Lions have won four and lost five. A victory for Frostburg would also put the Mountain City quint in the .500 circle. Beall has won five and lost six.

LaSalle Drops 10th Decision To Moorefield

Jackets 4th Period Rally Wins 41 To 29

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 26—A sixteen-point rally in the final period, sparked by Johnny Vance's nine markers, gave the Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets a 41-29 decision over LaSalle High of Cumberland tonight on the locals' court.

The game was a thriller all the way with the leading changing hands several times and never more than four or five points separating the teams until the Jackets broke loose in the last stanza.

Trailing 21-19 at halftime LaSalle came back to deadlock the score at 25-25 as the third quarter closed. Bill Harman's foul broke the tie for Moorefield but Bobby Woods potted a singleton to knot it up once more as the final period got under way. Johnny Vance's fielder then put the Jackets ahead 28-26 and they were never headed thereafter.

Vance poured four fielders and a foul through the nets and Harman popped one goal and three singletons during the last period scoring parade while the visiting Explorers were able to get one field goal and two fouls for four points.

Moorefield led 34-28 at the automatic time out with three minutes to play and steadily increased its margin to win going away.

The loss was the 10th of the season for Coach John Mullaney's Blue and Gold five which has won only four games. Moorefield has copped 11 of 12 starts, dropping only a 41-37 decision to Keyser earlier this month.

Johnny Vance and Bill Harman paced the victorious Jackets with 13 and 12 points respectively, with the latter netting eight of eight chances at the 15-foot stripe.

Bob Woods topped the losers with 12 points on five goals and two of three fouls. The lineups:

Game Is Postponed

The scheduled game between the Piedmont High School Lions and the Fort Ashby High Eagles at Fort Ashby Friday, Jan. 28 has been postponed, Coach Tom Small of Fort Ashby announced last night. The game will be rescheduled at a later date.

Chicago Bout For Louis Is Being Planne

ATLANTA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Joe Louis' attorney is en route to Chicago to discuss a championship fight in June proposed by Joseph T. Plunkett, member of the Cook County Democratic Committee.

The move came on the heels of a statement from Promoter Mike Jacobs that Louis is under contract to him and will fight in New York under sponsorship of the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney, Marshall Miles, his manager, and Harry Mendel, his press agent, stopped off here en route from Miami to Chicago.

Mendel said they have an appointment with Plunkett tomorrow to discuss the championship bout offer. Louis' handlers claim the contract with Jacobs was cancelled because Jacobs no longer is active in the promotion of the 20th Century Club.

Gibson and Miles have been in conference with Jacobs and his attorney, Sol Strauss, in Miami for the past three or four days, Mendel said.

"We want to see what Plunkett has to offer before deciding whether to accept Jacobs' offer," Mendel said.

Indian Aces Renege

Feller, Lemon, Bearden Say No To '49 Cleveland Offers

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bobby Feller spoiled the joyful mood around the world champion Cleveland Indians' teepee today by balking on terms of his fat 1949 contract.

Only a day after his manager, Lou Boudreau, cheerfully signed a two-year contract calling for an annual salary of $65,000 or more, the grey-suited fast ball pitcher announced unsmilingly after a conference with President Bill Veeck:

"It's simply a disagreement over the number of fans the Indians will draw this year. That's all."

But that number is important. The gravy in Feller's contract after a guaranteed starter of $40,000-odd, has been in those attendance bonuses.

And it's there where the expected pay cut will come. Feller estimated the slash — before today — at $10,000.

In 1947 and 1948 his salary is believed to have hovered above $80,000.

Veeck took the position today the Tribe would draw approximately as many fans as last year's record-breaking 2,600,000. Feller felt the 1949 attendance might not be as high.

Yet Feller isn't the only member of the world champs showing a tendency towards displeasure at his 1949 salary. For example:

Gene Bearden, the star pitcher of the world series, wants to see Veeck about the figure in his proferred contract.

And Kenny Keltner, the Indians' third baseman, telephoned Veeck today to say there were a few contract clauses he wanted to talk to him about. They will meet in Milwaukee Feb. 14.

In fact, only four contracts have been returned to the Indians' office, outside of Boudreau's. They have come from less important players and rookies.

The next Feller-Veeck conference will be in New York then to attend a sports writers' banquet.

Pence Hits Jackpot, 31 Merchants Give Gifts To Coach

Bob Pence, the Dukes' sharp-shooting forward, who coached Allegany High School's football team to an undefeated season in 1948 and was voted Maryland's scholastic "coach of the year" hit the jackpot last night at SS. Peter and Paul gym.

At intermission Pence was presented a Hamilton wrist watch with the compliments of 19 Cumberland merchants. Then H. R. "Bob" Whip, business manager of the Dukes, announced that Mr. and Mrs. Pence and their daughter will receive the following gifts from 12 other local merchants:

Dress for Miss Pence, Lingerie for Mrs. Pence, basket of groceries, sports sweater, tank of gasoline, lubrication and wash for his car, lamp, shirt, tie and handkerchief, pair of basketball shoes, hosiery for Mrs. Pence, Wembley ties, tie clasp and plastic playing cards.

In a brief speech of acceptance Pence thanked those who donated the fine gifts and praised his teammates on the Dukes and the boys on his football squad at AHS.

Beall Girls Defeat Grantsville, 30-22

Coach Agnes Howat's Beall High School girls defeated Grantsville High's sextet in the first game of their annual series by the score of 30 to 22 on the Frostburg school's court.

The victory was the third of the season for the Frostburgers who were paced by Miss Hanna with 14 points. Miss Yommer had 10 tallies for the losers.

Beall lead all the way with quarter scores of 14-6, 20-9, and 26-18. The lineups:

Legion Quint Cops 16th In "Y" League

SPTS—LEAD..Legion Quintet.. ..

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion quint made it 16 in a row in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night by trouncing the Marine Reserves 38-22 on the "Y" court.

In other loop tussles, the B. P. O. Elks edged the Naval Reserve 39-35 in an extra period on the "Y" floor while the Cumberland Amvets dropped a 47-46 thriller to Mapleside Merchants in the preliminary to the East Pittsburgh-Cumberland Dukes fray at SS. Peter and Paul.

The Legion led all the way with Bob Spangler's 14 points heading the attack. The Elks rallied to knot the count 31-31 at the end of the regulation game after trailing all through the contest. Mapleside beat the Amvets at the foul line by converting 7 of 27 fouls to the losers 6-16 as both teams connected for 20 field goals. The lineups:

DiMaggio And Yanks Fail To Reach Terms

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (INS)—Joe DiMaggio discussed 1949 contract terms with the New York Yankees management today and asked his bosses for time to "think over" their proposition.

The offer advanced by Yankee co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb and General Manager George Weiss is generally believed to be among the richest ever tendered a baseball player.

DiMaggio was reliably reported to rank third behind Bob Feller and Ted Williams in last year's salary arrangements. The peerless outfielder had a fine 1948 season, and is known to be seeking a pay boost.

Topping, Webb and Weiss all huddled with DiMaggio today, reflecting the importance of the transaction. A statement from the Yankee office said another meeting will be held at a "later date."

Hank Greenberg, Mel Ott Touted For Hall Of Fame

75 Percent Vote Is Needed For Entry

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (AP)—The Baseball Hall of Fame poll is on again and it is almost certain that in a couple of weeks two new names—Mel Ott and Hank Greenberg—will be added to the 55 already immortalized in the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Veteran scribes of the Baseball Writer Association of America—those who have been members for 10 or more years—have been asked to name 10 men for election. A candidate must receive at least 75 per cent of the total vote cast.

75 Percent Needed

If the first vote fails to produce a choice, the rules provide for a second poll, in which the 20 leaders are presented and each voter is asked to name five. Players who retired before 1927 are barred. If none is approved by 75 per cent of the writers' votes after two ballots, none is elected.

Ott and Greenberg, however, ought to make it on the first ballot. Both were champion sluggers in their day, both made contributions to the game, and both were known as "nice guys." The latter will be a factor in the voting, because voters are influenced that way.

This is the first year in which Ott and Greenberg have been eligible, under the voting rules limiting the list to men whose playing days are over. Ott's inactivity as a player in 1948 makes him eligible. Ott not only quit as a player, but resigned as manager of the New York Giants last summer, bringing on the transfer of Leo Durocher from Flatbush to Harlem.

Finished With Pirates

Greenberg ended his playing career with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1947 and last year devoted himself to front office duties as vice president of the Cleveland Indians. He became the minor league farm overseer this year.

Ott's baseball career is one of the most sensational in history. He came to the Giants from Louisiana at the age of 16. Twenty-two years later, he still was with the Giants having never spent a day in the minors.

In those 22 years, Ott compiled more records than any other player with the exception of Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth. He hammered more home runs than any other National Leaguer. He also led that circuit in most runs scored, most runs batted in, most long hits and most extra base hits. On 49 different days he hit two homers in a single game. A splendid outfielder with a fine arm, Ottie also played second and third base when called upon. And he reported to John McGraw as a catcher.

Dangerous Slugger

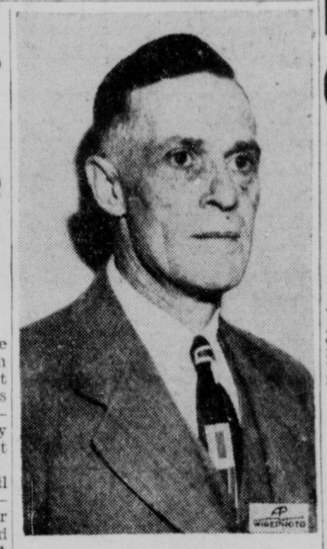
Greenberg was one of the most dangerous righthanded hitters in baseball. Only Jimmy Foxx, among the righthanded hitters in baseball history, ever swatted as many homers, 58, in a single season. No other hitter ever cracked two or more homers in 11 different games during a single season. Four times he led the American League in runs batted in and in home runs. His lifetime batting average for 12 years with the Detroit Tigers and one with the Pirates was well above .300.

Others up for consideration include such outstanding stars of their day as Bill Dickey, Gabby Hartnett, Al Simons, Bill Terry, Harry Heilmann, Dizzy Dean, Dazzy Vance, Goose Goslin, Tony Lazzeri, Chuck Klein and Foxx.

Like Ott and Greenberg, this is the first time Dickey has become eligible. The former great catcher of the New York Yankees, who is now engaged by the club as a coach, was out of baseball during the 1948 season.

Pirates Sign Higbe

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced signing of Pitcher Kirby Higbe. The 33-year-old hurler appeared in 30 games as a relief hurler last season, winning eight and losing seven.



STILL UNBEATEN—Coach Joe Hutton (above) has one of the nation's four unbeaten college cage teams in Hamline University's crack quintet. The Hamline five edged past their arch rivals, St. Thomas, Tuesday night 52-49 for their 14th straight victory. Minnesota, Villanova and Western Kentucky are the other three undefeated teams.

Mikan's Lead In BAA Threatened By Warrior Ace

Joe Fulks Attempts To Return Laurels

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Look out Mr. Mikan. Joe Fulks is shooting your way and he has a "record" look in his eye.

"Tell George Mikan he isn't the scoring champion of the Basketball Association of America yet," Fulks said today. Mikan, of Minneapolis, is the current BAA scoring leader with 978 points.

And Joe means what he says. The six foot, five inch native of Kuttawa, Ky., points to the records of recent weeks to prove that his warning to Mikan has plenty of foundation.

In six Philadelphia Warriors games since January 14 Fulks, holder of all point records in the BAA, has poured 196 points through the hoops, an average of 32.3 per game. His backboard work and all-around play has been great against such rough and tumble aggregations as Chicago, Minneapolis and Baltimore.

Won't Trade Fulks

Warrior Manager Eddie Gottlieb, a coach of professional basketball teams for more than 20 years, says he wouldn't trade Fulks for Mikan and $10,000.

"Mikan may be 60 points ahead of Joe in scoring," said Gottlieb, "but neither he nor any other basketball player on any floor today has the shots that Fulks commands.

"I've been Joe's coach for three seasons now—and continue to marvel at his ability to get off one and two handed shots from any angle.

"He's a basketball once-in-a-lifetime."

Fulks appears to be duplicating his performance in the 1946-47 season when the Kuttawa clipper set an all-time professional basketball scoring record of 1,611 points.

At the end of his first 36 games two years ago, Joe had 869 points and an average of 24 a game. This season after the same number of games, Fulks is 14 points ahead of the record season with 883 points and a 24.5 average. He scored 35 points last night in his 37th game.

Mikan's Position Better

The Warriors ace needs to average 20.4 points in his remaining 23 games to break his regular season BAA point record of 1,389. As for the all-time mark, it depends on how far the Warriors go in the post-season playoffs. Joe needed 10 playoff games in 1946-47 to set his 1,611 point record.

Naturally Mikan is in a much better position to break both of Fulk's records. He's 60 points in front of Joe at the present time and has played in two less games.

Bearcats Still Tops

Rhode Island State Narrows Gap In College Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cincinnati's point-making Bearcats still lead the nation's major college basketball teams in scoring, but the gap between them and the runners-up is narrowing.

The Bearcats, according to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics of games through Jan. 22, had scored an average of 72.7 points in 12 games. This is 1.7 points below their top figure of a week ago.

Closing in on Cincinnati are Rhode Island State, 72.4, Illinois, 70.5, Yale, 70.3, and unbeaten Western Kentucky, 70.1. Thus only 2.6 points separate the pace-setter from the fifth place team.

Oklahoma A. & M. is far in front in team defense. The possession-minded cowpokes have surrendered an average of only 34.3 points per contest. Siena of upstate New York is the far-trailing runner-up with an average of 40.6, followed by Michigan, 41.5 and Minnesota, 41.8.

Western Michigan's collection of hot-shots has canned 317 of 814 throws to move into first place in field goals percentage with a mark of .389. Seton Hall is second with .383 and Wyoming, last week's pace-setter, is third with .381.

Colorado has taken over first in foul shooting, with 121 of 169 charity heaves for a .716 average. The Buffalos were third in this department last week. Valparaiso is second with .707 and New York U. third with .695.

The national leaders:

OFFENSE—Cincinnati 72.7 points average in 12 games; Rhode Island State 72.4 in 11; Illinois 70.5 in 13; Yale 70.3 in 15; Western Kentucky 70.1 in 15; Bowling Green (O) 69.5 in 15; New York U., 69.1 in 10; Bradley 69.1 in 20; CCNY 68.6 in 13; Louisville 68.1 in 22.

DEFENSE—Oklahoma A. & M. 34.3 points against in 12 games; Seina 40.6 in 14; Michigan 41.5 in 11; Minnesota 41.8 in 13; Kentucky 42.8 in 13; Loyola (Chicago) 42.8 in 15; Washington State 42.8 in 19; Kansas 43.2 in 14; Alabama 44.1 in 13; Wyoming 44.2 in 10.

Cumberland's Dukes put on a garrison finish to edge the East Pittsburgh Pirates by the score of 55-49 in an All-American Professional Basketball League game last night at SS. Peter and Paul gym before approxmiately 500 fans on "Bob Pence Night."

Playing erratic and ragged ball for three periods and trailing 44-41 at the close of the third quarter, Coach "Red" Klotz's warriors came back with a vengence in the final 10-minute stanza and tucked away the ball game by outpointing the Crum-Urso aggregation 14 to 5.

Pence, Bell Turn Tide

Bob Pence and Lou Bell turned the tide in favor of the home team in the battle down the home stretch when they tossed in eight points during a nine-point outburst that settled the issue.

With eight minutes to go in the final quarter and the Buccaneers in front, 44-41, Pence put the Dukes ahead at 45-44 with a fielder and two free throws. Then Bell, who was having a tough time with his shots all evening, came through in the "clutch" by heaving in one from the sidelines. Lou came back with a lay-up and Gus Frizzell meshed a foul shot to run the count to 50-44 with four minutes remaining. Before the final whistle Fence connected for another goal and Paul Oberhaus, Klotz and Frizzell netted fouls for the locals while Matty Vaniell got a fielder and three free throws for the Steel City outfit.

While the Dukes were far off in their shooting in the first half they managed to stay right in the thick of the fight, thanks to Bob Pence's accurate shooting. The locals' corner shot specialist racked up five field goals and three fouls for 13 of the Dukes' 31 markers.

Score Tied Six Times

During the first half the score was knotted six times—at 6, 13, 14, 16, 18 and 28—and the lead changed hands no less than eight times. Klotz started the home team off to a 4-0 lead by scoring fielders in rapid succession and the Dukes held the lead until the veteran Freddie Crum tied it up at 6-6. Pence's corner shot sent the locals ahead at 16-14 as the first period ended.

After the score was knotted at 28-28 late in the second period on Pence's foul, Bob scored again at the 15-foot line when a technical foul was plastered on Matty Vaniel and Jim Clevenger hit the target from the sidelines to give the Dukes the long end of a 31-28 score at intermission.

Early in the third period Joe Urso's long shot and John Kelly's lay-up sent Pittsburgh to the front at 32-31 and the Free Booters stayed there throughout the period which ended with the score 44-41.

The lead changed hands 10 times during the game and the biggest margin in points was seven when Oberhaus' foul make it 53-46 in the final heat with 3:08 to play.

Pence Scores 21 Points

Pence's shooting highlighted the locals play. Instead of "blowing up" as most athletes do on "their night," Bob played one of his best games of the season and accounted for 21 points on eight fielders and five for five at the charity line. Vaniel, Crum and Urso paced Pittsburgh with 13, 12 and 10 points.

Both teams excelled at foul shooting, the Dukes hooping 13 of 16 while the Pirates converted 13 of 18 shots. Fourteen personal fouls were called on each team and one technical on the losers.

The victory gave the Dukes undisputed possession of 3rd place and the defeat shoved the Pirates into the 4th slot. The Dukes will play Butler here on Sunday night. Lineups:

Westernport and Luke—James Kenny, chairman; J. Milton McIntyre and A. Wayne Reed.

Coney Bailiff Post Would Be Appointive

Delegate Noel Spier Cook (R-Frostburg) introduced a bill in the House of Delegates yesterday which would make the post of Lonaconing town bailiff appointive instead of elective.

The measure was referred to the Allegany County Delegation.

Stanley Davis, the present bailiff, was employed about six weeks ago by the Lonaconing Mayor and Council on an acting basis to complete the unexpired term of Marshall Hutcheson, who was elected for two years in May, 1947.

Hutcheson resigned several months after his eection, but the city fathers were unable to make a full-time appoinment to the post since under present law it is an elective one.

A number of substitute appointments on temporary basis have been made in the interim.

The city officials asked Cook to introduce the measure so that a full-time two-year appointment could be made when the new Mayor and Council take office following the next biennial election in May.

A salary increase from $160 to $185 monthly for the post was recently authorized by the Mayor and Council.

J. B. Elliott Named RCA Vice President

Joseph B. Elliott, son-in-law of Mrs. Annie R. Dickey, 218 Washington Street, has been appointed vice president in charge of all RCA Victor consumer products, it was announced in Camden by the RCA Victor division of the Radio Corporation of America.

Elliott for the past four years as vice president in charge of the RCA Victor home instrument department. He and his wife, the former Miss Mary Dickey, and their three children, reside in Philadelphia.

Propose Pari-Mutuels To Aid Soldier Bonus

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—Legalized pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania to finance a $500,000,000 soldier bonus was proposed in the house today.

The legislation would permit the operation of three big horse racing tracks so that the state can collect an estimated $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 a year in revenue to pay for a proposed bonus to World War Two veterans.

Church groups have been successful in killing horse racing bills introduced in other years.

DUAL BIRTHDAY PARTY—Two little former California residents, Emily Louise Hill and Dorothy Hill, daughters of Dwight Hill, Los Angeles, were guests of honor at a joint birthday given Saturday by their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Shupe, 59 Frost Avenue, Frostburg. Emily was four Wednesday and Dorothy seven on Sunday. The children came to live with the Shupes about 18 months ago. At the party were (front row, left to right) Mittie Dean, Linda Bender, Susan Babcock, Bonnie Conrad and Carol Capel; (second row) Paul Oberhaus, Jr., Carolyn Cook, Carol Ann Lawler, Dorothy Hill, Patty Minnick and Sharon Huff; (third row) Martha Jean Bender, Catherine Bender, Flora Ann Oberhaus, Michael Shirley, Emily Louise Hill, Carolyn Minnick, Janice Huff, Patty Spates, Harriett Babcock and Michael Meagher.

Salvation Army Plans Two-Day Youth Conference Here In May

The annual Young People's Council of the Salvation Army for Maryland, and Northwestern West Virginia will be held in Cumberland May 14 and 15, Major Elmer Wall, commander of the Cumberland corps, announced yesterday.

At least 500 delegates are expected to attend the convention which will be held in Allegany High School.

Since the Washington division, including corps from the nation's capital, Winchester and Alexandria, Va., have been invited to participate, the convention will be the largest to be held here by the Salvation Army.

The youth conference will be attended by youths from 15 to 25 and officers of corps from some 28 cities of the area.

The high point of the program will be an original pageant Saturday night depicting the life of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. Some 30 persons will take part in the pageant.

On Saturday afternoon, youths from all centers will present a program, "Meet Your Youth," which will reflect the progress made by the young people of the Army.

The program will feature brass instrument solos, choruses and piano solos.

The Washington Ensemble will play both Saturday afternoon and night. Music selected by the eight youths will include many of the selections presented here by the noted Earlscourt Band from Toronto, Canada.

The two-day meeting will end with a worship and consecration service Sunday at 10 a. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Col. P. L. DeBevois, Atlanta, Ga., chief secretary for 15 southern states, will be in charge of the conference. He is a noted orator and has been much in demand as a speaker.

Major William Powell, Atlanta, youth secretary for the Southern territory and a former World War II chaplain, will also speak.

Some 75 Salvation Army officers are expected to attend the meeting.

Wishing Wells Bring $325 For Polio Drive

Some $325 has already been donated for the March of Dimes campaign through "Wishing Wells" and indications are that the $500 goal will be reached, George W. Lucas, who is in charge of that portion of the drive, announced yesterday.

The Navy Mothers was in charge of the Wishing Well on Baltimore Street Wednesday and Allegany High School will sponsor the project Saturday, he added.

Arbitration Hearing Planned Friday

Arbitration hearings on the discharges of two spinning department employes at the Celanese plant, will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. at the Court House, it was announced yesterday.

I. Robert Feinberg, New York arbitrator, will hear testimony from the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO. The hearing was first scheduled January 13.

Barton Personals

Mrs. Jane Davis and daughter, Norma Lee, will leave today for Akron, Ohio, where Mrs. Davis will spend a few weeks with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lulu Kirk.

Charles Dawson remains ill at her home here.

Tony Lupien Detroit Tigers Buy

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers bought some first base insurance today when they acquired infielder Ulysses (Tony) Lupien from the Chicago White Sox for the waiver price of $10,000.

Lupien, 31 years old, was waived out of the American League once before, when the Boston Red Sox let him go to the Philadelphia Phils in 1944, but the White Sox couldn't get clearance to send the Harvard graduate to the minors.

Both Detroit and Cleveland filed claims for the first sacker and Detroit got first call for having finished fifth last season, far below the pennant-winning Indians.

Lupien hit .246 last season for the White Sox after the Sox had paid $25,000 to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League for him a year earlier.

Casey Stengel Arrives, Yanks Sign Kryhosky

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (INS)—The New York arrival of manager Casey Stengel, Feb. 3, and the signing of a recruit third baseman were annouced simultaneously today at Yankee headquarters.

The newest of the Yankees to accept terms is Dick Kryhosky, who hit .294 for the club's Kansas City American Association farms. Kryhosky, 24 and a resident of Leonia, N. J., compiled an impressive extra-base record with 13 home runs, 7 triples and 30 doubles.

Baltimore Court Rule Is Attacked

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Baltimore court rule which restricts news about crimes was attacked today as a "substantial abridgement of liberties" guaranteed by the constitution.

The argument was advanced by four radio stations fighting contempt citations against them because of their broadcasts about a murder case last summer.

The state, Baltimore's Junior and Senior Bar Associations, and the Maryland Civil Liberties Committee contended that the broadcasts endangered the right of Eugene H. James to a fair trial.

Two days after James, a negro handyman, was arrested in July for the slaying of an 11-year-old girl, the four stations broadcast the facts he had confessed and had a previous criminal record.

This violated "Rule 904" of the Baltimore Criminal Court.

The rule was attacked by the stations, the National Association of Broadcasters, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Judge John G. Gray, assigned by the Maryland Court of Appeals from his Southern Maryland circuit to hear the case, listened to the arguments of all those supporting the rule.

He also heard counsel for station WITH and its news editor, James P. Connolly, and the American Civil Liberties Union.

He will continue the hearing tomorrow.

On trial for contempt are WITH and Connolly, stations WCBM and WFBR, all of Baltimore, and WSID of suburban Essex, Md. Station WBAL of Baltimore also was cited but its case was postponed.

Thomas To Continue On Probe Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—House Republican leaders today chose Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) to retain his membership on the Un-American Activities Committee.

The GOP leaders followed tradition in naming Thomas to contiue in the House group, which he served as chairman during the last two years of headline-making investigations under the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

With rare exceptions, holdovers are assigned to their old committees.

Thomas, who has been succeeded as chairman by Rep. Wood (D-Ga) in the new Congress, has not been active in the House group's spy hunts since he was indicted by a federal grand jury last November 8, six days after he was re-elected for his seventh term in Congress.

Commons Vote

the House separating Conservatives and Laborites a scowling Churchill cried out in protest against the refusal to go all the way now toward recognizing Israel.

Churchill served notice Conservatives would force a record vote on the issue—the first major test the Labor government has faced on a question of foreign policy.

With a fat majority in control of the House of Commons the Labor government was certain of riding out a storm of protest—from inside its ranks as well as from the opposition—which has gathered over Palestine issues.

It was increasingly apparent from Bevin's own remarks as well as from other diplomatic sources that Bevin will accord de facto recognition soon. This is a step below de jure recognition—entailing the appointment of an ambassador and full diplomatic relations with the new state.

Bevin put it this way:

"Now that the armistice talks are at last proceeding, the British government have now considered that the time has come when de facto recognition may contribute to the peace settlement."

But he made it clear some things must be done first. These include consultations with British partners in the Commonwealth and with allies under the Western European pact—France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The foreign ministers of the five countries open a two-day meeting here tomorrow. Bevin said Palestine will be discussed.

Acheson Says

Dodges Row With MacArthur

He laughingly side-stepped any kind of potential argument with Gen. Douglas MacArthur with whom he once had a run in in the early days of the Japanese occupation when Acheson was Undersecretary of State.

A reporter asked whether Acheson agreed with MacArthur's view that the recent Japanese elections constituted a victory for "the conservative philosophy of government." Acheson replied that he had not thought about the matter. Then as reporters who recalled the old differences between the two men laughed, Acheson said he thought he would pass that one.

In discussing the President's program for improving world living conditions, the new Secretary emphasized the program's aim is to attain freedom and dignity and fullness of life for peoples in under-developed lands.

By contrast, he said, Communism views man as simply a cog in the machine of the state. He said that is not a modern idea but a "reactionary view—an attempt to crawl back into the cocoon of history."

Pay Of Women Employes Would Be Protected

Kimble Bill Would Curb Discrimination

Sate Senators Kimble (R-Allegany) and Hofferbert introduced a measure in the General Assembly yesterday which would prohibit employers to discriminate against women employes in the matter of pay.

The bill would make it mandatory to pay overtime at a rate of not less than one and one-half times the regular pay for all hours worked in excess of eight hours a day, 40 hours a week or six days in any work week.

It was referred to the Senate Labor Committee.

Meanwhile, the House Judiciary Committee heard a bill to increase the licensing powers of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind described as "arbitrary and monopolistic."

Joseph W. Scholz, an Annapolis attorney, who made this statement, spoke for a group of opponents.

The bill would give the Workshop exclusive authority to issue licenses to blind persons operating concessions in public buildings.

Delegate See (R-Allegany), its sponsor, said his bill would not affect existing stands.

The Judiciary Committee reported favorably on a bill introduced by Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., (R-Allegany), regulating television screens in motor cars.

Witness Savs POWs Disliked "Axis Sally"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A witness at the "Axis Sally" treason trial testified today that American prisoners of war were hostile toward the woman who allegedly betrayed the United State for Nazi gold.

"They didn't like to have her there," said the witness, Inge Sylvia Doman, 32 former announcer for the German radio.

Miss Domah also testified that the defendant, Mildred E. Gillars, 48, related that on one occasion American soldiers who had been captured by the Germans "threatened" her when she attempted to interview them.

The Maine-born defendant is on trial in Federal Court, facing a possible maximum penalty of death in the electric chair if convicted.

Earlier, a stiff-backed former Nazi radio man, Hans Von Richter, 38, definitely identified the voice of Miss Gillars as the voice in the "Axis Sally" broadcasts.

Lafayette Alumni Groups Hint Foul Play In Williamson's Resignation

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (INS)—Bad faith was imputed to football coach Ivy Williamson and possibly the University of Wisconsin today by Lafayette alumni groups in connection with what was described as Williamson's "abrupt" departure for the greener pastures of Madison, Wis.

They hinted darkly, in fact, of dirty work at the double-cross roads somewhere along the line, while being just a little vague about minor details such as where, when—and by whom.

All they seemed to know was this—as of Saturday night last, Williamson was still their 1949 football coach and, allegedly, had indicated he would so remain.

By Monday, he was Wisconsin's. As a result, Lafayette College was supposed to be picking itself dazedly off the pavement, dusting off the bosom of its Sunday pants and looking around for another football coach. Perhaps several, in fact.

They say now it's more than possible that Williamson's staff of assistants may follow him to Madison. In other words, innuendo and hearsay were strident—officially expressed sentiment also inaudible; out of deference, it seemed, to Lafayette President Ralph Hutchinson, who was absent from the campus.

Besides, as Athletic Director William Anderson explained from his Easton, Pa., headquarters:

"I didn't oppose Williamson's move, so I can't very well criticize him for making it. Naturally, I didn't want him to go.

"But I knew that no good would result from an attempt to make him stay."

Williamson, star end and later assistant coach at Michigan under Harry Kipke before joining the Yale staff, had entered the final phase of a three-year contract at Lafayette when the Wisconsin post became available. But, say indignant Lafayette spokesmen, Williamson wasn't — at least, not legally.

His contract, they said, specifically provided that "under no circumstances was Williamson to ask for his release" during its tenure.

Michigan State On Purdue '52 Schedule

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 26 (AP) — Michigan State, recently voted admission to the Western Conference, has been added to Purdue's 1952 football schedule.

Guy Mackey, Purdue athletic director, announced the Spartans will play a home game here on Nov. 1 of that year. This fills one of three open dates on Purdue's 1952 schedule.

Other 1952 opponents for Purdue are Ohio State, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Indiana.

N.I.T. Cage Affair To Open March 12

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — The 1949 National Invitation Basketball Tournament will open at Madison Square Garden here March 12, John Coffey announced today.

Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at Fordham University, is president of the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, sponsor of the tourney.

Quarter-finals will be held March 12 and 14, the semi-finals March 17 and the finals March 19.

A committee which will select the eight teams to be invited to the tourney will be named in the near future.

George McAfee To Join Deacons' Coaching Staff

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Jan. 26 (AP) —George McAfee, one of Duke's all-time football greats, will join Wake Forest's coaching staff with the beginning of spring practice Feb. 7.

McAfee was one of the fastest men in college ball when he played at Duke from 1937 to 1939, having been clocked at 9.7 for the 100-yard dash.

Except for his war service, McAfee has played halfback for the Chicago Bears since he left Durham and in '41 and '42 was named to the National League's All-Star team.

McAfee, a native of Ironton, Ohio, now calls Baltimore home.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

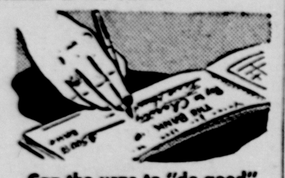
By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is there any way of curing an extravagant wife?

Answer: Husbands sometimes call their wives extravagant because at heart they resent having any of their money spent, except on themselves. But where a wife really squanders money, it is usually either because she has never had a chance to learn its value, or because she's trying to get even for what she feels to be unfair treatment in this respect or in others. Either way, the best "cure" probably is to agree upon a fair division of the family income and let neither partner have more than his or her share without the consent of the other.



Can the urge to "do good" be an escape?

Answer: Yes, and this is why we're apt to be suspicious of "do-gooders." One of the best ways to avoid becoming conscious of your own shortcomings, real or imagined, is by concentrating your attention on your neighbors' troubles, besides which the virtuous feeling that you're "doing them good" helps to keep your conscience quiet. But at the same time you're likely, quite unconsciously, to take out on the people you are "helping" your repressed resentment at the fact that you can't gratify your own forbidden wishes.

Does intelligence stop growing at sixteen?

Answer: The belief that it does—long held by psychologists—seems subject to revision in the light of recent research. For example, tests of more than a thousand persons reported to the Journal of Genetic Psychology by Prof. Robert L. Thorndike of Columbia showed that the age at which the highest scores for intelligence were achieved varied from 21 years and 6 months under one system of reckoning to 25 years and 9 months under another. Certain individuals seem beyond question to gain in intelligence up to the age of 20 or older.

YOU CAN ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL, which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

Read What They Say!

"We have sold Geo-Mineral for the last six months and it has been one of the best selling drug items we have ever handled"—say Porter Bros., pharmacists of Concord, N. C. "Users report amazing results in many instances, and we personally believe Geo-Mineral is a good medicine for purposes as indicated, and recommend it to sufferers who have tried other medicines with little if any results. They may discover that Geo-Mineral is what they have probably been needing and looking for — we unhesitatingly recommend it."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO MINERAL. Do not hesitate on moment. Go to your drug store now Get one bottle. Use it one week. I you are not 100 per cent satisfied we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

We're price-conscious in Millenson's Bargain Annex!

Everyone knows you can buy the finest furniture at Millenson's—handcrafted, with exclusive designs and superb styling. It's expensive, of course—and it's worth it! But not everybody knows that you can also buy good furniture at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES in Millenson's Bargain Annex. No hand-craftmanship, of course. No exclusive designs. When we go shopping for our Bargain Annex, we look for only three things—practical, good-looking styles—and good, solid construction—and the very lowest prices.

We don't buy any junk, because we know that shoddy merchandise is a bad buy, no matter how low the price! We buy good furniture, produced by modern American mass-production methods and machine operations that insure good quality while keeping the cost down. We buy wherever we can get the best bargains, and we bring them to you without any extra trimmings, with the lowest possible handling costs, and with a very small margin of profit. Shop and compare! You'll soon discover that the greatest values and the lowest prices are at Millenson's.

In the Bargain Annex, too, we sell a lot of used furniture that has been taken in trade—and every piece of used furniture is carefully sterilized before it is put on sale. As they're all one-of-a-kind items, and they don't stay long on the floor, it's impossible to advertise them—but experienced shoppers know that it pays to visit the Millenson Bargain Annex occasionally.

Martin Believes Video Has Sport Magnates Edgy

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — In the early 1930's things were bad all over, and particularly bad with the Omaha baseball club.

The team itself could have been worse, if it tried real hard, but the main trouble was attendance. If everyone in the park on an average night had a headache, one aspirin would be all that was needed.

That might be a little exaggeration, but the crowds just weren't and Barney Burch, the owner and a right nice guy, would gaze dejectedly at the rickety old grandstand with the eerie shadows playing tag along the row on row of vacant seats and say:

Many Alibis Offered

"You know what's killing baseball? It's bridge. You drive around the residential section these nice evenings and see the number of bridge parties going on. That's what the fans are doing."

That wasn't the trouble, of course. The trouble was partly due to the depression and partly, in the Omaha club's case, to a general lack of interest fostered by haphazard management and promotion.

We are just citing this as an example of how baseball magnates always are scared, and always are seeking excuses for any drop in attendance.

When automobiles began to become common instead of rich men's playthings, the magnates visioned the fans taking off on nice drives with their families on balmy afternoons, forgetting the ball parks.

When radio came into general use and the games began to go on the air, it was feared attendance would drop like a fly ball out of the sun.

Well, automobiles enabled more people to come from greater distances to attend games, and radio reports of games just whetted the appetites of the fans so that parks bulged at the seams with citizens eager to see what they had been hearing.

Video Is Threat

Now it is television which has the magnate's hair standing at attention. They're scared stiff and, like an outpost sentry, don't know whether the big shadow is friend or foe.

This time it would seem they really do have something to worry about, but you can't be absolutely certain of that. However, whereas radio aroused curiosity, television satisfies it. And when a fellow gets all the ice cream he can eat at home he isn't going to bother about going down to the store.

Television of baseball games isn't as good as it will be. The size and speed of the ball make it difficult to follow, the field is so large and the action on one play covers such a large area that visibility is limited.

It will be much, much better as television progresses, but even as it is now it is good enough to keep many potential fans home. Particularly from night games.

Ban Not Answer

A man can sit in his easy chair and watch the action, with comments, and when the game is over he can switch off the set and go to bed. No battling of crowds, no 1 a. m. bedtimes when he has to get up at 7 a. m. and go to work. Television certainly has its points.

The banning of baseball televising doesn't seem to be the answer. With other programs constantly improving, the entertainment a home will be good enough to keep the fans there. If they can't see baseball they'll watch something else.

Particularly in the evening, when a man can be with his family. The ball clubs might have to return to afternoon games to offset the lures of evening television entertainment.

Ridgeley Will Test Unbeaten Sentinels Tonight

District's Top Quints Play At Fort Hill Gym

Roby, Pence Will Ref; Piedmont Faces Beall

Fort Hill's undefeated Sentinels and Ridgeley High's Blackhawks, the two top scholastic teams in the tri-state district last season, and still front runners for the same honors this season, will tangle tonight at the Fort Hill court in the first game of their annual home-and-home series.

The Sentinels will put a twelve-game winning streak on the line in this game while Coach Jesse Riggleman's boys from the across the Potomac will be shooting for their sixth consecutive triumph. The Hawks will enter the battle with a 7-2 record. Their setbacks were administered by two formidable foes, the Alumni and University High School of Morgantown, W. Va.

Among Fort Hill's victims are Piedmont, twice, 32-26 and 38-27, LaSalle 45-32 and Allegany 39-38. The Mineral County quint defeated Allegany 36-24, LaSalle 44-18 and Piedmont 47-21.

Split Last Season

Last season Coach "Boby" Cavanaugh's city, WMI and Class "A" Maryland champions split even with the Blackhawks, winning at home 36-28 and losing at Ridgeley 30-29. The Sentinels concluded their campaign with a 27-5 record while Riggleman's aggregation copped 22 and dropped two, the second defeat being at the hands of Washington-Irving of Clarksburg in the state tourney at Morgantown.

The game looms as one of the best of the season and should be close and interesting with the Hilltoppers conceded a slight edge on their home floor.

Play will get under way at 8 p. m., with a preliminary tilt set for 6:45.

Clifton Van Roby and Bob Pence have been chosen to officiate.

Records of the teams to date:

Two other scholastic games are on the boards for tonight.

Petersburg High School's amazing Vikings will play hosts to Mathias High School in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Petersburg. It will be the 8th conference tilt for Coach Walt Owens' cagers and they'll be gunning for win No. 5.

Beall Invade Piedmont

Coach "Eddie" Finzel's Beall High floormen will test "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High Lions in the final game of their season series at Piedmont. Beall decisioned the Mineral county quint in a 34-34 thriller earlier in the campaign at Frostburg. Piedmont needs a win to crash the .500 class. The Lions have won four and lost five. A victory for Frostburg would also put the Mountain City quint in the .500 circle. Beall has won five and lost six.

LaSalle Drops 10th Decision To Moorefield

Jackets 4th Period Rally Wins 41 To 29

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 26—A sixteen-point rally in the final period, sparked by Johnny Vance's nine markers, gave the Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets a 41-29 decision over LaSalle High of Cumberland tonight on the locals' court.

The game was a thriller all the way with the leading changing hands several times and never more than four or five points separating the teams until the Jackets broke loose in the last stanza.

Trailing 21-19 at halftime LaSalle came back to deadlock the score at 25-25 as the third quarter closed. Bill Harman's foul broke the tie for Moorefield but Bobby Woods potted a singleton to knot it up once more as the final period got under way. Johnny Vance's fielder then put the Jackets ahead 28-26 and they were never headed thereafter.

Vance poured four fielders and a foul through the nets and Harman popped one goal and three singletons during the last period scoring parade while the visiting Explorers were able to get one field goal and two fouls for four points.

Moorefield led 34-28 at the automatic time out with three minutes to play and steadily increased its margin to win going away.

The loss was the 10th of the season for Coach John Mullaney's Blue and Gold five which has won only four games. Moorefield has copped 11 of 12 starts, dropping only a 41-37 decision to Keyser earlier this month.

Johnny Vance and Bill Harman paced the victorious Jackets with 13 and 12 points respectively, with the latter netting eight of eight chances at the 15-foot stripe.

Bob Woods topped the losers with 12 points on five goals and two of three fouls. The lineups:

Game Is Postponed

The scheduled game between the Piedmont High School Lions and the Fort Ashby High Eagles at Fort Ashby Friday, Jan. 28 has been postponed, Coach Tom Small of Fort Ashby announced last night. The game will be rescheduled at a later date.

Chicago Bout For Louis Is Being Planne

ATLANTA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Joe Louis' attorney is en route to Chicago to discuss a championship fight in June proposed by Joseph T. Plunkett, member of the Cook County Democratic Committee.

The move came on the heels of a statement from Promoter Mike Jacobs that Louis is under contract to him and will fight in New York under sponsorship of the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney, Marshall Miles, his manager, and Harry Mendel, his press agent, stopped off here en route from Miami to Chicago.

Mendel said they have an appointment with Plunkett tomorrow to discuss the championship bout offer. Louis' handlers claim the contract with Jacobs was cancelled because Jacobs no longer is active in the promotion of the 20th Century Club.

Gibson and Miles have been in conference with Jacobs and his attorney, Sol Strauss, in Miami for the past three or four days, Mendel said.

"We want to see what Plunkett has to offer before deciding whether to accept Jacobs' offer," Mendel said.

Sports Columnist To Wed Miss Betz

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Pauline Betz, four times national women's singles tennis champion, will be married Feb. 5 in Los Angeles to Robert R. Addie of Washington, D. C., relatives of the couple said today.

Addie is sports columnist for the Washington Times-Herald. Miss Betz now is a professional tennis player.

Pence Hits Jackpot, 31 Merchants Give Gifts To Coach

Bob Pence, the Dukes' sharpshooting forward, who coached Allegany High School's football team to an undefeated season in 1948 and was voted Maryland's scholastic "coach of the year" hit the jackpot last night at SS. Peter and Paul gym.

At intermission Pence was presented a Hamilton wrist watch with the compliments of 19 Cumberland merchants. Then H. R. "Bob" Whip, business manager of the Dukes, announced that Mr. and Mrs. Pence and their daughter will receive the following gifts from 12 other local merchants:

Dress for Miss Pence, Lingerie for Mrs. Pence, basket of groceries, sports sweater, tank of gasoline, lubrication and wash for his car, lamp, shirt, tie and handkerchief, pair of basketball shoes, hosiery for Mrs. Pence, Wembley ties, tie clasp and plastic playing cards.

In a brief speech of acceptance Pence thanked those who donated the fine gifts and praised his teammates on the Dukes and the boys on his football squad at AHS.

Beall Girls Defeat Grantsville, 30-22

Coach Agnes Howat's Beall High School girls defeated Grantsville High's sextet in the first game of their annual series by the score of 30 to 22 on the Frostburg school's court.

The victory was the third of the season for the Frostburgers who were paced by Miss Hanna with 14 points. Miss Yommer had 10 tallies for the losers.

Beall lead all the way with quarter scores of 14-6, 20-9, and 26-18. The lineups:

Perkins Declared Ineligible At W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—The West Virginia University athletic council today declared ineligible Scott Perkins, regular guard on the basketball team.

Chairman H. M. Fridley said Perkins failed to maintain scholastic requirements.

A transfer last September from Cumberland (Ky.) Junior College, Perkins started 10 of the Mountaineers' 12 games. His 69 points were fourth highest on the squad.

Legion Quint Cops 16th In "Y" League

SPTS—LEAD..Legion Quintet.. ..

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion quint made it 16 in a row in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night by trouncing the Marine Reserves 38-22 on the "Y" court.

In other loop tussles, the B. P. O. Elks edged the Naval Reserve 39-35 in an extra period on the "Y" floor while the Cumberland Amvets dropped a 47-46 thriller to Mapleside Merchants in the preliminary to the East Pittsburgh-Cumberland Dukes fray at SS. Peter and Paul.

The Legion led all the way with Bob Spangler's 14 points heading the attack. The Elks rallied to knot the count 31-31 at the end of the regulation game after trailing all through the contest. Mapleside beat the Amvets at the foul line by converting 7 of 27 fouls to the losers 6-16 as both teams connected for 20 field goals. The lineups:

DiMaggio And Yanks Fail To Reach Terms

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (INS)—Joe DiMaggio discussed 1949 contract terms with the New York Yankees management today and asked his bosses for time to "think over" their proposition.

The offer advanced by Yankee co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb and General Manager George Weiss is generally believed to be among the richest ever tendered a baseball player.

DiMaggio was reliably reported to rank third behind Bob Feller and Ted Williams in last year's salary arrangements. The peerless outfielder had a fine 1948 season, and is known to be seeking a pay boost.

Topping, Webb and Weiss all huddled with DiMaggio today, reflecting the importance of the transaction. A statement from the Yankee office said another meeting will be held at a "later date."

Indian Aces Renege

Feller, Lemon, Bearden Say No To '49 Cleveland Offers

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bobby Feller spoiled the joyful mood around the world champion Cleveland Indians' teepee today by balking on terms of his fat 1949 contract.

Only a day after his manager, Lou Boudreau, cheerfully signed a two-year contract calling for an annual salary of $65,000 or more, the grey-suited fast ball pitcher announced unsmilingly after a conference with President Bill Veeck:

"It's simply a disagreement over the number of fans the Indians will draw this year. That's all."

But that number is important. The gravy in Feller's contract after a guaranteed starter of $40,000-odd, has been in those attendance bonuses.

And it's there where the expected pay cut will come. Feller estimated the slash — before today — at $10,000.

In 1947 and 1948 his salary is believed to have hovered above $80,000.

Veeck took the position today the Tribe would draw approximately as many fans as last year's record-breaking 2,600,000. Feller felt the 1949 attendance might not be as high.

Yet Feller isn't the only member of the world champs showing a tendency towards displeasure at his 1949 salary. For example:

Gene Bearden, the star pitcher of the world series, wants to see Veeck about the figure in his proferred contract.

And Kenny Keltner, the Indians' third baseman, telephoned Veeck today to say there were a few contract clauses he wanted to talk to him about. They will meet in Milwaukee Feb. 14.

In fact, only four contracts have been returned to the Indians' office, outside of Boudreau's. They have come from less important players and rookies.

The next Feller-Veeck conference will be the week of Feb. 6. Feller will be in New York then to attend a sports writers' banquet.

Hank Greenberg, Mel Ott Touted For Hall Of Fame

75 Percent Vote Is Needed For Entry

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (AP)—The Baseball Hall of Fame poll is on again and it is almost certain that in a couple of weeks two new names—Mel Ott and Hank Greenberg—will be added to the 55 already immortalized in the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Veteran scribes of the Baseball Writer Association of America—those who have been members for 10 or more years—have been asked to name 10 men for election. A candidate must receive at least 75 per cent of the total vote cast.

75 Percent Needed

If the first vote fails to produce a choice, the rules provide for a second poll, in which the 20 leaders are presented and each voter is asked to name five. Players who retired before 1927 are barred. If none is approved by 75 per cent of the writers' votes after two ballots, none is elected.

Ott and Greenberg, however, ought to make it on the first ballot. Both were champion sluggers in their day, both made contributions to the game, and both were known as "nice guys." The latter will be a factor in the voting, because voters are influenced that way.

This is the first year in which Ott and Greenberg have been eligible, under the voting rules limiting the list to men whose playing days are over. Ott's inactivity as a player in 1948 makes him eligible. Ott not only quit as a player, but resigned as manager of the New York Giants last summer, bringing on the transfer of Leo Durocher from Flatbush to Harlem.

Finished With Pirates

Greenberg ended his playing career with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1947 and last year devoted himself to front office duties as vice president of the Cleveland Indians. He became the minor league farm overseer this year.

Ott's baseball career is one of the most sensational in history. He came to the Giants from Louisiana at the age of 16. Twenty-two years later, he still was with the Giants having never spent a day in the minors.

In those 22 years, Ott compiled more records than any other player with the exception of Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth. He hammered more home runs than any other National Leaguer. He also led that circuit in most runs scored, most runs batted in, most long hits and most extra base hits. On 49 different days he hit two homers in a single game. A splendid outfielder with a fine arm, Ottie also played second and third base when called upon. And he reported to John McGraw as a catcher.

Dangerous Slugger

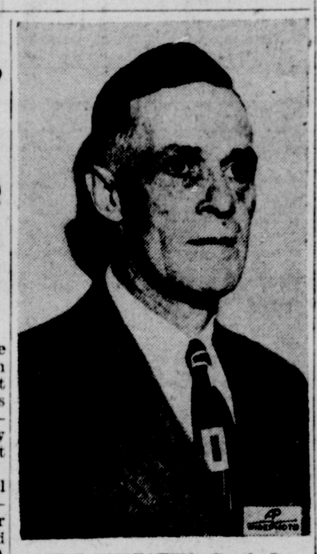
Greenberg was one of the most dangerous righthanded hitters in baseball. Only Jimmy Foxx, among the righthanded hitters in baseball history, ever swatted as many homers, 58, in a single season. No other hitter ever cracked two or more homers in 11 different games during a single season. Four times he led the American League in runs batted in and in home runs. His lifetime batting average for 12 years with the Detroit Tigers and one with the Pirates was well above .300.

Others up for consideration include such outstanding stars of their day as Bill Dickey, Gabby Hartnett, Al Simons, Bill Terry, Harry Heilmann, Dizzy Dean, Dazzy Vance, Goose Goslin, Tony Lazzeri, Chuck Klein and Foxx.

Like Ott and Greenberg, this is the first time Dickey has become eligible. The former great catcher of the New York Yankees, who is now engaged by the club as a coach, was out of baseball during the 1948 season.

Pirates Sign Higbe

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the signing of Pitcher Kirby Higbe. The 33-year-old hurler appeared in 30 games as a relief hurler last season, winning eight and losing seven.



STILL UNBEATEN—Coach Joe Hutton (above) has one of the nation's four unbeaten college cage teams in Hamline University's crack quintet. The Hamline five edged past their arch rivals, St. Thomas, Tuesday night 52-49 for their 14th straight victory. Minnesota, Villanova and Western Kentucky are the other three undefeated teams.

Mikan's Lead In BAA Threatened By Warrior Ace

Joe Fulks Attempts To Return Laurels

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Look out Mr. Mikan. Joe Fulks is shooting your way and he has a "record" look in his eye.

"Tell George Mikan he isn't the scoring champion of the Basketball Association of America yet," Fulks said today. Mikan, of Minneapolis, is the current BAA scoring leader with 978 points.

And Joe means what he says. The six foot, five inch native of Kuttawa, Ky., points to the records of recent weeks to prove that his warning to Mikan has plenty of foundation.

In six Philadelphia Warriors games since January 14 Fulks, holder of all point records in the BAA, has poured 196 points through the hoops, an average of 32.3 per game. His backboard work and all-around play has been great against such rough and tumble aggregations as Chicago, Minneapolis and Baltimore.

Won't Trade Fulks

Warrior Manager Eddie Gottlieb, a coach of professional basketball teams for more than 20 years, says he wouldn't trade Fulks for Mikan and $10,000.

"Mikan may be 60 points ahead of Joe in scoring," said Gottlieb, "but neither he nor any other basketball player on any floor today has the shots that Fulks commands.

"I've been Joe's coach for three seasons now—and continue to marvel at his ability to get off one and two handed shots from any angle.

"He's a basketball once-in-a-lifetime."

Fulks appears to be duplicating his performance in the 1946-47 season when the Kuttawa clipper set an all-time professional basketball scoring record of 1,611 points.

At the end of his first 36 games two years ago, Joe had 869 points and an average of 24 a game. This season after the same number of games, Fulks is 14 points ahead of the record season with 883 points and a 24.5 average. He scored 35 points last night in his 37th game.

Mikan's Position Better

The Warriors ace needs to average 20.4 points in his remaining 23 games to break his regular season BAA point record of 1,389. As for the all-time mark, it depends on how far the Warriors go in the post-season playoffs. Joe needed 10 playoff games in 1946-47 to set his 1,611 point record.

Naturally Mikan is in a much better position to break both of Fulk's records. He's 60 points in front of Joe at the present time and has played in two less games.

Bearcats Still Tops

Rhode Island State Narrows Gap In College Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cincinnati's point-making Bearcats still lead the nation's major college basketball teams in scoring, but the gap between them and the runners-up is narrowing.

The Bearcats, according to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics of games through Jan. 22, had scored an average of 72.7 points in 12 games. This is 1.7 points below their top figure of a week ago.

Closing in on Cincinnati are Rhode Island State, 72.4, Illinois, 70.5, Yale, 70.3, and unbeaten Western Kentucky, 70.1. Thus only 2.6 points separate the pace-setter from the fifth place team.

Oklahoma A. & M. is far in front in team defense. The possession-minded cowpokes have surrendered an average of only 34.3 points per contest. Siena of upstate New York is the far-trailing runner-up with an average of 40.6, followed by Michigan, 41.5 and Minnesota, 41.3.

Western Michigan's collection of hot-shots has canned 317 of 814 throws to move into first place in field goals percentage with a mark of .389. Seton Hall is second with .383 and Wyoming, last week's pace-setter, is third with .381.

Colorado has taken over first in foul shooting, with 121 of 169 charity heaves for a .716 average. The Buffalos were third in this department last week. Valparaiso is second with .707 and New York U. third with .695.

The national leaders:

OFFENSE—Cincinnati 72.7 points average in 12 games; Rhode Island State 72.4 in 11; Illinois 70.5 in 13; Yale 70.3 in 15; Western Kentucky 70.1 in 15; Bowling Green (O) 69.5 in 15; New York U., 69.1 in 10; Bradley 69.1 in 20; CCNY 68.6 in 13; Louisville 68.1 in 22.

DEFENSE—Oklahoma A. & M. 34.3 points against in 12 games; Seina 40.6 in 14; Michigan 41.5 in 11; Minnesota 41.8 in 13; Kentucky 42.8 in 13; Loyola (Chicago) 42.8 in 15; Washington State 42.3 in 19; Kansas 43.2 in 14; Alabama 44.1 in 13; Wyoming 44.2 in 10.

Cumberland's Dukes put on a garrison finish to edge the East Pittsburgh Pirates by the score of 55-49 in an All-American Professional Basketball League game last night at SS. Peter and Paul gym before approxmiately 500 fans on "Bob Pence Night."

Playing erratic and ragged ball for three periods and trailing 44-41 at the close of the third quarter, Coach "Red" Klotz's warriors came back with a vengence in the final 10-minute stanza and tucked away the ball game by outpointing the Crum-Urso aggregation 14 to 5.

Pence, Bell Turn Tide

Bob Pence and Lou Bell turned the tide in favor of the home team in the battle down the home stretch when they tossed in eight points during a nine-point outburst that settled the issue.

With eight minutes to go in the final quarter and the Buccaneers in front, 44-41, Pence put the Dukes ahead at 45-44 with a fielder and two free throws. Then Bell, who was having a tough time with his shots all evening, came through in the "clutch" by heaving in one from the sidelines. Lou came back with a lay-up and Gus Frizzell meshed a foul shot to run the count to 50-44 with four minutes remaining. Before the final whistle Pence connected for another goal and Paul Oberhaus, Klotz and Frizzell netted fouls for the locals while Matty Vaniell got a fielder and three free throws for the Steel City outfit.

While the Dukes were far off in their shooting in the first half they managed to stay right in the thick of the fight, thanks to Bob Pence's accurate shooting. The locals' corner shot specialist racked up five field goals and three fouls for 13 of the Dukes' 31 markers.

Score Tied Six Times

During the first half the score was knotted six times—at 6, 13, 14, 16, 18 and 28—and the lead changed hands no less than eight times. Klotz started the home team off to a 4-0 lead by scoring fielders in rapid succession and the Dukes held the lead until the veteran Freddie Crum tied it up at 6-6. Pence's corner shot sent the locals ahead at 16-14 as the first period ended.

After the score was knotted at 28-28 late in the second period on Pence's foul, Bob scored again at the 15-foot line when a technical foul was plastered on Matty Vaniel and Jim Clevenger hit the target from the sidelines to give the Dukes the long end of a 31-28 score at intermission.

Early in the third period Joe Urso's long shot and John Kelly's lay-up sent Pittsburgh to the front at 32-31 and the Free Booters stayed there throughout the period which ended with the score 44-41.

The lead changed hands 10 times during the game and the biggest margin in points was seven when Oberhaus' foul make it 53-46 in the final heat with 3:08 to play.

Pence Scores 21 Points

Pence's shooting highlighted the locals play. Instead of "blowing up" as most athletes do on "their night," Bob played one of his best games of the season and accounted for 21 points on eight fielders and five for five at the charity line. Vaniel, Crum and Urso paced Pittsburgh with 13, 12 and 10 points.

Both teams excelled at foul shooting, the Dukes hooping 13 of 16 while the Pirates converted 13 of 18 shots. Fourteen personal fouls were called on each team and one technical on the losers.

The victory gave the Dukes undisputed possession of 3rd place and the defeat shoved the Pirates into the 4th slot. The Dukes will play Butler here on Sunday night. Lineups:

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25.—(INS)—While Gene Tierney was busy in New York turning down "Everybody Does It," 20th Century-Fox up and signed Ida Lupino to a two picture deal, giving Ida a movie originally intended for Gene.

Xavier Cugat

That movie, "Methinks the Lady," based on Guy Endore's book, was bought with Miss Tierney in mind. It starts in March with Otto Preminger as the director and Richard Widmark as Ida's co-star. Ida and Widmark were so good in "Roadhouse" and brought the dollars into the box office, it will be interesting to see them together again.

I would have bet my last kopek when Gene was put into "Everybody Does It" with Linda Darnell, she would back out. Most of her refusals in the past have been pictures in which the glamorous Linda was also scheduled to appear.

Who gets Montgomery Clift? It has been widely rumored that he had agreed to play in "Sunset Strip" for Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder. True, he has an oral commitment with Paramount for one picture, but I doubt if this is it.

I believe he will sign with 20th Century-Fox to co-star with Gregory Peck in "The Virgin Bar," which Elia Kazan will direct.

Greg, by the way, if he goes to Rome at all for "Quo Vadis," will wait until after Greta has her baby in June.

An unscheduled performance at the Washington inauguration was given by Xavier Cugat who took a chihuahua to Margaret Truman as a gift from the Latin-American nations. The little dog had a big red ribbon and a card around his neck which read: "My full name is Independence, Mo., but since I am so tiny, just call me Mo."

When Cugie approached the presidential box to make the presentation, the whole Secret Service descended upon him and said it was impossible to give Miss Truman the dog during the ceremony—which was understandable. So, Cugie and the pup spent the rest of the day posing for photographers.

Lafayette Alumni Groups Hint Foul Play In Williamson's Resignation

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (INS)—Bad faith was imputed to football coach Ivy Williamson and possibly the University of Wisconsin today by Lafayette alumni groups in connection with what was described as Williamson's "abrupt" departure for the greener pastures of Madison, Wis.

They hinted darkly, in fact, of dirty work at the double-cross roads somewhere along the line, while being just a little vague about minor details such as where, when—and by whom.

All they seemed to know was this—as of Saturday night last, Williamson was still their 1949 football coach and, allegedly, had indicated he would so remain.

By Monday, he was Wisconsin's. As a result, Lafayette College was supposed to be picking itself dazedly off the pavement, dusting off the bosom of its Sunday pants and looking around for another football coach. Perhaps several, in fact.

They say now it's more than possible that Williamson's staff of assistants may follow him to Madison.

In other words, innuendo and hearsay were strident—officially expressed sentiment also inaudible; out of deference, it seemed, to Lafayette President Ralph Hutchinson, who was absent from the campus.

Besides, as Athletic Director William Anderson explained from his Easton, Pa., headquarters:

"I didn't oppose Williamson's move, so I can't very well criticize him for making it. Naturally, I didn't want him to go.

"But I knew that no good would result from an attempt to make him stay."

Williamson, star end and later assistant coach at Michigan under Harry Kipke before joining the Yale staff, had entered the final phase of a three-year contract at Lafayette when the Wisconsin post became available. But, say indignant Lafayette spokesmen, Williamson wasn't — at least, not legally.

His contract, they said, specifically provided that "under no circumstances was Williamson to ask for his release" during its tenure.

Michigan State On Purdue '52 Schedule

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 26 (AP) — Michigan State, recently voted admission to the Western Conference, has been added to Purdue's 1952 football schedule.

Guy Mackey, Purdue athletic director, announced the Spartans will play a home game here on Nov. 1 of that year. This fills one of three open dates on Purdue's 1952 schedule.

Other 1952 opponents for Purdue are Ohio State, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Indiana.

N.I.T. Cage Affair To Open March 12

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — The 1949 National Invitation Basketball Tournament will open at Madison Square Garden here March 12, John Coffey announced today.

Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at Fordham University, is president of the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, sponsor of the tourney.

Quarter-finals will be held March 12 and 14, the semi-finals March 17 and the finals March 19.

A committee which will select the eight teams to be invited to the tourney will be named in the near future.

George McAfee To Join Deacons' Coaching Staff

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Jan. 26 (AP) —George McAfee, one of Duke's all-time football greats, will join Wake Forest's coaching staff with the beginning of spring practice Feb. 7.

McAfee was one of the fastest men in college ball when he played at Duke from 1937 to 1939, having been clocked at 9.7 for the 100-yard dash.

Except for his war service, McAfee has played halfback for the Chicago Bears since he left Durham and in '41 and '42 was named to the National League's All-Star team.

McAfee, a native of Ironton, Ohio, now calls Baltimore home.

Section Tournament To Be In Thomas

THOMAS, W. Va.—Thomas will be the scene for Region 3, Section 15, Class B., basketball tournament on March 4 and 5th with Thomas and Davis meeting in the opening game. The winner will play Bayard the next day to decide the championship.

Thomas has a record to date of six losses and three wins. Bayard has had six losses and two wins and Davis has won six and lost three.

Director of the tournament will be Stelman Harper principal of Thomas High School.

New Hillbilly Show On MBS; Lamour Guesting

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Further realignment of its schedule brings a new hill billy show to the MBS network Thursday night. It goes in at 10 for the department (along with sponsor) Thin Man who-dun-it.

The show is described as a "new hill-billy variety program having all the personalities heard on Ozark valley folks with guest entertainers along with the team of Skeets and Frankie." It has St. Louis origination.

Doubling up with Dorothy Lamour will be Red Skelton of the radio and sometimes movies and Douglas Fairbanks jr., of the movies and sometimes radio. Time 9:30 on NBC.

Both Claire Trevor, ex-Big Towner, and Cornel Wilde are to work together cooperatively for the acting of "Walls of Jericho" via Screen Guild of NBC at 10. This Jericho, incidentally, is located in Kansas . . . . Robert Montgomery is to get in Suspense again on CBS at 9 so that he can act "Odd Man out."

Elisabeth Bergner is scheduled for the We Care drama on ABC at 10:30 on the first anniversary of the radio series . . . . First Nighter, CBS 10:30, is turning to what it calls a mystery Romance under the title of "Quoth the Raven."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Children Of Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD

This place teems with children of movie and radio stars and the other big shots of the entertainment world, some of the most beautiful and pampered children in the world. They are rather odd customers, these children, and I'm not at all sure how they'd adjust to any other society but this.

John Crosby

Out in Brentwood where movie folk are thick as oranges, there is a hierarchy of governesses whose standing in the community is governed rigidly by the nature of their charges. The children in this caste-conscious community rank in the order of their illustrious parents, a producer's children, for example, outranking an actor's children. This automatically puts the governess in a somewhat higher bracket—no matter what her earnings are—and naturally she views a lesser governess with some constraint like a Boston dowager meeting one of the younger set whose ancestors didn't get here until 1712.

• — • — •

"We had a governess once and there were only certain children she'd let ours play with," Groucho Marx explained. "This governess had worked for a lot of important people in pictures and she had a position to maintain."

The governesses and their small fry run into one another frequently at schools or at parties and on these occasions they introduce the kids by the name of their parents rather than by their own. "These are Dore Schary's children." Or: "This is Judy Garland's little girl. Miss Garland is Mrs. Vincente Minelli but she gets top billing, of course. This practice of associating the children with the biggest marquee name is sometimes taken to extremes. There are a couple of nice kids who are known here as Walter Pidgeon's nephew and niece.

At parties the caste system sometimes wreaks havoc since children everywhere enjoy showing off. After one party a small girl was discovered crying bitterly. She was the only child in the room whose parents didn't have a projection room. All important film stars and producers have projection rooms and the kids quickly pick up the idea that a projection room is one of the ordinary necessities of life like a Cadillac.

There is an exchange agreement between studios whereby important stars or executives can obtain almost any feature film for home consumption. If a child has been good all day, he gets an hour of Rita Hayworth the way the rest of us used to be told bedtime stories.

• — • — •

Early in life the children pick up the patois of the studios as children everywhere pick up grownup speech. The following snatch of conversation between two eleven-year-old girls was taken down verbatim by a feminine accomplice of mine in the ladies room of a country club: "Her father would be making Westerns if it weren't for my father. Why, Daddy gave him screen credit in three pictures he had nothing to do with."

The whelps of the famous are surrounded by coaches of all varieties—swimming instructors, boxing instructors, tennis instructors. One day Chico Marx's little boy was playing with George Burns' youngster and displayed a marvelous agility climbing trees.

"Who is your climbing instructor?" inquired the small Burns.

Nevertheless the celebrated citizens of Hollywood are sincerely crazy about children and they may yet restore the large family to national popularity. Don Ameche, for example, has six children. Twenty years ago a family of that size would have doomed him to obscurity. Charles Correll, the Andy of Amos 'n' Andy, has five kids. Almost every office is littered with the pictures of children and most of the famous parents carry photographs which will be thrust on you almost immediately.

In fact, it's wise to carry pictures of your own progeny in self-defense.

Far East Plans A World's Fair

HONG KONG (AP) — The Far East's first world's fair will be held on Bangkok next year, Noel Rosefelt, a representative of Catalina Wild Life Expeditions, San Francisco, said in Kong Kong.

The fair, which already has the approval of the Siamese Government, will be opened by the King of Siam at Lumpini Park, Bangkok, December 5, 1949.

Rosefelt, one of the fair's promoters, arrived her with a collection of tropical birds, rare reptiles and elephants which he is taking back to the United States. One of the highlights of the fair, Rosefelt said, will be an Oriental beauty contest, the winners of which will be given Hollywood screen tests and tours of the USA.

Elephants with howdahs will give visitors a birds-eye view of the fair while sampans and motor boats will carry visitors through the canals surrounding the fair site. Rosefelt said he intended bringing a miniature "Coney Island" to the fair to add a touch of western amusement.

New buildings and hotels are planned to house an estimated 1,000,000 tourists. Rosefelt said he is making arrangements for 50,000 American visitors. Of th fair's 1500 concessions, the United States has been allocated 200, Rosefelt said.

Martin Believes Video Has Sport Magnates Edgy

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — In the early 1930's things were bad all over, and particularly bad with the Omaha baseball club.

The team itself could have been worse, if it tried real hard, but the main trouble was attendance. If everyone in the park on an average night had a headache, one aspirin would be all that was needed.

That might be a little exaggeration, but the crowds just weren't and Barney Burch, the owner and a right nice guy, would gaze dejectedly at the rickety old grandstand with the eerie shadows playing tag along the row on row of vacant seats and say:

Many Alibis Offered

"You know what's killing baseball? It's bridge. You drive around the residential section these nice evenings and see the number of bridge parties going on. That's what the fans are doing."

That wasn't the trouble, of course. The trouble was partly due to the depression and partly, in the Omaha club's case, to a general lack of interest fostered by haphazard management and promotion.

We are just citing this as an example of how baseball magnates always are scared, and always are seeking excuses for any drop in attendance.

When automobiles began to become common instead of rich men's playthings, the magnates visioned the fans taking off on nice drives with their families on balmy afternoons, forgetting the ball parks.

When radio came into general use and the games began to go on the air, it was feared attendance would drop like a fly ball out of the sun.

Well, automobiles enabled more people to come from greater distances to attend games, and radio reports of games just whetted the appetites of the fans so that parks bulged at the seams with citizens eager to see what they had been hearing.

Video Is Threat

Now it is television which has the magnate's hair standing at attention. They're scared stiff and, like an outpost sentry, don't know whether the big shadow is friend or foe.

This time it would seem they really do have something to worry about, but you can't be absolutely certain of that. However, whereas radio aroused curiosity, television satisfies it. And when a fellow gets all the ice cream he can eat at home he isn't going to bother about going down to the store.

Television of baseball games isn't as good as it will be. The size and speed of the ball make it difficult to follow, the field is so large and the action on one play covers such a large area that visibility is limited.

It will be much, much better as television progresses, but even as it is now it is good enough to keep many potential fans home. Particularly from night games.

Ban Not Answer

A man can sit in his easy chair and watch the action, with comments, and when the game is over he can switch off the set and go to bed. No battling of crowds, no 1 a. m. bedtimes when he has to get up at 7 a. m. and go to work. Television certainly has its points.

The banning of baseball televising doesn't seem to be the answer. With other programs constantly improving, the entertainment a home will be good enough to keep the fans there. If they can't see baseball they'll watch something else.

Particularly in the evening, when a man can be with his family. The ball clubs might have to return to afternoon games to offset the lures of evening television entertainment.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25.—(INS)—While Gene Tierney was busy in New York turning down "Everybody Does It," 20th Century-Fox up and signed Ida Lupino to a two picture deal, giving Ida a movie originally intended for Gene.

Xavier Cugat

That movie, "Methinks the Lady," based on Guy Endore's book, was bought with Miss Tierney in mind. It starts in March with Otto Preminger as the director and Richard Widmark as Ida's co-star. Ida and Widmark were so good in "Roadhouse" and brought the dollars into the box office, it will be interesting to see them together again.

I would have bet my last kopek when Gene was put into "Everybody Does It" with Linda Darnell, she would back out. Most of her refusals in the past have been pictures in which the glamorous Linda was also scheduled to appear.

Who gets Montgomery Clift? It has been widely rumored that he had agreed to play in "Sunset Strip" for Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder. True, he has an oral commitment with Paramount for one picture, but I doubt if this is it.

I believe he will sign with 20th Century-Fox to co-star with Gregory Peck in "The Virgin Bar," which Elia Kazan will direct.

Greg, by the way, if he goes to Rome at all for "Quo Vadis," will wait until after Greta has her baby in June.

An unscheduled performance at the Washington inauguration was given by Xavier Cugat who took a chihuahua to Margaret Truman as a gift from the Latin-American nations. The little dog had a big red ribbon and a card around his neck which read: "My full name is Independence, Mo., but since I am so tiny, just call me Mo."

When Cugie approached the presidential box to make the presentation, the whole Secret Service descended upon him and said it was impossible to give Miss Truman the dog during the ceremony—which was understandable. So, Cugie and the pup spent the rest of the day posing for photographers.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Harry Ritzes have a date with the stork for late August. This will be their second child.

I met Rita Johnson and her mother in Trabert and Hoeffer's a few days ago, and I must say I am delighted with the way Rita looks. She has improved so much since I last saw her.

Apparently Jimmy Stewart won't be going to Broadway for "Mr. Roberts" this summer, on account of Hank Fonda has decided to stay there all summer himself. That means the movie won't be made for sometime.

The Kauffman House, which Aly Khan's representative looked at for Rita Hayworth, was once sought by Mae West. It's a mammoth place on the Pacific palisades with a view of the ocean.

Mervyn and Kitty Le Roy are giving a party for Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Byfield, who arrive here today. They will be at the Beverly Hills hotel. They go to Palm Springs for the weekend and return here Tuesday.

Pauline McMartin, just back from Paris where she left a devoted suitor, at Ciro's with Richard Ney. Her low cut gowns always fascinate me.

The passing of Joe Cawthorn, beloved actor, is the second death in the trio which was so famous on the stage. Donald Brian died about a month ago. In the old days it was Julia Sanderson, Donald Brian and Joe Cawthorn.

Gloria Swanson is being accompanied to the coast by her mother, Mrs. Woodruff. Her rumored romance with W. E. Sprackling, executive of Anaconda Copper, isn't a romance at all. Sprackling is married and an old friend of Gloria.

Greer Garson and Buddy Fogelson at a table for two at the Lana! room of the Beverly ... Hotel. Sitting nearby were Joan Bennett, Walter Wanger and Melinda.

That's all today.

The Grand Army of the Republic was first formed in Decatur, Ill., April 6, 1866, at the suggestion of Dr. B. F. Stephenson.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"That's a terrible tax to pay, Fignewton . . . can't you figure your income like you do when I want a new dress or something?"

U. S. Steel Proves Toast Of Yesterday's Trading

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—U. S. Steel common stock was the toast of today's market.

Orders to buy streamed into the exchange and raised the price 4⅝ points to 77½. The buying rush was touched off by news that directors had voted a special one dollar common dividend and recommended to stockholders a proposal to split the stock on the basis of three shares for one. In addition, the company reported the largest earnings in 1948 since 1929.

Interest in big steel appeared to spread to other steel stocks. The balance of the market, though, turned in a sloppy performance.

While leading steels moved up fractions to around three points, other key issues showed a majority of losses running to above a point.

Among losers by fractions to a point or so were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Schenley, Distillers Corp., Consolidated Natural Gas, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott Copper, American Can, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Radio Corp., International Paper, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Standard Oil N.J.), Gulf Oil, Mission Corp., Pan American Airways, Transcontinental & Western Air and Paramount Pictures.

A few managed to inch ahead, including General Motors, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, American Telephone, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric, Phillip Morris, and American Tobacco.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .2 of one point to 65.3, the third average decline in a row. Of the 990 issues which appeared on the ticker tape, 441 declined and 299 advanced.

Sales increased to 1,040,000 shares, a high since January 7. This compared with 810,000 Tuesday.

Turnover, lowest this week, totaled $3,324,000, compared with $3,570,000 Tuesday.

New Dress Shop To Open In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Sarah Edwards Harris will open a new ladies' ready-to-wear shop at 45 East Main Street today in a building she and her husband, Gus Harris owns. It was formerly occupied by Harold C. Carl, photographer.

Mrs. Harris will manage the business and Mrs. Helen Ferree will be employed in the office. Mrs. Coleen Humbertson, this city, formerly employed in a Cumberland dress shop, has accepted a position on the sales staff.

Homemakers Will Install Officers

WESTERNPORT — Newly-elected officers of the Westernport Homemakers Club will be installed at their January meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of the president, Mrs. George Brode, Spruce Street.

Mrs. Brode will name committees for the year and plans will be made for the annual anniversary banquet next month.

Miss Maude Bean, Cumberland, county home demonstration agent, is expected to outline the program for the year. Refreshments will be served.

Kempton P-TA Discusses March Of Dimes Fund

KEMPTON — Plans for raising money for the March of Dimes Campaign were discussed at the January meeting of the Kempton School Parent-Teacher Association January 18 at the school.

Mrs. Valeria Burdock, president, presided and Miss Burnetta Arnold, principal, reported on a principal's meeting in Oakland recently.

Also attending were Mrs. Stanley Uchic, Mrs. Otto Sowers, Mrs. Walter Turek, Mrs. Dewey Meyers and Mrs. L. W. Duling.

Mrs. Edna McIntosh, Clark Williams Wed

WESTERNPORT — The wedding of Mrs. Edna McIntosh, Westernport, and Clark Wiliams, Wilmington, Del., who were married Friday night, January 21, at Trinity Methodist Church parsonage, Oakview, has been announced. The singlering ceremony was performed by Rev. O. Clarence Mitchell, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schroyer, Westernport, were the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Williams' daughter, Karen McIntosh, have gone to Wilmington to reside.

Grantsville Personals

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Salisbury, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnson, Frostburg, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Kelly and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards have returned home after attending the funeral of Mrs. Bridget V. Rafferty at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Simpson, Nikep.

Mrs. Bess Williams, Addison, Pa., is a patient in Confluence Hospital after being injured in an automobile accident. She is a sister of Mrs. Olen Yoder, Grantsville.

Clyde Bowman, near Grantsville, who had pneumonia for four weeks, is able to be out but has not been able to return to work.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The position of the treasury January 24:

Net budget receipts, $531,049,257.94; budget expenditures, $123,563,332.21; cash balance, $3,746,736,779.17, customs receipts for month, $20,142,991-.39; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $20,103,315,486.04; budget expenditures fiscal year, $19,673,502,129.61X; budget surplus, $419,813,356.43Y; total debt, $252,363,399,511.35; increase over previous day, $6,201,885-.55; gold assets, $24,267,769,121.61.

Marxes Will End 31 Years, Partnership

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26—(INS)—The Marx Brothers are breaking a 31-year partnership and from now on will go it alone. No trouble; just a belief that they can do better in individual performances. "Love Happy" is the last picture they make together.

Louella Parsons

Chico has signed with Lester Cowan to co-star with Dick Haymes in a western, "Dusty Trail." He plays, times in his life, a straight character. Chico has left for an engagement in London and "Dusty Trail" won't be made until he returns.

Groucho is already making a picture with Frank Sinatra.

Dick, who has been eager to make another movie so that he could remain in Hollywood, signed before he left for the east.

Jane Wyman will not be finished with "The Octopus" in time to receive the London Express award for her performance in "Johnny Belinda." So who do you think is going to accept the check for her? Ronald Reagan, who will still be there making "The Hasty Heart!"

Jane leaves for London for "Man Running," the Alfred Hitchcock picture, as soon as she finishes with Mike Curtiz. She is taking the two children with her, and will probably spend the summer in London.

Speaking of Mike, "Your Dream Is Mine" is a honey of a picture. I caught it at a preview and it is really a swell musical.

• — • — •

My old friend, Charles Coburn, may well become in Donald O'Connor's movie life, what Barry Fitzgerald is in Bing Crosby's. At least they are so hepped up at Universal-International on how the team clicks in "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" that Bill Goetz has lined up another big technicolor opus.

As I get it—this will be a satire on the Robin Hood legend operating under the temporary title of "Son Of Robin Hood." Leonard Goldstein will produce.

If ever there was a time when Donald was unhappy about his assignments not being big enough, that belongs to the past. The musical comedy kid is getting the breaks these days.

• — • — •

Darryl Hickman, who is 16 years old on the nose, goes into "Any Number Can Play," as Clark's nearly-grown son. An interesting thing about Darryl's career—he has never seemed to hit the awkward age when most youngsters have to take time off.

• — • — •

Marie Allison, former Hollywood actress, and once the light in George Raft's eyes, is now finding the company of Ned Schuyler, owner of the Beachcomber in Miami Beach, pleasant.

Wayne Morris had a freak accident yesterday when a sea gull flew through the windshield of his car. Wayne was cut about the face and was lucky he didn't have a more serious accident.

Carl Brisson, who once owned the Palladium in London, has signed to do an engagement there in September. Interestingly enough, Val Parnell, the present owner, was once Carl's press agent.

Mrs. Harry Brand can talk of nothing else but her namesake, Sybil, the L. B. Mayer thoroughbred which sold for $50,000. She was at the sale when Sybil was put up, and her only regret was that the yearling went to an eastern owner.

Laraine Day received a new car from Leo Durocher on her second wedding anniversary last Friday. She is going to join him at his spring training camp the latter part of February after she completes the movie she is making.

Mrs. Mack Kriendler, who was in Florida getting a divorce from the owner of "21," was called back to the bedside of her 12-year-old son, who fell off his bicycle and suffered a serious concussion.

Humphrey Bogart is the despair of the nurse and Lauren. He wants to take movies of his son every five minutes. It's wonderful to talk with him and hear him sound off about his child. He's like every other new and happy father—only more so.

Mark Wood and Irvor Kenway, president and vice-president of ABC, arrive here January 31, according to a letter just received.

Stockyards Report Good Run Here

The Cumberland Stockyards reported a very good run of stock Tuesday with the market steady. There was not much change in prices except for cattle and chickens which sold a shade lower, officials said. The report:

Medium to good steers 19½-21.90; plain and medium steers 17-19; medium and light heifers 17-19; medium to good cows 15-17; shelly cows 12-15.

Medium to good bulls 19-21.75; light and plain bulls 16-20; medium to good veal calves 33-35; light and plain calves 15-30.

Sunday School Class Meets

GRANTSVILLE — The Sunshine Class of the Methodist Sunday School met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Yoder Monday night.

Twenty-three members attended. Mrs. E. J. Hays was co-hostess.

Carloads Decrease

Carloads handled on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad last week showed a drop from the previous week's figures and a decrease under the total for the same week in 1948.

Last week's total was 58,502 carloads, consisting of 37,794 loaded on line and 20,708 received from connections. The previous week's total was 59,890, and the figure for the same week of 1948 was [illegible]702.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

New Hillbilly Show On MBS; Lamour Guesting

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Further realignment of its schedule brings a new hill billy show to the MBS network Thursday night. It goes in at 10 for the department (along with sponsor) Thin Man who-dun-it.

The show is described as a "new hill-billy variety program having all the personalities heard on Ozark valley folks with guest entertainers along with the team of Skeets and Frankie." It has St. Louis origination.

Doubling up with Dorothy Lamour will be Red Skelton of the radio and sometimes movies and Douglas Fairbanks jr., of the movies and sometimes radio. Time 9:30 on NBC.

Both Claire Trevor, ex-Big Towner, and Cornel Wilde are to work together cooperatively for the acting of "Walls of Jericho" via Screen Guild of NBC at 10. This Jericho, incidentally, is located in Kansas . . . . Robert Montgomery is to get in Suspense again on CBS at 9 so that he can act "Odd Man out."

Elisabeth Bergner is scheduled for the We Care drama on ABC at 10:30 on the first anniversary of the radio series . . . . First Nighter, CBS 10:30, is turning to what it calls a mystery Romance under the title of "Quoth the Raven."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD

This place teems with children of movie and radio stars and the other big shots of the entertainment world, some of the most beautiful and pampered children in the world. They are rather odd customers, these children, and I'm not at all sure how they'd adjust to any other society but this.

John Crosby

Out in Brentwood where movie folk are thick as oranges, there is a hierarchy of governesses whose standing in the community is governed rigidly by the nature of their charges. The children in this caste-conscious community rank in the order of their illustrious parents, a producer's children, for example, outranking an actor's children. This automatically puts the governess in a somewhat higher bracket—no matter what her earnings are—and naturally she views a lesser governess with some constraint like a Boston dowager meeting one of the younger set whose ancestors didn't get here until 1712.

"We had a governess once and there were only certain children she'd let ours play with," Groucho Marx explained. "This governess had worked for a lot of important people in pictures and she had a position to maintain."

The governesses and their small fry run into one another frequently at schools or at parties and on these occasions they introduce the kids by the name of their parents rather than by their own. "These are Dore Schary's children." Or: "This is Judy Garland's little girl. Miss Garland is Mrs. Vincente Minelli but she gets top billing, of course. This practice of associating the children with the biggest marquee name is sometimes taken to extremes. There are a couple of nice kids who are known here as Walter Pidgeon's nephew and niece.

At parties the caste system sometimes wreaks havoc since children everywhere enjoy showing off. After one party a small girl was discovered crying bitterly. She was the only child in the room whose parents didn't have a projection room. All important film stars and producers have projection rooms and the kids quickly pick up the idea that a projection room is one of the ordinary necessities of life like a Cadillac.

There is an exchange agreement between studios whereby important stars or executives can obtain almost any feature film for home consumption. If a child has been good all day, he gets an hour of Rita Hayworth the way the rest of us used to be told bedtime stories.

Early in life the children pick up the patois of the studios as children everywhere pick up grownup speech. The following snatch of conversation between two eleven-year-old girls was taken down verbatim by a feminine accomplice of mine in the ladies room of a country club: "Her father would be making Westerns if it weren't for my father. Why, Daddy gave him screen credit in three pictures he had nothing to do with."

The whelps of the famous are surrounded by coaches of all varieties—swimming instructors, boxing instructors, tennis instructors. One day Chico Marx's little boy was playing with George Burns' youngster and displayed a marvelous agility climbing trees.

"Who is your climbing instructor?" inquired the small Burns.

Nevertheless the celebrated citizens of Hollywood are sincerely crazy about children and they may yet restore the large family to national popularity. Don Ameche, for example, has six children. Twenty years ago a family of that size would have doomed him to obscurity. Charles Correll, the Andy of Amos 'n' Andy, has five kids. Almost every office is littered with the pictures of children and most of the famous parents carry photographs which will be thrust on you almost immediately.

In fact, it's wise to carry pictures of your own progeny in self-defense.

Far East Plans A World's Fair

HONG KONG (AP) — The Far East's first world's fair will be held on Bangkok next year, Noel Rosefelt, a representative of Catalina Wild Life Expeditions, San Francisco, said in Kong Kong.

The fair, which already has the approval of the Siamese Government, will be opened by the King of Siam at Lumpini Park, Bangkok, December 5, 1949.

Rosefelt, one of the fair's promoters, arrived her with a collection of tropical birds, rare reptiles and elephants which he is taking back to the United States. One of the highlights of the fair, Rosefelt said, will be an Oriental beauty contest, the winners of which will be given Hollywood screen tests and tours of the USA.

Elephants with howdahs will give visitors a birds-eye view of the fair while sampans and motor boats will carry visitors through the canals surrounding the fair site. Rosefelt said he intended bringing a miniature "Coney Island" to the fair to add a touch of western amusement.

New buildings and hotels are planned to house an estimated 1,000,000 tourists. Rosefelt said he is making arrangements for 50,000 American visitors. Of th fair's 1500 concessions, the United States has been allocated 200, Rosefelt said.

Prosecution Of Mine Owner Is Recommended

State Bureau Told To Press Legal Action

Probe Indicates Code Violation, Legal Head Says

The prosecution of William Brashear, owner of a Westernport mine where two men died in an explosion Monday, was recommended yesterday by the Maryland Attorney General's office, Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general, said last night.

The Westernport mine owner may face a charge of failing to report the opening of his operations to the Maryland Bureau of Mines or one of its inspectors, Buscher declared.

The recommendation was given to Dr. John J. Rutledge, director of the mine bureau, through his office yesterday, Buscher declared and added it was based on information obtained in an investigation being conducted by the mine bureau under the direction of Rutledge.

Declines Comment

Dr. Rutledge, contacted by telephone last night, said he would not discuss the findings or recommendations until the investigation is completed. Clyde J. Rowe, Westernport inspector, said however, he has heard of such a recommendation.

Buscher said Rutledge's office at Annapolis was instructed to request the State's Attorney of Allegany County to prosecute the owner and operator of the mine on the grounds that he failed to notify the Bureau of Mines or its inspectors that he had opened a new mine.

Rutledge, whose removal as mine bureau director has been recommended by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), said copies of the findings resulting from the investigation will be issued to the public at the end of the investigation "which is expected shortly." He would discuss no phase of the investigation last night.

Rowe said the probe of the accident which claimed the lives of Fred William Kinsley, 23, Eckhart, and Kenneth Brown Riggleman, 33, Westernport, will be completed tonight.

The inspector said chemical tests to determine the type of explosive responsible for the disaster are expected back tonight.

Row said he heard that a warrant will be issued for Brashear but said he did not know what the charge would specify. He declared he did not know if such action has yet been taken.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said he had received no word from the mine bureau and knew nothing about the recommendation.

In announcing the action of the Attorney General's office, Buscher said the person to whom he talked in Dr. Ruthledge's office had indicated that they would send the information to the director in Frostburg either by day letter or telegram.

Probe Shows Violation

The fact that the mine was not registered was learned during the investigation, Buscher declared, and such violations of the Maryland Mining Code are punishable by heavy fines.

In an earlier statement, Brashear said he began working the operation, located on Stoney Run, Road, north of Westernport, in the latter part of December. He also operates a mine across the West Virginia state line in the same vicinity.

After the explosion he issued a statement that implied explosives other than the type he permitted in the diggings was the cause of the disaster.

Referring to the prosecution of the case, Buscher said the Attorney General's office is empowered only to make a recommendation and the prosecution will rest in the hands of the State's Attorney once the request is delivered to him by Dr. Rutledge.

Democrats Hold Annual Jackson Day Dinner Meet

John W. Gibson Guest Speaker

Reiterating President Truman's "Fair Deal" program, outlining the task of his department, declaring that the Democratic Party is the laboring people's party, and urging united effort in this county on behalf of Democratic ideals and liberalism, John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, delivered a dynamic address to an enthusiastic audience at the annual Jackson Day Dinner last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Gibson told assembled labor leaders, "Go back to your membership and tell them the Democratic party is the labor party almost everywhere in the country.

"Not Mine Promises"

"Tell them," he counseled, "that President Truman's campaign promises to the laborer, the farmers and all common people were not mere promises, but are already in the legislative blue print stage and will be introduced as specific bills in a few days.

"Remind them," Gibson said, "of all the gains labor has made under Democratic Administrations in the past two decades."

Then he quoted a list of proposals from President Truman's State of the Union Message, and said "these areas of improvement are already being planned toward the working stage."

Introduced by Former Judge William C. Walsh, toastmaster, Gibson was described as a laboring man who has served at the community, state and national levels. He was formerly a coal mine and later a milk truck driver. He did considerable organization work in the Detroit area, and became interested in industrial safety and sanitation, and improvement of the lot of working people.

Aware Of Responsibilities

F. Patrick Allender, Carpenters Union business agent, declared labor is aware of its responsibilities but fears business and industry is attempting to ferment unpopular strikes to manufacture a need for the Taft-Hartley law.

He said such acts as the County Commissioners wanting to increase the salaries of some and putting others on part time because of lack of funds is puzzling, as is the city's opposition to the telephone rate increase when the recent hike in railroad freight rates was ignored. They should oppose all or none, Allender declared.

The medical profession's objection to socialized medicine doesn't conform to questions asked of sick and injured persons when they are brought in for treatment, either, Allender said, explaining the question is, "Do you have hospital insurance?"

William H. Buchholtz, president of the Young Democrats, accepted the club's charter and William L. Wilson, Jr., Democratic State Central Committee chairman, read several letters of greetings from national officials. F. Bryne Austin, unsuccessful Democratic Party candidate for Congress last fall, thanked the members for their support.

Accident Fatal To Brother Of Local Florist

Joseph Habeeb, 48, Dies In Hospital

The brother of a local florist died in Memorial Hospital, Winchester, Va., at 6:10 p. m. yesterday from injuries received when his car went off the road Thursday afternoon nine miles east of Winchester, Va.

Edward Habeeb, Baltimore Pike, said his brother, Joseph Habeeb, 48, and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Joseph Habeeb, were motoring to spend the weekend in Cumberland when the car skidded on Route 60 and went over an embankment.

Hospital attaches notified the florist that his brother died of a fractured skull. He also sustained a broken arm. Mrs. Habeeb is being treated at the hospital for a dislocated neck vertebra.

Joseph Habeeb was born in Syria, but came to Cumberland in 1920 to join his brother, a florist here since 1919. He was employed by the Potomac Glass Company here until going to Temple Hill near Washington, D. C.

He was employed as sexton in St. Stevens Catholic Church and St. Mary's Catholic Church until being appointed night watchman for the Washington airport about a year ago. He was a member of the Army Medical Corps during World War II. He married Mrs. Habeeb, a former Westernport resident, October 9, 1943, in Hagerstown.

He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Habeeb, Temple Hill; one other brother, Naseef Habeeb, Temple Hill, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Nogen, Danbury, Conn. His father was the late Elias Habeeb.

A funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 10 a. m. in St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Temple Hill, with burial in the church cemetery. Among the officers of the mass will be Msgr. Francis Leary, Hagerstown, Msgr. Joseph Leary, Baltimore; Father Sylvester, Baltimore, and Father Beagley, pastor of St. Ignatius.

Lane To Back Better Mining Legislation

Kimble, Fraley Ask Speedy Enactment Of Safety Program

The story of Maryland's "lax" mining laws, which have gone unaltered through three recent fatal disasters, was told to Governor William Preston Lane yesterday by two state senators from the Western Maryland coal field, who want a "substantial program enacted immediately."

Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) found that "the Governor is very much interested and very determined" and promised "unqualified support" to expedite legislation "guaranteeing greater safety in the coal mines," he declared as he left the hour-long session. Senator Neil Fraley (R-Garrett) also attended.

Proposed revisions of the mining laws which have not been changed since 1922, was promised within 10 days by Kimble who explained that discussed at length with the Governor, legislation that he has already prepared. He added:

A report on the November 5, 1948, disaster which claimed the lives of five men in Garrett County has been completed by the Attorney General and will be handed to the Governor today. He added that he has seen the report but could not divulge its contents until it has been presented to the Governor.

It was an explosion in the Brashear mine at Westernport where two men were killed Monday that touched off the legislative move for immediate revision of the existing laws. Kimble said he discussed the tragedy with Lane, and pointed out that it, like the other two, occurred in an area under the jurisdiction of State Mine Inspector Clyde J. Rowe.

The Allegany County Senator declared that he raised the question of Rowe's efficiency and capability as a mine inspector while with the Governor and also discussed the physical capability of Dr. John J. Rutledge who heads the Maryland Bureau of Mines. Kimble earlier said he would demand Rutledge's retirement.

The Governor reacted favorably to potential legislation prepared by Kimble, the Senator said, and also indicated that he will have further recommendations to make on the basis of reports from the Attorney General.

Kimble said he specifically discussed with the Governor:

1—The fact that present mining laws have not been given any extensive revision since 1922.

It was at this time that he said all three disasters have occurred in Rowe's territory. There were the Monday explosion in Westernport, the Garrett County tragedy on November 5, 1948 and an explosion in a Lonaconing mine August 14, 1948, when three men were killed.

Kimble quoted the Governor as saying the question needs a great deal of study to determine what should be done. Speed was the keynote of all plans, Kimble explained.

"Dr. Rutledge is a very elderly man," the Senator said, but must be recognized as a man with very valuable knowledge of mining in Maryland." For that reason Kimble said he believes a younger man should be appointed to carry out the duties of Dr. Rutledge with the older man still serving in an advisory capacity.

"The morale of miners in Western Maryland is low and people of our section want something done to remedy conditions as a result of recent disasters which have taken the lives of 10 men."

"My proposed revision of the law, if approved, will place Maryland right among the most progressive states of the nation as far as coal mine laws are concerned.

"Too many lives have already been lost and we cannot wait longer to act," he explained.

"Under the proposed provisions many features of the Federal Safety Code will be made a part of Maryland law, although the code itself would not become a part of state law," Kimble asserted.

"In addition federal inspectors

Dental Project Plans Mapped At Conference

West Side Program To Begin Monday

Plans for continuation of the current dental demonstration program at additional elementary schools in Allegany County were announced yesterday by Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the division of oral hygiene, State Department of Health.

Dr. Leonard came here from Baltimore to confer with Dr. Karl W. Kolb, Health Department dentist, and Dr. John E. Frank, dentist in charge of the United States Public Health Service unit conducting the demonstration.

The project, which began at Gephart School two weeks ago, has the approval of the Board of Education, the County Health Department and the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society.

Portable equipment will be moved to the West Side School today and tomorrow, with the demonstration scheduled to begin at that school Monday morning.

The project includes examination and cleaning of the children's teeth and a series of four applications of a sodium fluoride solution, which prevents about 40 per cent of future dental decay.

Dr. Leonard said the majority of the 416 pupils enrolled at West Side are expected to take part in the demonstration there, with their parents' consent.

When work at that school is completed, the unit will move to SS. Peter and Paul School the latter part of February, where about 400 pupils are enrolled.

After spending an estimated three weeks there, the unit will visit elementary grades at Central School in Lonaconing. Enrollment in the first six grades at Central totals slightly over 200.

Youth Tells Dramatic Story Of Efforts To Save Carr Boys

A 17-year-old boy who lived through five frigid, hungry days in Tucker County, W. Va., mountains, yesterday told all he "could remember" about vain attempts to save the lives of two companions and then offered his dearest treasure—a pocket knife—"to the man who found me."

"I wish I wouldn't have left the two younger boys," John Helmick, Davis, W. Va., told Sheriff D. E. Crosten as he referred to Eston and Robert Carr, who froze to death. "Maybe they would still be alive.

"Maybe I won't remember it all," the youth told the sheriff, "I was too scared and wondered if anybody would ever find us. I told the boys to stay where I left them and I would go for help."

Slowly, and with much prompting by the sheriff, the facts of the five frightening days and nights were unfolded by Helmick and he told of eating snow to satisfy his thirst; of tearing the pockets out of his water soaked clothes to build a fire, "but the matches wouldn't light."

The little one, Robert, cried so much "he couldn't keep up with us," Helmick related, "so I had to carry him a lot of the time. He said he was hungry. We walked for miles and I knew something was wrong, but I never told the boys.

"They knew it though," Helmick assured the sheriff, "I could tell by the look in their eyes." One night "I don't remember which," Helmick cut pine tree branches and made beds for the two boys. Then he put his jacket over the smallest one to keep the snow off of him.

"It was frozen stiff in the morning," Helmick said, "but the little boy didn't have any snow on him. I wish I had never left them," the hospitalized youth declared. The sheriff said he began to cry as he continued his story, and recalled that he hadn't told anything about the first day that they became lost.

"We left Davis," the youth said, and then his face cleared and he added, "I was smoking a big cigar, forgot what kind it was, but while we were up there I smoked it all up.

"We were taking the short cut to the boys' home and we got on the wrong path, you remember it was so foggy we couldn't see a thing a few feet from us. There was two

NLRB Orders Westvaco Poll

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — A collective bargaining election for employes in the powerhouses of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was ordered today by the National Labor Relations Board.

The election is to be held within 30 days and will effect powerhouse workers at plants in Covington, Va., Luke, Md., and Williamsport, Pa.

The men will decide between the AFL International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, which asked for the election, and the CIO United Paper Workers of America which represents the production workers in the three pulp mills.

After a hearing here September 20, an NLRB examiner held that the powerhouse workers should be considered a unit with a right to an election to determine their representative. The board upheld this ruling in ordering the election.

Wayne Ritchie, president of Luke Local 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, said the Luke local is "not the least worried" over the move.

He added he felt sure the AFL union had no strength at the Luke mill, adding he was sure they could not have more than one or two signed cards from workers there.

The CIO Paper Workers union won bargaining rights in 1944 for all production workers of the three mills which were formerly represented by an AFL Paper Mill workers union.

Complaint Filed

Elsie Mae Riggs filed a bill of complaint against George Frederick Biggs in Circuit Court yesterday.

Bills Propose Salary Raises, Aid To Firemen

Conference On Increases Cited

Members of the Allegany County delegation introduced two bills yesterday in the House of Delegates which would raise the salaries of three county officials, and another measure to aid county fire companies.

Delegate William H. Geppert introduced a measure to raise the pay of the sheriff of Allegany County from $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

The delegation as whole introduced the second salary measure which would increase the pay of the Juvenile Court magistrate from $2,760 yearly to $4,200, and the pay of his clerk from $1,500 to $2,000.

Conference Proposed

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said the Board of County Commissioners will be invited to confer with the delegation in Annapolis early in February with regard to the proposed salary increases.

The firemen's bill, which already has the county commissioners' approval, would authorize the commissioners to provide a $100 increase in allowances made to each volunteer fire company in the county for maintenance and repair.

The total increase would amount to $15,675 annually instead of the present $13,100.

Only two county fire companies, Canada Hose Company and Chapel Hill Company, would be excluded since they are not on a full-time basis and are more or less honorary groups. Each receives $150 annually from the county.

Whitworth explained that the proposed $4,200 annual salary for the Juvenile Court magistrate is the sum now paid to each of the two trial magistrates in Cumberland.

The increase was proposed because of the importance of Juvenile Court work and the large case load.

Asks Detailed Budget

The three measures were referred to the county delegation.

Whitworth introduced another measure yesterday which would make it mandatory for the University of Maryland to submit its budget in detailed form as is done by other state departments, using the same standards and classifications.

The measure was referred to the House Ways and Means Committee, of which Whitworth is a member.

Whitworth said the committee has just received the present $13,000,000 budget request of the university, which is only two pages in length.

He said he believes detailed information should be prepared so that it would be available to legislators at all times.

Eagles Honor Former Heads

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, initiated 25 new members at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, Tuesday in honor of past worthy presidents and veteran members of the lodge.

The degree work was conducted by Francis T. Twigg, worthy president, assisted by officers of the aerie.

In an address to the candidates, Julius W. Schindler, local attorney, stressed the patriotic, fraternal and humanitarian works of the order.

Past Worthy Presidents Herman Myers, Frank Kelley, William T. Rollins and Harry Rice were introduced to the class initiated in their honor.

Past Worthy President Myers, chairman of the Steering Committee, presented a prize to Trustee Schultz for securing the most members in the January class and explained details of the membership campaign which began January 1 and will end May 31.

Following the meeting, a shrimp feed was held in the social quarters. Over 1,800 members attended the event.

Painting Work Reported

Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds reported yesterday that the interior of the city-owned Girl Scout House on Greene Street is being painted, as well as furniture in the offices of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

Local Woman Unhurt When Hit By Car

A local woman escaped injury when struck by a car on North Mechanic Street Tuesday night.

The woman, Mildred Shifflet, 453 Henderson Avenue, was struck by a car driven by Harold W. Stewart, 24, 512 Bedford Street, as she stepped from the sidewalk in front of the Southern Hotel into the path of his car.

Stewart said the woman refused to be taken to a hospital or to a physician, and told him she was not hurt. No charges were preferred.

Weather

A two day total of 1.20 inches of rainfall caused Cumberland waterways to rise some yesterday. The Potomac River went from 7.88 feet at 8 a. m. to 10.5 at about 8 p. m. but was falling slightly later in the night. The city engineer's office reported no gauge readings were taken of slightly swollen Wills Creek and North Branch. Although the toll bridge at Oldtown was under about two and one-half feet of water late last night, the water was expected to recede. The thermometer went a little haywire, rising from 36 early yesterday to 48 at 10 p. m. and still on the upward path. Cloudy and rainy weather is expected today.

Rev. Ridgely Dies In Hospital

Rev. Vernon Norwood Ridgely, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church for five years, died yesterday in Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore.

Pastor here from 1936 to 1941, he was succeeded by Rev. Walter M. Michael, predeccessor of Rev. Norman O. Scribner.

The 75-year-old pastor entered the Methodist ministry at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Hagerstown, and in churches in Washington, Ellicott City and Buckeystown.

Rev. Ridgely was twice a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Church. He was superintendent of the West Baltimore District from 1928 to 1932.

While in Cumberland, Rev. Ridgely was a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

He was born in Harford County. He is survived by his widow, H. LaRue Browning Ridgely; a son, Herbert Monroe Ridgely, Hagerstown, and a daughter, Mrs. C. O. Briddell, Baltimore.

A funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 11 a. m. in the Tichner Funeral Home, North and Pennsylvania Avenue, Baltimore. Burial will be in Druid Ridge Cemetery.

Births

Memorial Hospita' announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Neff Herring, 32 West First Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Post, 229 Springdale Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Ralston, 131 Maple Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kline, Corriganville, a daughter.

Air Force Veterans Plan Radio Career In Alaska

After a year of bucking the worst weather the Aleutian Islands can give out, two 20-year-old youths are putting themselves into a position to go right back again.

Fred B. Speicher, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Speicher, 21 North Allegany Street, and an Army buddy, Robert H. Rust, leave tonight for Oklahoma City to take a 10 weeks course in aircraft communications at the Aeronautical Center there.

They're training to go to Alaska as aircraft communicators for the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The youths met when they were both radio operators with the Air Forces in the Aleutians. They agreed that, upon discharge, they would put the radio training given to them by the Air Force to good use.

It wasn't hard to see that radiomen are needed in Alaska, so the boys stopped off in Oklahoma City during some cross-country traveling after their discharge last spring and made application.

Rust's parents live in Alaska so he has been staying with young Speicher while in the United States.

The veterans hope to be assigned to a station together after they report to Anchorage, Alaska, headquarters of the Regional C.A.A. District. Speicher doubts they will be assigned to cities as operators are needed more in outposts.

They expect to be there at least one year and not more than two. Both admit they would have picked a warmer station if possible, but it's the first step to an Army-born career which may take them to more exotic places in years to come.

Bakery Local Plans Election Saturday

The election and installation of officers for Local 246, Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union of America, will be held Saturday at 7 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Stanley Sincarage, Plains, Pa., national representative, will install the 1949 officers immediately after the election.

Local 246 holds contracts with the Schmidt, Ort and Community Baking firms of this city and the McIntyre Bakery in Westernport.

Briefs

Capt. Walter Swyers, Baltimore, Young Peoples secretary of the Salvation Army, visited the Salvation Army Citadel yesterday for a general inspection of youth activities at the Citadel and Outpost here.

The Louis Wolford Unit, Amvets, will meet at 8 tonight at the home. The executive board will meet at 7 o'clock.

Cumberland's Dollar Day Sales Begin This Morning

Community Dollar Days begin today in Cumberland and will continue through tomorrow and Saturday.

The always popular custom, abandoned during the war years, was revived locally last July. Several score stores have combined to make the semi-annual sales event a success, according to James R. Kendall, assistant manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

"The stores are offering many articles of merchandise for the home and every member of the family at prices far below those of the postwar level," Kendall added.

"It's certain that the dollar will be worth its full value the next three days in Cumberland," he continued. "And, in addition to the many items listed at $1, the owners of all participating stores have scaled down many prices as much as 50 per cent.

"Most stores still do not have heavy inventories due to the long period of wartime shortages—in fact, some are not taking part because of low stocks of merchandise of high quality and attractiveness, but all that are cooperating have arranged to offer bargains that the smart shopper will soon spot in the advertisements."

The usual Thursday, Friday and Saturday store hours will prevail during the "Community Dollar Days," and a spot check of advertisements lists the following bargains:

Ladies' shoes at $1 a pair, innerspring mattresses at $18.88, pillow cases three for $1, ladies panties

Taxi Drivers To Act On Contract

Drivers of the Astor and Johnny's Cab Companies will meet Friday morning at 7 o'clock in Teamsters Hall to take action on contract proposals of the firms, C. E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the drivers, announced yesterday.

He said the cab companies will co-operate in getting a good turnout of the some 60 drivers at the meeting.

The companies, he added, report they are losing money and have offered either a five per cent reduction in commissions to 40 per cent or to rent cabs to the drivers.

The cut in commissions, the union said, would mean about a 10 per cent wage cut for the drivers.

Drivers have asked that the new contract include 45 per cent commissions and a guarantee of $45 a week, Stutzman said. At present, drivers get 40 per cent of fares up to $100 and 45 per cent after $100 except that from June to September, normally slow months, 45 per cent is paid after fares reach $80.

The union said that if the men turn down the offer, a proposal to take a strike vote will be made.

Stutzman said the union will also discuss at Friday's meeting the organization of the Yellow Top firm, the only large cab company in Cumberland still unorganized.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"That's a terrible tax to pay, Fignewton . . . can't you figure your income like you do when I want a new dress or something?"

U. S. Steel Proves Toast Of Yesterday's Trading

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—U. S. Steel common stock was the toast of today's market.

Orders to buy streamed into the exchange and raised the price 4⅝ points to 77½. The buying rush was touched off by news that directors had voted a special one dollar common dividend and recommended to stockholders a proposal to split the stock on the basis of three shares for one. In addition, the company reported the largest earnings in 1948 since 1929.

Interest in big steel appeared to spread to other steel stocks. The balance of the market, though, turned in a sloppy performance.

Among losers by fractions to a point or so were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Schenley, Distillers Corp., Consolidated Natural Gas, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott Copper, American Can, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Radio Corp., International Paper, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Standard Oil N.J., Gulf Oil, Mission Corp., Pan American Airways, Transcontinental & Western Air and Paramount Pictures.

A few managed to inch ahead, including General Motors, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, American Telephone, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric, Phillip Morris, and American Tobacco.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .2 of one point to 65.3, the third average decline in a row. Of the 990 issues which appeared on the ticker tape, 441 declined and 299 advanced.

Sales increased to 1,040,000 shares, a high since January 7. This compared with 810,000 Tuesday.

New Dress Shop To Open In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Sarah Edwards Harris will open a new ladies' ready-to-wear shop at 45 East Main Street today in a building she and her husband, Gus Harris owns. It was formerly occupied by Harold C. Carl, photographer.

Mrs. Harris will manage the business and Mrs. Helen Ferree will be employed in the office. Mrs. Coleen Humbertson, this city, formerly employed in a Cumberland dress shop, has accepted a position on the sales staff.

Homemakers Will Install Officers

WESTERNPORT — Newly-elected officers of the Westernport Homemakers Club will be installed at their January meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of the president, Mrs. George Brode, Spruce Street.

Mrs. Brode will name committees for the year and plans will be made for the annual anniversary banquet next month.

Miss Maude Bean, Cumberland, county home demonstration agent, is expected to outline the program for the year. Refreshments will be served.

Kempton P-TA Discusses March Of Dimes Fund

KEMPTON — Plans for raising money for the March of Dimes Campaign were discussed at the January meeting of the Kempton School Parent-Teacher Association January 18 at the school.

Mrs. Valeria Burdock, president, presided and Miss Burnetta Arnold, principal, reported on a principal's meeting in Oakland recently.

Also attending were Mrs. Stanley Uchic, Mrs. Otto Sowers, Mrs. Walter Turek, Mrs. Dewey Meyers and Mrs. L. W. Duling.

Mrs. Edna McIntosh, Clark Williams Wed

WESTERNPORT — The wedding of Mrs. Edna McIntosh, Westernport, and Clark Wiliams, Wilmington, Del., who were married Friday night, January 21, at Trinity Methodist Church parsonage, Oakview, has been announced. The singlering ceremony was performed by Rev. O. Clarence Mitchell, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schroyer, Westernport, were the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Williams' daughter, Karen McIntosh, have gone to Wilmington to reside.

Grantsville Personals

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Salisbury, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnson, Frostburg, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Kelly and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards have returned home after attending the funeral of Mrs. Bridget V. Rafferty at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Simpson, Nikep.

Mrs. Bess Williams, Addison, Pa., is a patient in Confluence Hospital after being injured in an automobile accident. She is a sister of Mrs. Olen Yoder, Grantsville.

Clyde Bowman, near Grantsville, who had pneumonia for four weeks, is able to be out but has not been able to return to work.

Marxes Will End 31 Years, Partnership

Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26—(INS)—The Marx Brothers are breaking a 31-year partnership and from now on will go it alone. No trouble; just a belief that they can do better in individual performances. "Love Happy" is the last picture they make together.

Chico has signed with Lester Cowan to co-star with Dick Haymes in a western, "Dusty Trail." He plays, times in his life, a straight character. Chico has left for an engagement in London and "Dusty Trail" won't be made until he returns.

Dick, who has been eager to make another movie so that he could remain in Hollywood, signed before he left for the east.

Jane Wyman will not be finished with "The Octopus" in time to receive the London Express award for her performance in "Johnny Belinda." So who do you think is going to accept the check for her? Ronald Reagan, who will still be there making "The Hasty Heart!"

Jane leaves for London for "Man Running," the Alfred Hitchcock picture, as soon as she finishes with Mike Curtiz. She is taking the two children with her, and will probably spend the summer in London.

My old friend, Charles Coburn, may well become in Donald O'Connor's movie life, what Barry Fitzgerald is in Bing Crosby's. At least they are so hepped up at Universal-International on how the team clicks in "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" that Bill Goetz has lined up another big technicolor opus.

As I get it—this will be a satire on the Robin Hood legend operating under the temporary title of "Son Of Robin Hood." Leonard Goldstein will produce.

If ever there was a time when Donald was unhappy about his assignments not being big enough, that belongs to the past. The musical comedy kid is getting the breaks these days.

Darryl Hickman, who is 16 years old on the nose, goes into "Any Number Can Play," as Clark's nearly-grown son. An interesting thing about Darryl's career—he has never seemed to hit the awkward age when most youngsters have to take time off.

●—●—●

Marie Allison, former Hollywood actress, and once the light in George Raft's eyes, is now finding the company of Ned Schuyler, owner of the Beachcomber in Miami Beach, pleasant.

Wayne Morris had a freak accident yesterday when a sea gull flew through the windshield of his car. Wayne was cut about the face and was lucky he didn't have a more serious accident.

Carl Brisson, who once owned the Palladium in London, has signed to do an engagement there in September. Interestingly enough, Val Parnell, the present owner, was once Carl's press agent.

Mrs. Harry Brand can talk of nothing else but her namesake, Sybil, the L. B. Mayer thoroughbred which sold for $50,000. She was at the sale when Sybil was put up, and her only regret was that the yearling went to an eastern owner.

Laraine Day received a new car from Leo Durocher on her second wedding anniversary last Friday. She is going to join him at his spring training camp the latter part of February after she completes the movie she is making.

Mrs. Mack Kriendler, who was in Florida getting a divorce from the owner of "21," was called back to the bedside of her 12-year-old son, who fell off his bicycle and suffered a serious concussion.

Humphrey Bogart is the despair of the nurse and Lauren. He wants to take movies of his son every five minutes. It's wonderful to talk with him and hear him sound off about his child. He's like every other new and happy father—only more so.

Mark Wood and Irvor Kenway, president and vice-president of ABC, arrive here January 31, according to a letter just received.

Stockyards Report Good Run Here

The Cumberland Stockyards reported a very good run of stock Tuesday with the market steady. There was not much change in prices except for cattle and chickens which sold a shade lower, officials said. The report:

Medium to good steers 19¼-21.90; plain and medium steers 17-19; medium and light heifers 17-19; medium to good cows 15-17; shelly cows 12-15.

Medium to good bulls 19-21.75; light and plain bulls 16-20; medium to good veal calves 33-35; light and plain calves 15-30.

Sunday School Class Meets

GRANTSVILLE—The Sunshine Class of the Methodist Sunday School met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Yoder Monday night.

Twenty-three members attended. Mrs. E. J. Hays was co-hostess.

Carloads Decrease

Carloads handled on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad last week showed a drop from the previous week's figures and a decrease under the total for the same week in 1948.

Last week's total was 58,502 carloads, consisting of 37,794 loaded on line and 20,708 received from connections. The previous week's total was 59,890, and the figure for the same week of 1948 was [illegible]702.

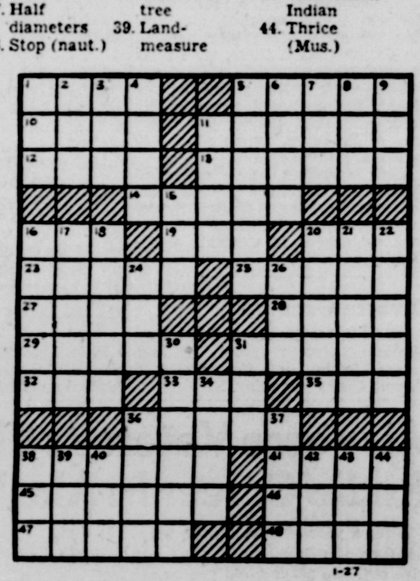
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Prosecution Of Mine Owner Is Recommended

State Bureau Told To Press Legal Action

Probe Indicates Code Violation, Legal Head Says

The prosecution of William Brashear, owner of a Westernport mine where two men died in an explosion Monday, was recommended yesterday by the Maryland Attorney General's office, Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general, said last night.

The Westernport mine owner may face a charge of failing to report the opening of his operations to the Maryland Bureau of Mines or one of its inspectors, Buscher declared.

The recommendation was given to Dr. John J. Rutledge, director of the mine bureau, through his office yesterday, Buscher declared and added it was based on information obtained in an investigation being conducted by the mine bureau under the direction of Rutledge.

Declines Comment

Dr. Rutledge, contacted by telephone last night, said he would not discuss the findings or recommendations until the investigation is completed. Clyde J. Rowe, Westernport inspector, said however, he has heard of such a recommendation.

Buscher said Rutledge's office at Annapolis was instructed to request the State's Attorney of Allegany County to prosecute the owner and operator of the mine on the grounds that he failed to notify the Bureau of Mines or its inspectors that he had opened a new mine.

Rutledge, whose removal as mine bureau director has been recommended by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), said copies of the findings resulting from the investigation will be issued to the public at the end of the investigation "which is expected shortly." He would discuss no phase of the investigation last night.

Rowe said the probe of the accident which claimed the lives of Fred William Kinsley, 23, Eckhart, and Kenneth Brown Riggleman, 33, Westernport, will be completed tonight.

The inspector said chemical tests to determine the type of explosive responsible for the disaster are expected back tonight.

Row said he heard that a warrant will be issued for Brashear but said he did not know what the charge would specify. He declared he did not know if such action has yet been taken.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said he had received no word from the mine bureau and knew nothing about the recommendation.

In announcing the action of the Attorney General's office, Buscher said the person to whom he talked in Dr. Ruthledge's office had indicated that they would send the information to the director in Frostburg either by day letter or telegram.

Probe Shows Violation

The fact that the mine was not registered was learned during the investigation, Buscher declared, and such violations of the Maryland Mining Code are punishable by heavy fines.

In an earlier statement, Brashear said he began working the operation, located on Stoney Run, Road, north of Westernport, in the latter part of December. He also operates a mine across the West Virginia state line in the same vicinity.

After the explosion he issued a statement that implied explosives other than the type he permitted in the diggings was the cause of the disaster.

Referring to the prosecution of the case, Buscher said the Attorney General's office is empowered only to make a recommendation and the prosecution will rest in the hands of the State's Attorney once the request is delivered to him by Dr. Rutledge.

Rev. Ridgely Dies In Hospital

Rev. Vernon Norwood Ridgely, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church for five years, died yesterday in Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore.

Pastor here from 1936 to 1941, he was succeeded by Rev. Walter M. Michael, predecessor of Rev. Norman O. Scribner.

The 75-year-old pastor entered the Methodist ministry at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Hagerstown, and in churches in Washington, Ellicott City and Buckeystown.

After leaving Cumberland, he was pastor of North Baltimore Station until his retirement three years ago.

Rev. Ridgely was twice a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Church. He was superintendent of the West Baltimore District from 1928 to 1932.

While in Cumberland, Rev. Ridgely was a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

He was born in Harford County. He is survived by his widow, H. LaRue Browning Ridgely; a son, Herbert Monroe Ridgely, Hagerstown, and a daughter, Mrs. C. O. Briddell, Baltimore.

A funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 11 a. m. in the Tichner Funeral Home, North and Pennsylvania Avenue, Baltimore. Burial will be in Druid Ridge Cemetery.

Births

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Neff Herring, 32 West First Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Post, 229 Springdale Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Ralston, 131 Maple Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kline, Corriganville, a daughter.

They're Bound For Alaska

Robert H. Rust (left) and Fred B. Speicher, Jr., 20-year-old Air Force veterans, will leave tonight for Oklahoma City for training before assignment to Alaska as radio operators for the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Speicher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Speicher, 21 North Allegany Street, and Rust is a resident of Alaska. (Story bottom of page).

Dental Project Plans Mapped At Conference

West Side Program To Begin Monday

Plans for continuation of the current dental demonstration program at additional elementary schools in Allegany County were announced yesterday by Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the division of oral hygiene, State Department of Health.

Dr. Leonard came here from Baltimore to confer with Dr. Karl W. Kolb, Health Department dentist, and Dr. John E. Frank, dentist in charge of the United States Public Health Service unit conducting the demonstration.

The project, which began at Gephart School two weeks ago, has the approval of the Board of Education, the County Health Department and the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society.

Portable equipment will be moved to the West Side School today and tomorrow, with the demonstration scheduled to begin at that school Monday morning.

About 270 Gephart pupils, nearly the total enrollment, took part in the demonstration there.

The project includes examination and cleaning of the children's teeth and a series of four applications of a sodium fluoride solution, which prevents about 40 per cent of future dental decay.

Dr. Leonard said the majority of the 416 pupils enrolled at West Side are expected to take part in the demonstration there, with their parents' consent.

When work at that school is completed, the unit will move to SS. Peter and Paul School the latter part of February, where about 400 pupils are enrolled.

After spending an estimated three weeks there, the unit will visit elementary grades at Central School in Lonaconing. Enrollment in the first six grades at Central totals slightly over 200.

Youth Tells Dramatic Story Of Efforts To Save Carr Boys

A 17-year-old boy who lived through five frigid, hungry days in Tucker County, W. Va., mountains, yesterday told all he "could remember" about vain attempts to save the lives of two companions and then offered his dearest treasure—a pocket knife—"to the man who found me."

"I wish I wouldn't have left the two younger boys," John Helmick, Davis, W. Va., told Sheriff D. E. Crosten as he referred to Eston and Robert Carr, who froze to death. "Maybe they would still be alive.

"Maybe I won't remember it all," the youth told the sheriff, "I was too scared and wondered if anybody would ever find us. I told the boys to stay where I left them and I would go for help."

Slowly, and with much prompting by the sheriff, the facts of the five frightening days and nights were unfolded by Helmick and he told of eating snow to satisfy his thirst; of tearing the pockets out of his water soaked clothes to build a fire, "but the matches wouldn't light."

The little one, Robert, cried so much "he couldn't keep up with us," Helmick related, "so I had to carry him a lot of the time. He said he was hungry. We walked for miles and I knew something was wrong, but I never told the boys.

"They knew it though," Helmick assured the sheriff, "I could tell by the look in their eyes." One night "I don't remember which," Helmick cut pine tree branches and made beds for the two boys. Then he put his jacket over the smallest one to keep the snow off of him.

"It was frozen stiff in the morning," Helmick said, "but the little boy didn't have any snow on him. I wish I had never left them," the hospitalized youth declared. The sheriff said he began to cry as he continued his story, and recalled that he hadn't told anything about the first day that they became lost.

"We left Davis," the youth said, and then his face cleared and he added, "I was smoking a big cigar, forgot what kind it was, but while we were up there I smoked it all up.

"We were taking the short cut to the boys' home and we got on the wrong path, you remember it was so foggy we couldn't see a thing a few feet from us. There was two

NLRB Orders Westvaco Poll

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — A collective bargaining election for employes in the powerhouses of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was ordered today by the National Labor Relations Board.

The election is to be held within 30 days and will effect powerhouse workers at plants in Covington, Va., Luke, Md., and Williamsport, Pa.

The men will decide between the AFL International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, which asked for the election, and the CIO United Paper Workers of America which represents the production workers in the three pulp mills.

After a hearing here September 20, an NLRB examiner held that the powerhouse workers should be considered a unit with a right to an election to determine their representative. The board upheld this ruling in ordering the election.

Wayne Ritchie, president of Luke Local 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, said the Luke local is "not the least worried" over the move.

He added he felt sure the AFL union had no strength at the Luke mill, adding he was sure they could not have more than one or two signed cards from workers there.

The CIO Paper Workers union won bargaining rights in 1944 for all production workers of the three mills which were formerly represented by an AFL Paper Mill workers union.

Air Force Veterans Plan Radio Career In Alaska

Fred B. Speicher, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Speicher, 21 North Allegany Street, and an Army buddy, Robert H. Rust, leave tonight for Oklahoma City to take a 10 weeks course in aircraft communications at the Aeronautical Center there.

They're training to go to Alaska as aircraft communicators for the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The youths met when they were both radio operators with the Air Forces in the Aleutians. They agreed that, upon discharge, they would put the radio training given to them by the Air Force to good use.

It wasn't hard to see that radiomen are needed in Alaska, so the boys stopped off in Oklahoma City during some cross-country traveling after their discharge last spring and made application.

Rust's parents live in Alaska so he has been staying with young Speicher while in the United States.

The veterans hope to be assigned to a station together after they report to Anchorage, Alaska, headquarters of the Regional C.A.A. District. Speicher doubts they will be assigned to cities as operators are needed more in outposts.

They expect to be there at least one year and not more than two. Both admit they would have picked a warmer station if possible, but it's the first step to an Army-born career which may take them to more exotic places in years to come.

Bakery Local Plans Election Saturday

The election and installation of officers for Local 246, Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union of America, will be held Saturday at 7 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Stanley Sincarage, Plains, Pa., national representative, will install the 1949 officers immediately after the election.

Local 246 holds contracts with the Schmidt, Ort and Community Baking firms of this city and the McIntyre Bakery in Westernport.

Bills Propose Salary Raises, Aid To Firemen

Conference On Increases Cited

Members of the Allegany County delegation introduced two bills yesterday in the House of Delegates which would raise the salaries of three county officials, and another measure to aid county fire companies.

Delegate William H. Geppert introduced a measure to raise the pay of the sheriff of Allegany County from $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

The delegation as whole introduced the second salary measure which would increase the pay of the Juvenile Court magistrate from $2,760 yearly to $4,200, and the pay of his clerk from $1,500 to $2,000.

Conference Proposed

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said the Board of County Commissioners will be invited to confer with the delegation in Annapolis early in February with regard to the proposed salary increases.

The firemen's bill, which already has the county commissioners' approval, would authorize the commissioners to provide a $100 increase in allowances made to each volunteer fire company in the county for maintenance and repair.

The total increase would amount to $15,675 annually instead of the present $13,100.

Only two county fire companies, Canada Hose Company and Chapel Hill Company, would be excluded since they are not on a full-time basis and are more or less honorary groups. Each receives $150 annually from the county.

Whitworth explained that the proposed $4,200 annual salary for the Juvenile Court magistrate is the sum now paid to each of the two trial magistrates in Cumberland.

The increase was proposed because of the importance of Juvenile Court work and the large case load.

Asks Detailed Budget

The three measures were referred to the county delegation.

Whitworth introduced another measure yesterday which would make it mandatory for the University of Maryland to submit its budget in detailed form as is done by other state departments, using the same standards and classifications.

The measure was referred to the House Ways and Means Committee, of which Whitworth is a member.

Whitworth said the committee has just received the present $13,000,000 budget request of the university, which is only two pages in length.

He said he believes detailed information should be prepared so that it would be available to legislators at all times.

Briefs

Capt. Walter Swyers, Baltimore, Young Peoples secretary of the Salvation Army, visited the Salvation Army Citadel yesterday for a general inspection of youth activities at the Citadel and Outpost here.

The Louis Wolford Unit, Amvets, will meet at 8 tonight at the home. The executive board will meet at 7 o'clock.

Democrats Hold Annual Jackson Day Dinner Meet

John W. Gibson Guest Speaker

Reiterating President Truman's "Fair Deal" program, outlining the task of his department, declaring that the Democratic Party is the laboring people's party, and urging united effort in this county on behalf of Democratic ideals and liberalism, John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, delivered a dynamic address to an enthusiastic audience at the annual Jackson Day Dinner last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Gibson told assembled labor leaders, "Go back to your membership and tell them the Democratic party is the labor party almost everywhere in the country.

"Not Mine Promises"

"Tell them," he counseled, "that President Truman's campaign promises to the laborer, the farmers and all common people were not mere promises, but are already in the legislative blue print stage and will be introduced as specific bills in a few days.

"Remind them," Gibson said, "of all the gains labor has made under Democratic Administrations in the past two decades."

Then he quoted a list of proposals from President Truman's State of the Union Message, and said "these areas of improvement are already being planned toward the working stage."

Introduced by Former Judge William C. Walsh, toastmaster, Gibson was described as a laboring man who has served at the community, state and national levels. He was formerly a coal mine and later a milk truck driver. He did considerable organization work in the Detroit area, and became interested in industrial safety and sanitation, and improvement of the lot of working people.

Aware Of Responsibilities

F. Patrick Allender, Carpenters Union business agent, declared labor is aware of its responsibilities but fears business and industry is attempting to ferment unpopular strikes to manufacture a need for the Taft-Hartley law.

He said such acts as the County Commissioners wanting to increase the salaries of some and putting others on part time because of lack of funds is puzzling, as is the city's opposition to the telephone rate increase when the recent hike in railroad freight rates was ignored. They should oppose all or none, Allender declared.

The medical profession's objection to socialized medicine doesn't conform to questions asked of sick and injured persons when they are brought in for treatment, either, Allender said, explaining the question is, "Do you have hospital insurance?"

William H. Buchholtz, president of the Young Democrats, accepted the club's charter and William L. Wilson, Jr., Democratic State Central Committee chairman, read several letters of greetings from national officials. F. Bryne Austin, unsuccessful Democratic Party candidate for Congress last fall, thanked the members for their support.

Eagles Honor Former Heads

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, initiated 25 new members at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, Tuesday in honor of past worthy presidents and veteran members of the lodge.

The degree work was conducted by Francis T. Twigg, worthy president, assisted by officers of the aerie.

In an address to the candidates, Julius W. Schindler, local attorney, stressed the patriotic, fraternal and humanitarian works of the order.

Francis H. Schultz, worthy trustee, spoke to the new members on the social functions of the order.

Past Worthy Presidents Herman Myers, Frank Kelley, William T. Rollins and Harry Rice were introduced to the class initiated in their honor.

Past Worthy President Myers, chairman of the Steering Committee, presented a prize to Trustee Schultz for securing the most members in the January class and explained details of the membership campaign which began January 1 and will end May 31.

Following the meeting, a shrimp feed was held in the social quarters. Over 1,800 members attended the event.

Painting Work Reported

Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds reported yesterday that the interior of the city-owned Girl Scout House on Greene Street is being painted, as well as furniture in the offices of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

Accident Fatal To Brother Of Local Florist

Joseph Habeeb, 48, Dies In Hospital

The brother of a local florist died in Memorial Hospital, Winchester, Va., at 6:10 p. m. yesterday from injuries received when his car went off the road Thursday afternoon nine miles east of Winchester, Va.

Edward Habeeb, Baltimore Pike, said his brother, Joseph Habeeb, 48, and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Joseph Habeeb, were motoring to spend the weekend in Cumberland when the car skidded on Route 60 and went over an embankment.

Hospital attaches notified the florist that his brother died of a fractured skull. He also sustained a broken arm. Mrs. Habeeb is being treated at the hospital for a dislocated neck vertebra.

Joseph Habeeb was born in Syria, but came to Cumberland in 1920 to join his brother, a florist here since 1919. He was employed by the Potomac Glass Company here until going to Temple Hill near Washington, D. C.

He was employed as sexton in St. Stevens Catholic Church and St. Mary's Catholic Church until being appointed night watchman for the Washington airport about a year ago. He was a member of the Army Medical Corps during World War II. He married Mrs. Habeeb, a former Westernport resident, October 9, 1943, in Hagerstown.

He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Habeeb, Temple Hill; one other brother, Naseef Habeeb, Temple Hill, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Nogen, Danbury, Conn. His father was the late Elias Habeeb.

A funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 10 a. m. in St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Temple Hill, with burial in the church cemetery. Among the officers of the mass will be Msgr. Francis Leary, Hagerstown, Msgr. Joseph Leary, Baltimore; Father Sylvester, Baltimore, and Father Beagley, pastor of St. Ignatius.

Local Woman Unhurt When Hit By Car

A local woman escaped injury when struck by a car on North Mechanic Street Tuesday night.

The woman, Mildred Shifflet, 453 Henderson Avenue, was struck by a car driven by Harold W. Stewart, 24, 512 Bedford Street, as she stepped from the sidewalk in front of the Southern Hotel into the path of his car.

Stewart said the woman refused to be taken to a hospital or to a physician, and told him she was not hurt. No charges were preferred.

Weather

A two day total of 1.20 inches of rainfall caused Cumberland waterways to rise some yesterday. The Potomac River went from 7.88 feet at 8 a. m. to 10.5 at about 8 p. m. but was falling slightly later in the night. The city engineer's office reported no gauge readings were taken of slightly swollen Wills Creek and North Branch. Although the toll bridge at Oldtown was under about two and one-half feet of water late last night, the water was expected to recede. The thermometer went a little haywire, rising from 36 early yesterday to 48 at 10 p. m. and still on the upward path. Cloudy and rainy weather is expected today.

Lane To Back Better Mining Legislation

Kimble, Fraley Ask Speedy Enactment Of Safety Program

The story of Maryland's "lax" mining laws, which have gone unaltered through three recent fatal disasters, was told to Governor William Preston Lane yesterday by two state senators from the Western Maryland coal field, who want a "substantial program enacted immediately."

Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) found that "the Governor is very much interested and very determined" and promised "unqualified support" to expedite legislation "guaranteeing greater safety in the coal mines," he declared as he left the hour-long session. Senator Neil Fraley (R-Garrett) also attended.

Proposed revisions of the mining laws which have not been changed since 1922, was promised within 10 days by Kimble who explained that discussed at length with the Governor, legislation that he has already prepared. He added:

A report on the November 5, 1948, disaster which claimed the lives of five men in Garrett County has been completed by the Attorney General and will be handed to the Governor today. He added that he has seen the report but could not divulge its contents until it has been presented to the Governor.

It was an explosion in the Brashear mine at Westernport where two men were killed Monday that touched off the legislative move for immediate revision of the existing laws. Kimble said he discussed the tragedy with Lane, and pointed out that it, like the other two, occurred in an area under the jurisdiction of State Mine Inspector Clyde J. Rowe.

The Allegany County Senator declared that he raised the question of Rowe's efficiency and capability as a mine inspector while with the Governor and also discussed the physical capability of Dr. John J. Rutledge who heads the Maryland Bureau of Mines. Kimble earlier said he would demand Rutledge's retirement.

The Governor reacted favorably to potential legislation prepared by Kimble, the Senator said, and also indicated that he will have further recommendations to make on the basis of reports from the Attorney General.

Kimble said he specifically discussed with the Governor:

1—The fact that present mining laws have not been given any extensive revision since 1922.

2—The laxity of Maryland mining laws.

3—The physical ability of Dr. Rutledge and whether or not Rowe is performing his duties as effectively as they should be performed.

It was at this time that he said all three disasters have occurred in Rowe's territory. There were the Monday explosion in Westernport, the Garrett County tragedy on November 5, 1948 and an explosion in a Lonaconing mine August 14, 1948, when three men were killed.

Kimble quoted the Governor as saying the question needs a great deal of study to determine what should be done. Speed was the keynote of all plans, Kimble explained.

"Dr. Rutledge is a very elderly man," the Senator said, but must be recognized as a man with very valuable knowledge of mining in Maryland." For that reason Kimble said he believes a younger man should be appointed to carry out the duties of Dr. Rutledge with the older man still serving in an advisory capacity.

Before attending the meeting which convened shortly after noon, Kimble declared:

"The morale of miners in Western Maryland is low and people of our section want something done to remedy conditions as a result of recent disasters which have taken the lives of 10 men."

"My proposed revision of the law, if approved, will place Maryland right among the most progressive states of the nation as far as coal mine laws are concerned.

"Too many lives have already been lost and we cannot wait longer to act," he explained.

"Under the proposed provisions many features of the Federal Safety Code will be made a part of Maryland law, although the code itself would not become a part of state law," Kimble asserted.

"In addition federal inspectors

Taxi Drivers To Act On Contract

Drivers of the Astor and Johnny's Cab Companies will meet Friday morning at 7 o'clock in Teamsters Hall to take action on contract proposals of the firms, C. E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the drivers, announced yesterday.

He said the cab companies will co-operate in getting a good turnout of the some 60 drivers at the meeting.

The companies, he added, report they are losing money and have offered either a five per cent reduction in commissions to 40 per cent or to rent cabs to the drivers.

The cut in commissions, the union said, would mean about a 10 per cent wage cut for the drivers.

Drivers have asked that the new contract include 45 per cent commissions and a guarantee of $45 a week, Stutzman said. At present, drivers get 40 per cent of fares up to $100 and 45 per cent after $100 except that from June to September, normally slow months, 45 per cent is paid after fares reach $80.

The union said that if the men turn down the offer, a proposal to take a strike vote will be made.

Stutzman said the union will also discuss at Friday's meeting the organization of the Yellow Top firm, the only large cab company in Cumberland still unorganized.

Cumberland's Dollar Day Sales Begin This Morning

Community Dollar Days begin today in Cumberland and will continue through tomorrow and Saturday.

The always popular custom, abandoned during the war years, was revived locally last July. Several score stores have combined to make the semi-annual sales event a success, according to James R. Kendall, assistant manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

"The stores are offering many articles of merchandise for the home and every member of the family at prices far below those of the postwar level," Kendall added.

"It's certain that the dollar will be worth its full value the next three days in Cumberland," he continued. "And, in addition to the many items listed at $1, the owners of all participating stores have scaled down many prices as much as 50 per cent.

"Most stores still do not have heavy inventories due to the long period of wartime shortages—in fact, some are not taking part because of low stocks of merchandise of high quality and attractiveness, but all that are cooperating have arranged to offer bargains that the smart shopper will soon spot in the advertisements."

The usual Thursday, Friday and Saturday store hours will prevail during the "Community Dollar Days," and a spot check of advertisements lists the following bargains:

Ladies' shoes at $1 a pair, innerspring mattresses at $18.88, pillow cases three for $1, ladies panties
